SUITS INVOLVE EVANS ESTATE OF $1,500,000

Heavy Borrowing Shown as Executors Seek to Restrain Lenders.

HIGH INTEREST RATES CITED IN PETITIONS

Total Debts of $883,000 Are Claimed Due From List of Properties.

Thirteen men and women, the Liberty National Band, and the United States Government are named defendants in three suits filed yesterday in the clerk's office of the District Supreme Court by Arthur L. Evans and Mrs. Karen Gram Evans, executors of the estate of the late Victor J. Evans, patent attorney.

The suits in each case disclose that Evans borrowed heavily, from 1924 until within a short time of his death, and that in his borrowings he often paid unusual rates of interest. Attorneys who filed the suits, Houston Thompson and Herbert S. Ward, declared the suits approximated $25,000 each, and that a total of about $100,000 had been borrowed.

Mr. Evans died here at the Emergency Hospital on March 2. He left an estate of approximately $1,500,000, most of which he willed to his wife. Debts of $883,000 ate heavily into the estate. A large private collection of birds and animals was left to the Washington Zoo, and a prized collection of Indian relics, together with collections of interesting documents, was left to the National Museum.

Suit Covers 72 Pages.

In one suit, which covers 72 pages of long paper, the attorneys assert that John E. Mitchell, James O'Donnell, M. G. O'Donnell, Vva V. O'Donnell and Florence O'Donnell Maher "confederated for the purpose and with the intent to injure or defraud Victor J. Evans" through transacting "usurious loans, commission payments, collections and forebearances."

The suit was entitled "A bill praying for injunction, accounting, discovery and other relief," and it seeks to have the courts investigate a highly complicated system by which Evans borrowed money, partially paid off notes with other notes, and pyramided note against note.

In some instances he borrowed upon collateral, while at other times he borrowed on his huge real estate holdings. In connection with the realty deals, trustees under the deeds are named defendents to the suit.

Suit Accuses Mitchell.

The suits charges that Defendent Mitchell acted for the O'Donnells and Florence O'Donnell Maher, and that he acted "under the instructions and with the full knowledge of the above named." From the papers filed it appeared that Evans approached Mitchell for loans, and the latter acted for the others.

John Wedderburn and John E. Mitchell are named codefendants in the second suit. In this suit Wedderburn is sued in his own right, while Mitchell is named as the remaining trustee under a deed of trust given by Evans to secure a $10,000 loan on property in Delaware.

Wedderburn now holds notes aggregating $32,000 signed by Evans in 1930 and 1931, "each believed to be at 8 per cent," the suit says. The executors claim that Wedderburn demanded and received a total of $9,000 beyond the regular rate on a $10,000 loan originally negotiated May 9, 1924, and renewed many times. Other claims show a total of $22,000 paid on notes, which allegedly bore a face value of $30,000.

The court is asked to retrain Wedderburn from disposing of the notes or from selling the Delaware property, of which Mitchell is trustee.

Calvin Coolidge Says: The reported decision from Washington not to call an extra session of the Congress to relieve the farmer and redress unemployment will impress the country as sound. When the last Congress assembled in the early spring of 1929 the farmer was in a fair condition and unemployment was not a pressing question. The longer the Congress was in session the worse the condition of the farmer became and the larger grew the list of the unemployed. While it is not possible to say that conditions were not improved by legislation, it is apparent they were not cured. A large prospective Treasury deficit has not proven a sovereign remedy.

Business will also gain some courage from the report that by curbing expenses a further increase of taxes may be avoided. But what is especially cheering is the suggestion that politics is not to agitate the country. Now that the Democrats have taken and published a straw vote there seems no reason for present disturbance in either party.

No extra Congress, no extra taxes, and no extra politics make the wisest proposals for relief that have yet been announced.

Two Convicts Admit Starting Ohio Prison Fire That Killed 320

Philadelphia and Former Virginian Confess Plotting to Hamper Warden's Building Project; Conviction Would Bring Death of Pair in Electric Chair.

Columbus, Ohio, April 1 (A.P.).—Prosecutor Donald J. Hoskins, of Franklin County, announced tonight that two convicts had confessed they started the fire that claimed the lives of 320 prisoners at Ohio Pentientiary last April 21.

The prosecutor named the men as Clinton Grate, alias Cotton, and Hugh Gibson, alias Gibbons and "The Jew." Gibson, whose home is in Philadelphia, was sentenced from Cleveland, while Grate, formerly of Virginia, was sentenced from Dayton, Ohio. Both are serving terms for robbery.

They confessed in the presence of Hoskins and several other county and city officials.

Hoskins' announcement came a few hours after the county grand jury had concluded its investigation into the catastrophe. The jury will vote tomorrow afternoon on whether indictments shall be returned against the two convicts, charging them with first degree murder. Under the State arson code they would be liable to death in the electric chair if convicted.

The fire, according to Hoskins, was started by the convicts because they objected to aiding in the construction of a new cell block to house fellow prisoners and because they wished to hamper Warden Preston E. Thomas in his building program.

Before the confessions were obtained, Hoskins said the men were questioned separately in his office last night and each told identical stories except for a few unimportant details. The fire, they said, was set after three previous attempts to fire the concrete forms in the construction of I and K block had failed.

The prisoners who perished in the blaze were locked in their cells in G and F blocks, adjoining I and K. Both blocks are on the west side of the prison.

Grate and Gibson, members of the construction gang, also were in G and H blocks but managed to escape before the smoke and flames reached them.

Both expressed regret that their act resulted in wholesale death and denied the blaze was set in a plot to escape as had been reported by investigators of the State fire marshal's office.

In the three attempts to fire the prison, candles from the chapel were used but Gibson and Grate declared the prisoners who supplied them knew nothing of the plans.

In the first attempt to start the fire, the confessions said, candles

1932 CAMPAIGN OF DEMOCRATS OPENS IN WEEK

Chairman Shouse Starts on Speech-Making Trip Wednesday.

SENTIMENT AGAINST WET ISSUE GROWING

Party Chief's Radio Talk Dwells on Cure of Unemployment.

By EDWARD T. FOLLIARD.

So far as the Democrats are concerned, the political campaign of 1932 will open next Wednesday. On that day, Chairman Jouett Shouse, of the Democratic national executive committee, will inaugurate a speaking tour that will take him to four cities in the West.

Chairman Shouse, according to a committee announcement, plans "to indicate the significance of last November's election, to report on what the executive committee and the national committee are doing and have done, and to outline as far as possible the plans for the campaign of 1932."

"The Western meetings," the statement added, "will actually be the opening of that campaign."

Raskob Tactics Employed.

Opening of the campaign this far in advance—it will be fifteen months yet before a Democratic standard-bearer is selected—is in line with the strategy that was adopted when John J. Raskob became chairman of the Democratic national committee.

The thought behind that strategy is that there should be no closed season where the Republicans are concerned; that, instead, they should be harassed continuously. Hardly had the Hoover administration begun when this policy of attack was inaugurated. And when the ballots were counted last November, the Raskob-Shouse-Michelson organization was given a large part of the credit for the Democratic gains.

Chairman Shouse's first speech on his Western tour will be at Des Moines, Iowa, where he will attend a dinner given by the Democratic State and city organizations.

His next speech will be on April 13 in Los Angeles, where he will attend an all-day "Jeffersonian observance." This is expected to be the most important speech of the four.

Seattle to Be Visited.

From Los Angeles, Mr. Shouse will go to San Francisco, and there address the San Francisco County central committee on April 16. Thence he will go to Seattle, Wash., where, on April 18, he will speak before the Washington State committee.

Political observers will be interested to see what, if anything, Mr. Shouse will have to say about the so-called "platform" which Chairman Raskob laid before the Democratic national committee at its recent meeting here.

While Senator Joseph T. Robinson, of Arkansas, and other Southern drys assailed the program, particularly that part of it urging a change in the prohibition policy, Mr. Shouse espoused it and defended Chairman Raskob's right to submit it.

Since then, however, Mr. Shouse has remained silent on the Raskob program.

Meanwhile sentiment has been growing within the party for a side-

25,000 FLEE CITY IN HUNGER AS NEW SHOCK HITS MANAGUA; DISEASE EPIDEMIC IS FEARED

PRESIDENT IS MADE HOMELESS IN QUAKE

Managua, Nicaragua, April 1 (A.P.).—Twenty-five thousand hungry, half-clad refugees camped tonight in the Nicaraguan hills overlooking the mass of smoking ruins which was their home until yesterday's terrific earthquake laid this city in waste.

Officially there are 600 dead, but marines and volunteers still dug in the ruins tonight, bringing out bodies which had been buried since yesterday morning.

The final death total is expected to reach the early estimate of 1,000. No one has attempted to count the number of injured, but that total probably will run into the thousands.

The city was a smouldering ruin tonight, but the fire was under control and relief had begun to trickle in.

Another Light Earth Shock.

Hardly a house is left standing, and those with walls still upright are so shaky they are likely to fall at the slightest tremor.

One light earth shock was felt this afternoon, doubling the fear of the refugees who had been crowding the trains running out of the hills to Granada.

Others, fearful the shocks would recur, were begging automobile rides anywhere out of Managua. Some, carrying such belongings as they could salvage, trudged down the dusty roads, leaving the devastated city behind. On the whole, however, the situation was under control.

United States Marines worked all last night and all today, many of them without food. Col. Frederic Bradman directed the work himself despite injuries received when a beam fell on him.

Water Is Lacking.

There was no water, for the water mains had burst at the first shock, and fighting the terrible fire which came on the heels of the earthquake was a hand-to-hand job. Many of the Marines, striding into the flames, suffered loss of their shoes, which were burned off their feet, but they stayed on the job.

In an effort to check the march of the flames they started blasting, but it was hard work, for the flimsy houses of stick and adobe burned like tinder. Once it seemed that the impossible had been accomplished. Then the flames licked up the walls of a storehouse where drums of gasoline were piled. The stuff exploded, hurling blazing brands over the area nearby and starting the fire afresh.

National Palace Afire.

Late this afternoon the National Palace, where the Nicaraguan Congress sits and where the government records are kept, caught fire after every one had thought it was safe.

The palace was only a pile of wreckage after the earthquake, but the debris roared into a blaze fanned by a stiff wind.

President Moncado is homeless, the presidential palace having been destroyed. He is living at one of the few houses left standing, that of Anastacio Somoza, assistant secretary for foreign affairs.

Tired out by his own efforts, he rested in a hammock this afternoon and asked the Associated Press to convey the deep appreciation of the Nicaraguan people for offers of aid from the United States.

"The Marines have done a wonderful thing," he said. "To them we give our heartfelt thanks."

From the market place in the middle of the city 150 bodies have been

KNOWLEDGE OF FLAG NECESSARY TO WIN

Contestants in Trip Abroad Urged to Study Hard for Examinations.

Students of the Washington high schools who have handed in their essays in the contest now being conducted by the United States Flag Association, with the cooperation of The Washington Post, for a good-will trip to London and Paris will do well to keep up their studies in preparation for the preliminary and final tests, officials of the United States Flag Association pointed out yesterday.

The essays, it was stated, are only the first move in the contest, and other factors enter into the first judging, which will result in the selection of one boy and one girl from each school who will take part in the preliminary test on April 11. At this test six boys and six girls will be selected from which the two "Envoys of Friendship" will be named for the good-will trip to Europe.

Until the essays are marked and handed into the offices of the United States Flag Association every boy and girl entered in the contest still has an equal chance to win. But unless every boy and girl continues to study up on United States history, the symbolism of the flag and American ideals and institutions, all boys and girls will not have an equal chance in the preliminary test, which consists of a written examination and an oral quiz, in addition to the essay, and which the boy or girl who continues to study will have a better chance of winning.

Once again, officials of the United States Flag Association want to make it clear that teachers have a right to instruct any student in regard to the proper books to obtain in order to gain specific knowledge of the subject matter upon which the questions will be based. In addition there is a book called "The American Flag, Its Glory and Grandeur" which will furnish a great deal of information about the flag and which can be obtained at any public library.

Of still greater importance is a series of essays on such subjects as "rational patriotism," duty to the flag and other similar topics which will prove of great value in determining the final qualifications of the two students selected for the trip abroad and which will be published, one each day, in The Washington Post.

These essays, it is again pointed out, are written by officials of the United States Flag Association for the information of prospective "envoys" and

MILK PRICE IS CUT TO 14 CENTS TODAY

Reduction in Quart Charge Ordered as Wholesale Rate Is Lowered.

Retail milk prices in the District drop from 15 to 14 cents a quart today among virtually all the dairies, due to a cut from 33 to 31 cents a gallon wholesale ordered among all members of the Maryland and Virginia Milk Producers Association.

John McGill, of 1731 I street northwest, secretary-treasurer of the association, whose member-producers control 94 per cent of the milk entering the District, yesterday said that the wholesale price drop was called after word had been received from Baltimore that a reduction of 2 cents a quart in milk went into effect there yesterday. The cut was the first change in retail milk prices in Baltimore since 1926. Baltimore has been paying 14 cents a quart and 8 cents a pint.

Large milk companies in the District announced that the prevailing rate of 8 cents a pint will continue.

"The action in Baltimore forced the association to call an immediate reduction in the District slightly sooner than we had planned," Mr. McGill explained. "We had intended to make the cut about May 1, when the cows go out on grass again."

Gun Is Presented In Trial of Sours

Scars Made on Weapon in Suspect's Haste, State Will Claim.

Special to The Washington Post.

Luray, Va., April 1.—David Sours' first wilting came at a late hour yesterday in the Page County Court (Luray), where he is being tried for the murder of Edwin N. Buracker on March 5. The gun alleged to have been used was brought into court.

Recent scars on the gun, the State will claim, were made when Sours, in his haste to get away from the scene of the murder in the Blue Ridge, fell over bowlders that line both sides of Tuckeyhoe Creek. Bloodhounds belonging to the Rev. David Radford followed a trail from Buracker's body through brush, at times crossing and recrossing this stream. Overalls, alleged to have been worn by Sours when Buracker was slain, Sheriff E. L. Lucas, of Page County, testified, were wet when he arrested Sours on March 6, the day Buracker's mutilated body was found by his brother.

ROCKNE ACCIDENT REMAINS MYSTERY

Coroner's Jury Fails to Find Cause of Fatal Crash in Eastern Kansas.

Cottonwood Falls, Kans., April 1 (U.P.).—Cause of the tragic crash of a huge air liner that plunged Knute K. Rockne and seven other men to death on a stony field of Eastern Kansas remained a mystery tonight.

A coroner's jury, selected from farmers and professional men here, spent the day investigating circumstances surrounding the fall of the trimotored Fokker airplane of the Transcontinental and Western Air Co., as it roared through low-hanging clouds and mist.

Almost a score of witnesses testified. Some of them saw the actual crash. Others were aviation experts who advanced theories as to the cause of the accident.

After hearing the evidence, the jury returned a verdict finding the victims were killed in a plane crash the cause of which was undetermined.

Meanwhile, the body of Rockne, celebrated football coach of Notre Dame, was en route to South Bend, Ind., where thousands mourned his death as a personal loss.

Dr. D. M. Nigro, Kansas City, and Rockne's two sons, Bill, 14, and Knute, jr., 11, accompanied the casket. Bodies of the other seven victims, including five passengers and the ship's two pilots either were on their way home or were held here awaiting arrival of relatives.

Four farmers testified they either saw the plane's actual fatal plunge, or heard it as it fought its way through murky weather. They were

Hoover Makes Indian High Chieftain for Day

(Associated Press.)

An Oklahoma Indian who proudly bears the name of Chili Fish has received a presidential commission to be principal chief of the Seminole Nation for one day on or before June 30.

The Seminole Nation has certain unfinished business including the transfer of land, which can not be executed except by a principal chief. The Nation has no principal chief so it became necessary to create one. All the work it was said at the White House, can be done in one day.

Chili Fish will receive $10 for being principal chief for one day and will receive expenses up to but not to exceed $5.

25 UNEMPLOYED RIOT IN MARYLAND HOUSE

One Is Permitted to Speak for Hour at Request of Gov. Ritchie.

Annapolis, Md., April 1 (U.P.).—After a riot of 25 unemployed men and women on the floor of the House of Delegates today, one of the demonstrators, at the request of Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, was permitted to address the legislative body for more than an hour this afternoon.

Tables were overturned, chairs smashed and blackjacks wielded as police sought to eject the demonstrators. Fifteen of them, including two women, were put in the county jail, but Attorney General William P. Lane said they would be freed without charges being made against them.

Legislators obtained pistols from the State Armory near the venerable Statehouse and prepared to join in the tumult, which lasted about ten minutes and resulted in injuries, none dangerous, to fifteen of the unemployed. The demonstrators came 29 miles from Baltimore in a driving rain this morning to present their requests. They wanted the Legislature to issue an appeal to President Hoover, asking a special session of Congress for unemployment relief; reduction of the salaries of all State officials to $2,000 a year, and a State fund for unemployment relief.

Gov. Ritchie had five of the demonstrators brought to his office, and

SMOKY RUINS FORM FLIGHT BACKGROUND

Trucks and Oxcarts Piled High With Bundles Line Tropic Highways.

Managua, Nicaragua, April 1 (U.P.)—Refugees today began evacuating Managua, earthquake torn capital of Nicaragua. Pitiful caravans of frightened natives fled out of the shattered ruins of [illegible] to north and south.

Trucks and oxcarts rolled along the highways toward Chinandega, some 60 miles to the north, and to Granada, 25 miles south of Managua. They were piled high with bundles, the furniture and personal belongings which the victims of yesterday's disaster had salvaged from the flames.

Others huddled in groups in yards and open plazas. The flickering light of waning fires illuminated the city. The people, panic-stricken yet resigned, waited for succor. Their salvaged household goods were stacked about them. A remarkable calm prevailed.

The fire ate its way through the ruins and debris. It reached the national capitol during the afternoon. Efforts to check its advance were futile. The capitol appeared doomed, along with countless buildings in the city of 45,000.

The railroads began operating relief trains late in the day, getting through from Corinto, 70 miles north on the Pacific Coast. The scenes in the streets were horrible. Rescue workers sought to aid the injured.

The correspondent was informed that 150 bodies had been burned in a ditch outside the city—an unceremonious but unavoidable manner of giving them a common burial. None was identified. The work continues.

L. B. Lastreto, a salesman of San Francisco, told of the confusion when the quake occurred at 10:02 a. m. yesterday. He said there was no

Constable Acquitted Of Murder by Jury

Special to The Washington Post.

Lynchburg, Va., April 1.—On his plea of self-defense, Tom Powell, Campbell County constable, was acquitted in the Circuit Court of Campbell County at Rustburg today on the charge of murdering Otis Crank, of Lynchburg, January 11. Evidence showed the men engaged in a fight after an all-night drinking party in which Crank was shot.

The State did not seek a first-degree verdict. The jury rendered its verdict this morning after having been locked up overnight.

Easter Visitors Begin Annual Trek Into City

Special Trains Bring Thousands to National Capital, With Number Expected to Reach More Than 100,000 Over Week-End.

Washington is preparing to care for between 100,000 and 120,000 visitors during the annual Easter parade of tourists, it was revealed last night by transportation and hotel companies.

Despite cold and rain, more than 7,000 visitors were in the city yesterday, brought here Tuesday by fourteen special trains from far points in the Middle West. The specials brought loads from Milwaukee and Beloit, Wis.; Chicago, Indianapolis and other points in that area.

Visitors from northern New oYrk and Pennsylvania points are expected to invade the Capital tomorrow, brought here by nine special trains. The last of the specials is expected to run Saturday and will bring crowds from as far north as Canada to enjoy Eastertide in Washington. There will be six of these trains Saturday.

In addition, the regular schedules will deposit their thousands in the Capital, and the bus lines are looking forward to crowded cars, as high school students, free over the spring vacation, follow the custom of visiting the seat of Government over their holiday.

Hotels last night reported their rooms were gradually filling, and that the influx had started as early as the middle of last week in some cases. All expected to be filled to capacity by Sunday, as in the rule in Washington over the Easter season. All reported reservations pouring in by telegraph and with every mail.

As an indication of the increase in Washington's visitors, more than 1,000 were shown yesterday through the reception and public rooms of the White House, a good batrometer of the annual Easter influx.

The one fly in the otherwise perfect Easter ointment appears to be the cherry blossom situation. The blossoms are in bud and, apparnetly, are ready to burst forth, but the cold rain has delayed them. Now there is some question whether they will appear in time to thrill the Easter visitros.

David Saunders, of the Department of Agriculture, said last night that it would take at least two good warm days in succession to bring the buds out, but that, in any event, they would not be at their best before the middle of next week.

The Weather Bureau was rather noncommittal about aiding in the hopes for a "pink" Eastre. The best W. B. Stevens, weather froecaster, was able to hold out to Washington was a promise of fair weather today and otmorrow, with no change in temperature.

The storm which has been moving up the Atlantic coast was central last night about Baltimore, according to the forecast. Meanwhile, airplane traffic to the Capital had been held up Tuesday and yesterday, it was predicted that conditions along the South Atlantic seaboard would clear enough today to allow passage of planes from Atlanta, and that the ceiling would lift enough to allow resumption of traffic between Washington and New York this afternoon.

Man, Accused as Bigamist, Admits Taking $1,000,000

Philadelphia Prisoner Meets Woman's Charge by Identifying Himself as Much-Wanted Beemer, Nebr., Banker, Missing Since 1928.

Philadelphia, April 1 (A.P.).—Paul Wupper, also known as Frederick Brinkman, facing bigamy charges in the Municipal Court today, startled court officials by identifying himself as the former president and embezzler of $1,000,000 from the Beemer Bank, a State institution of Beemer, Nebr.

Wupper was held for extradition after police had identified him as the fugitive for whom $3,150 reward was offered after the closing of the bank in 1928.

Judge Vivian Frank Gable, of the domestic relations branch of the court, postponed consideration of the bigamy charges preferred by the prisoner's second wife, Mrs. Hedwig Brinkman, until action is taken on the embezzlement charges.

Police said Wupper told them he fled to New York when the bank examiners visited the Nebraska institution in 1928, because he had taken so much money and the bank held a quantity of assets that could not be liquidated. He told of then going to Trenton, N. J., where he became superintendent of an electric company.

His bigamous marriage, he said, was contracted here last year when he was married by Police Magistrate John J. Grells. He said he left his

Pay Roll Bandits Try to Buy Driver's Car, Police Believe

Description of Dapper Men Who Displayed Roll of $50 Bills to Antoist Fits Trio Wanted for Robbing Drug Firm's Employes of $6,500.

Three men, who are believed by police to be the bandits who yesterday morning robbed Peoples Drug Co.'s employes of a 6,500 pay roll, last night approached a colored man at New Jersey and Rhode Island avenues as he was waiting in his automobile for a change of traffic lights, and offered him $500 cash for his car.

The man, George Robinson, of Twelfth street northwest, near T street, told police of the Eighth Precinct that one of the men took a roll of $50 bills from a black hand grip and said he would pay $500 for immediate delivery of the car.

Robinson gave police descriptions of two of the men, and said that he could not see the third one well, as he was standing behind the others. The description tallied in part with that given by the robbed men, police said. When he refused to sell the car, the men walked away and he went to the precinct to report the incident, Robinson told police.

Three dapper bandits held up and robbed the two drug company employes of the pay roll near the company's warehouse at [illegible] and Destur streets northeast last [illegible] while a telephone [illegible] the affair was an April Fool's day story, refused to call police.

taken. This was where the blow fell heaviest.

As in most Latin cities, the housewives do their shopping in the morning at the Central Market. They were there when the first shock came. Most of the bodies were crushed beyond recognition.

At the National Penitentiary every prisoner, except a few who were in the yard, was killed. A hundred bodies have been taken out of the wreckage.

Marines, aided by National Guardsmen, carried the bodies to a hill outside the city, where they were cremated while relatives stood by, struck dumb with grief.

Disease Is Feared.

In the midst of all this there rose the specter of a possible epidemic of disease. It was being fought off under the leadership of the United States forces.

Two airplanes from the Coco Solo Air Station at Cristobal, arrived this afternoon, each bringing 300 pounds of medical supplies and two physicians.

Capt. A. D. Bernhardt, commanding officer at Coco Solo, came with them, then went back immediately for more supplies.

Many of the injured have been put up at the military headquarters of the Marine Corps.

There is no telephone communication and no water supply, but marines are bringing in water from Lake Nicaragua, which must be boiled before it can be used.

Reconstruction Begun.

The people had turned already to the job of reconstruction. President Jose Moncada, working as hard as anybody, wasted no time mourning the disaster, but asserted Managua would arise from its ashes as a modern city.

The first relief supplies came in today on a Pan-American airplane from San Salvador. The Red Cross there sent six physicians and as much food and medical supplies as the plane could carry. Doctors went to work immediately.

Nearly the entire population of 45,000 was homeless and there was a real shortage of food and water, but temporary shelter was provided at the Marine Barracks, where most of the American women and children were accommodated.

Hanna Back on Job.

Matthew E. Hanna, United States Minister, who was in Guatemala when the quake struck, was back on the job today. He was informed that four Americans were known to have been killed.

They were:

Mrs. Joseph D. Murray, Concord, Mass., wife of a major of Marines.

Lieut. Comdr. Hugo F. A. Baske, Seattle, Wash., serving in the Medical Corps of the Nicaraguan National Guard.

James F. Dickey, Ballejo, Calif., chief quartermaster's clerk, U. S. M. C.

A chauffeur employed by Irving A. Lindberg, resident high commissioner.

Martial Law Maintained.

Martial law was still in operation today.

Not a building of importance was left standing.

Two of the three banks were in ruins, and the other was badly damaged. The Anglo-Central American Commercial Bank burned down, and the Anglo-South American Bank was dynamited to check the march of the flames.

The power house was not seriously damaged, but it could not function because all the light wires were down.

The water mains were wrecked. The Hotel Lupone was demolished. The American Legation and all its records were burned. The British Legation also was destroyed, and all the Nicaraguan government buildings.

One Man Is Shot.

Last night the looting began. One man was shot under martial law, but there have been no further reports of similar attempts.

The suddenness with which the earthquake struck was illustrated in many ways.

A government chauffeur sitting in a car parked in front of the National Palace was crushed under a falling pillar. The volcanic rock, of which the palace was built, buried the car, leaving only a single fender showing.

The Church of Santo Domingo, one of the few buildings left standing, was filled with worshipers attending the first day of the Passion Festival when the disaster occurred.

Relief From America Rushed to Quake Scene

(Associated Press.)

American relief efforts last night were dedicated to the prevention of new horrors of pestilence and disease in devastated and death-stricken Managua.

With word that the Nicaraguan capital's water supply system was destroyed in the earthquake, fears arose lest the aftermath be one of epidemics and fever.

Serums, medical supplies and physicians converged on the city by every available means of transport, with the vanguard expected to arrive by air by nightfall last night.

Naval, Marine and Red Cross physicians coordinated their efforts in cooperation with Nicaraguan health authorities. The Pan-American Sanitary Bureau and the United States Public Health Service stood ready to join them if needed.

Aircraft Carrier Speeds.

Capt. E. J. King, commanding the airefat carrier Lexington, reported his vessel was making excellent time in its dash for the east coast of Nicaragua. He expected to launch three amphibian planes to speed to Lake Managua, close by the city. He planned to load them with the best possible assortment of medical stores in charge of three or four naval physicians.

Two Army transport planes flew into Nicaragua during the day from Coco Solo, Canal Zone, also loaded with hospital supplies and carrying physicians.

The Navy transport Chaumont was speeding to Corinto, Managua's seaport, with her arrival scheduled for Friday morning. She was under orders to evacuate 175 American women and children soon after reaching port.

The cruiser Rochester, commanded by Rear Admiral Arthur St. Clair Smith, also was steaming for Corinto, due Friday morning, with 28,000 extra rations, medical stores, blankets and cooking utensils.

Hospital Ship on Way.

Also bound for Corinto was the hospital ship Relief. She turned back Tuesday when en route to San Diego with the battle fleet. Her patients were transferred to other ships that she might have a maximum number of beds for the treatment of the sick and injured.

The gunboats Asheville and Sacramento, the Navy tanker Salinas and the survey ship Fulton stood by at Balboa, ready to cast off for Corinto on two hours notice if needed.

A battalion of Army engineers, making a survey for the proposed Nicaraguan canal yesterday moved into Managua and took charge of fighting the fire which followed the quake.

A meeting to mobilize medical supplies for Managua was held at Red Cross headquarters.

At its close Vice Chairman McClintock said typed serum near the earthquake [illegible] either already in Managua or on its way. These consisted chiefly of antityphoid and antitetanus serum, he said.

If more medicines are required, Mr. McClintock said, they will be purchased in the United States by the Red Cross and sent to Nicaragua by Navy planes.

NEW MONTGOMERY BUREAU TRIUMPHS

Fingerprint Study Proves Success, Convicting Ellicott Robbre.

Unstinted praise for aid given in the arrest and conviction of a robber in Ellicott City by the Montgomery County Identification Bureau is contained in two letters received yesterday by Chief of Police Alvie A. Moxley, of Montgomery County, Md.

Through the efforts of Policeman Theodore Vollten, Montgomery County fingerprint expert, the first case in Howard County's history in which fingerprints figured was closed successfully with a sentence of three years in jail for the culprit.

Fingerprints taken by Officer Vollten were found to correspond with those of Richard Dorsey, colored, on file at the Maryland House of Correction. The colored man was arrested and when confronted with the fingerprints, pleaded guilty to breaking into and robbing the Ellicott City Motor Co. at Ellicott City.

State's Attorney James Clark, of Howard County, writes that "if it had not been for the fingerprints, Dorsey would have denied breaking into the garage and we would not have been able to connect him with the robbery. However, your expert worked the matter out so nicely that when we confronted Dorsey with the fact that his fingerprints had been found in the garage, he confessed the whole thing."

Chief of Police Julius Wosch of Ellicott City is equally emphatic in declaring that but for the aid of Officer Vollten the case would never have been made. In addition to the three-year sentence, the Negro will serve an additional year of an unexpired sentence at the House of Correction from which he had been paroled.

The two letters have been added to Officer Vollten's service record. This was his first conviction since being assigned to the duty of creating an identification bureau for Montgomery County and came within a few days of the time he completed his intensive course with Detective Sergt. Fred Sandberg, Washington identification expert.

Maryland Defeats Antilashing Bill

House Votes Out Measure to Abolish Whippings for Wife-Beaters.

Annapolis, Md., April 1 (A.P.).—Efforts to abolish the whipping post in Maryland, started when Joseph Kawalski, 40, of Baltimore, was given ten lashes for wife-beating two weeks ago, failed in the State House of Delegates last night.

A bill to amend the 1888 statute providing up to 40 lashes for wife-beating failed to obtain the necessary constitutional majority of 60. Delegate John Burns, the author, said he planned to revive the measure. It provides heavier jail sentences in lieu of the lash.

Only wife-beating is punishable by the lash. County delegates who backed a measure killed earlier in the session, to make poultry thieves also subject to the penalty, were among those who voted against the Burns bill.

Flier Who Aided Capture Of Bandits Is Unhurt

Ocean Grove, N. J., April 1 (A.P.).—Mrs. Eleanor S. Young received word today that her son, Lieut. John S. E. Young, 27, Marine flier, and his family escaped without injury from the Nicaraguan earthquake. The lieutenant's wife and their two girls were in Managua, while the flier was stationed outside the city.

Young became widely known for his feat in tracking down a band of dangerous bandits a few months ago. He trailed them in his plane and caused their capture.

panic at the moment of the shocks, which lasted only a few seconds.

Lastreto related that he found himself in the Anglo-Central Trust Bank when the quake struck. The head of the bank fled into the street and he followed. A wall 50 feet in front of them crashed.

They joined the throngs rushing toward Lake Managua, on which the city is located. He said he thought they might find relief there from the suffocating fumes and dust, rising in clouds from falling buildings on every side. Even in this dash to the water's edge, Lastreto insisted there were no evidences of immediate panic.

Tales of horror were told by survivors. A woman, Amela Fernandez, was in her house when the tremors began. The house collapsed, burying her 4-year-old son under a wall. Witnesses said she frantically dug into the debris and recovered the boy. First-aid was applied and the child lived.

stepping policy on prohibition. Not only a large number of drys, but a goodly number of wets as well, feel that the platform in 1932 should ignore prohibition altogether and stress economic issues, the unemployment problem, for example.

In a speech over the Columbia Broadcasting System last night, Mr. Shouse declared that the Democratic party could render no greater service to the country than to pledge itself to an "attempted solution" of the unemployment problem.

The Republican party, Mr. Shouse said, not only had failed to deal constructively with the unemployment problem, but had attempted to "emasculate" the program offered by Senator Robert G. Wagner (Democrat), of New York.

After a visit to the White House the other day, Senator James E. Watson, of Indiana, the Republican leader in the Senate, said that both he and President Hoover felt that politics should "be adjourned for the present."

No Political Truce.

That politics will not be adjourned, however, is indicated by the plans of Mr. Shouse.

Moreover, is it certain that a political interpretation will be placed on some of the speeches that President Hoover is scheduled to deliver in the near future. Between now and June 17, the President will make something like nine speeches.

On May 4, in this city, he will speak before the International Chamber of Commerce, and it goes without saying that he will take up the business depression and unemployment.

His speech before the Indiana Republican Editors Association on June 15 also is expected to touch on matters that are actual or potential issues.

LAW SUITS INVOLVE $1,500,000 ESTATE

The attorneys seek to have a court accounting made.

The third suit names R. R. Bennett as defendant and declares that Evans borrowed $10,000 in December, 1928, for which he posted 89 shares of Ardinance Building Co. as collateral. He is alleged to have paid interest of $1,000 and after several extensions of the note is said to have paid interest amounting to $4,633.32. Another loan of $5,000 in September, 1929, cost Evans $500 with high rates charged upon renewals of the note.

The court is asked to retrain Bennett from filing suit or selling any collateral which he holds. An accounting is also sought. A motion for a temporary injunction will be argued a week from Friday providing the court agrees to a request made in the suit.

Marine Corps Sergeant Suffers Minor Hurts

(Associated Press.)

Sergt. McKinley D. Hoskin, of the Marine Corps, whose home is in Fort Scott, Kans., suffered injuries about the head, face and back in the earthquake at Managua.

A report from Lieut. Col. Calvin B. Matthews, commandant of the Nicaraguan National Guard, to the Navy Department yesterday added Hoskin's name to the official casualty list. His injuries are not serious. Hoskin's mother, Mrs. Christine Hoskin, lives in Fort Scott.

PAYROLL BANDITS TRY TO BUY AUTO

enburgh, assistant warehouse manager, were returning from a bank with the pay roll shortly before 11 o'clock. They parked their car in narrow Decatur street and, as they alighted, were confronted by three armed men.

After taking the money, which was in two canvas bags, the hold-up men ran across a lot to where their large blue sedan was parked. They fled in it. Police said the car bore tags stolen Tuesday from the machine of Frank Luts, 1638 Sixteenth street northwest.

The robbery occurred within 100 feet of the warehouse, where more than twenty men were working. John N. Healy, of Fourth street northeast, near G street, saw the men confront and rob Edmonston and Stoutenburgh. He ran into the warehouse and cried to the telephone operator: "Call police; there is a hold-up outside." Police say she said, "Forget it, brother; this is April Fool's Day and that stuff don't go."

Mr. Healy then raced to his automobile and followed the bandit car to Fifteenth and H streets northeast, where he lost the trail.

When police were notified the address was given as northwest by the radio dispatcher who broadcasted the flash. Time was wasted by Sergt. George Helmuth and Policeman J. F. Dankmeyer, of the Second Precinct, because they first went to the northwest address.

The holdup men, in escaping, ran across a lot to O street northeast, less than a block from where the Second Precinct radio car had been parked.

All three of the bandits were described as being small and well dressed. They wore caps. The pay roll was said to be for the 225 employes at the warehouse.

Inspector W. S. Shelby said last night that it was his opinion that the criminals were local talent. Pictures of several persons who might have perpetrated the robbery were shown to Stoutenburgh and Edmonston, who identified one photograph, but police later found that the man in question was already serving time.

Detective Sergts. H. K. Wilson and R. J. Cox, from headquarters, responded to the alarm. They are investigating.

MOTHER AND HER MANGANESE.

("Mother love is due to manganese in her diet and its absence causes it to disappear, says Dr. Elmer V. McCollum, of John Hopkins University."—News item.)

I.

When a mother beats her darlings
With a length of iron fence—
When she shows for them a hatred
Unremitting and intense—
When her mother love quite clearly
Is in constant state of freeze,
It just indicates that mommer
Hasn't had her manganese.

II.

When a little baby's crooning
Makes mamma a little sick,
And she loves to flog the kiddies
With a barrel stave or stick;
When an infant's cry of "Mother!"
With her nature disagrees,
Don't be startled, for it's nothing
But a lack of manganese.

III.

When she takes to dragging Junior
'Round the household by his hair
And delights in chasing Dolly
With a table-leg or chair;
When she screams in abject terror
As her babe climbs on her knees
It's significant of nothing
But a need of manganese.

IV.

When the patter-patter-patter
Of the footsteps of a child
Makes a mother scream in anger
And seem savage-like and wild;
When she drives them from the indoors
And insist they sleep in trees
It is just a symptom showing
She is off her manganese.

V.

When she loves to starve her offspring
And stick needles through their ears,
When she feeds them only spinach
And cries "Brats!" to all the dears;
When she tells them there's no Santa,
And says "Bah!" to Christmas trees,
Bear in mind she's just a mother
Who's deprived of manganese.

ACCUSED MAN TELLS COURT HE IS FUGITIVE

second wife when he lost his position.

Wupper's first wife, police stated, is Caroline Windhaum Wupper, who lives in Beemer with their two daughters. After Wupper's confession, the authorities communicated with M. L. Wenden, sheriff of Lincoln, Nebr., who wired back:

"We want Wupper very badly. Will send men on as soon as he is identified."

Further identification of the prisoner was found in a circular in the rogues' gallery. Police said he answered the description of a fugitive, 32, tall and slender, who speaks German fluently.

When Wupper was arraigned in Municipal Court he called an assistant district attorney and said he wanted to make a statement in the presence of his second wife. The second wife not having arrived, Wupper said he would dispense with the oral confession and wrote a statement, which he handed to a court attendant. This statement reads:

"I, the undersigned, am wanted in Lincoln, Nebr., in connection with the closing of Beemer's State bank in 1928.

"PAUL WUPPER."

A little later he dictated a telegram to be sent to the sheriff at Lincoln, which read: "At sheriff's office, Philadelphia, ready to give myself up. Come at once, or wire sheriff verifying my statement."

Wupper told the authorities he had become tired of being hunted.

"I felt that sooner or later I would be caught," he was quoted by police as saying, "and thought this was a good time to make a clean breast of things and ease my conscience.

"I had been president of the State Bank at Beemer for twenty years. I got into trouble through back loans, frozen paper and lack of cash reserve. I left Beemer with a bank examiner and the secretary of the State banking department, for Omaha to try and raise money to straighten things out.

"I tried Chicago and New York without success. Then I saw an article in the paper that the bank was closed and I was declared a fugitive, so I came to Philadelphia. At that time I had only $36 in my pockets."

CRASH OF ROCKNE IS STILL UNSOLVED

Edward and Arthur Baker, sons of the owner of the farm where the plane fell; R. C. Blackburn and Clarence H. McCracken. Their stories were substantially the same.

"I heard the plane flying above the clouds, hanging low over the ground," Blackburn told the jury. "The motor was sputtering. "Suddenly the plane shot out from the clouds. It was tipping to one side and headed straight toward the earth. A moment later I saw a part of the wing floating down.

"In almost an instant, the plane shot down to the earth. It disappeared behind a rise in the ground so I couldn't see it hit the ground.

Terrific Crash Heard.

"I heard a terrific crash and started for the scene. Every man was dead when I arrived. Four of them were in the crushed cabin. Four others had been thrown clear of the plane. They were scattered over an area of about 20 feet from the wreckage. Every body was mutilated and broken."

Blackburn and the Baker boys agreed there was no ice on the wreckage of the plane. Their testimony contradicted a theory that ice forming on the passenger lifter might have caused the right section of the wing to snap off.

L. E. Mann, a deputy sheriff, testified, however, he noticed small pieces of ice on the ground around the plane's wreckage. Some of the pieces of ice, he said, were in the shape of a "U," as if they might have been dashed off the wings.

Case Without Parallel.

J. A. Collins, assistant superintendent of the Eastern division of the Transcontinental concern, said he never had known of another case where a wing was wrenched from a plane as in yesterday's tragedy.

Leonard Jurden, Kansas City, Mo., inspector for the Department of Commerce, testified he had known Pilot Robert Frye personally and that the flier was wholly competent.

Jack Fry, vice president in charge of operations for the Transcontinental & Western Air Co., told the jury he was unable to advance any theory as to the cause of the crash until he had made further investigation. Although the jury was unable to determine the cause of the crash, the most general unofficial explanation was given by Barton Stevenson, a Kansas City aviator.

Theory of Accident.

According to Mr. Stevenson, Mr. Frye, flying through the clouds and battling bad weather, probably had decided to return to Kansas City. He might have swung earthward in an attempt to get his bearings, but found himself too near the ground.

Mr. Frye, according to Mr. Stevenson's theory, swung the controls to pull the plane out of its dive. The strain, Stevenson figured, could have sheared off the right-wing section.

Besides Rockne other victims of the plane crash were W. B. Miller, Hartford, Conn.; J. H. Happer, Chicago; C. A. Robrecht, Wheeling, W. Va.; H. J. Christen, Chicago; Spencer Goldthwaite, New York City; Frye, Kansas City, and Jesse Mathias, copilot, Kansas City.

after a conference, he asked Speaker Francis A. Michael to allow one of them to present his request to the House of Delegates. This was done. The speaker was Edward Bender, Baltimore, a member of the Trade Unity League, affiliated with the Communist party.

Two other members of the delegation also spoke, one demanding release of the fifteen then in jail. "We will mobilize all the workers in the State," said one of them, Leonard Anderson, a Negro, "and come and take by force what you so far have refused to give us."

The disturbance began when Speaker Michael ordered the somewhat unruly demonstrators to withdraw from the chamber and reenter quietly to present their petition. They did not leave, and police sought to eject them. They resisted and police brought clubs into play. The men fought back with fists, the women bit and screamed, and the melee was general for a time.

The women taken to jail were Dorothy Dare and Cecilia Stone, both of Baltimore. Two of the men, knocked out by police bludgeons, were taken to a hospital.

The local commander will introduce the department commander, who will introduce the national commander.

Reservations can be arranged for as many as 400 and will be accepted by any member of the banquet committee up to tomorrow night at the meeting of the legion, when they will be in the hands of Adjutant Lanham, and any reservations after that time will be made only by the adjutant, but only a very limited number will be accepted after the legion meeting.

The Alexandria police made 359 arrests in March, according to the report of Capt. W. W. Campbell, just made public. This is two more than the total for February, but actually an average of one less a day, considering the fact that February was a short month. More than half these arrests were for violations of the prohibition ordinance or for being drunk.

The total value of property reported lost or stolen was $1,485, of which the police recovered $1,004, and in addition recovered out-of-town property valued at $1,255.

There were 35 automobile accidents reported in the city, in which 16 persons were injured. Two accidents outside the city were investigated by the local police, in which one person was killed and three injured.

Police headquarters accommodated 471 persons with lodging during the month, of whom 316 were white and 155 colored. In February 581 persons were given lodging, the largest number ever recorded.

Four cases of housebreaking were reported, of which one has been cleared up, and there were 31 petit larceny cases, of which 10 were cleared up. Four automobiles were stolen in the city, all of which were recovered, and the police also recovered two out-of-town automobiles reported stolen.

A delegation from the American Legion Auxiliary of this city will leave this morning shortly after 9 o'clock for Fredericksburg to attend the joint conference of the first and eighth districts, Department of Virginia, to be held in that city with the Warrenton and Fredericksburg auxiliaries as hostesses.

They are Mrs. F. Clinton Knight, president; Mrs. Richard B. English, Mrs. M. F. Myers, Mrs. E. Burnett Ale, Mrs. Margaret F. Bailey, Mrs. George W. Roop, delegates; Mrs. Katherine V. Jenkins, Mrs. Louis Hoy, Mrs. L. H. Dudley, Mrs. John H. Trimyer, Mrs. J. Wilmer McMenamin and Mrs. Charles M. Shepperson, alternates; Mrs. Lula Rowley, Mrs. John B. Cox, and Mrs. Clyde Lanham, visitors. Mrs. Rathbone Smith, Americanism chairman for the department, will also attend.

Mrs. May McKenney, of Harrisonburg, department poppy chairman, will accompany the Alexandria delegation.

L. H. Dudley, recently elected president of the Chamber of Commerce, has announced the appointment of chairmen of these committees for the year:

Harry Hammond, public relations; C. Page Weller, industrial and trade relations; William B. McGroarty, industrial and commercial; George F. Downham, finance, and W. DuB. Brookings, civic development.

The committee chairmen held a meeting last night with the president to select other members of their committee and to map out plans for the work for the coming year.

The report of Deputy State Fire Marshal Samuel Steiner, who has just completed an inspection of stores, offices and schools in Alexandria, shows the city to be in good shape so far as fire hazards are concerned. The report makes a number of recommendations for improvement in minor matters, it is understood. The recommendations in regard to the schools mainly concern the purchase of additional fire extinguishers, which will probably be ordered at once by the city school board.

Thomas L. Cole, aged 63 years, died yesterday at his home, 119 Walnut street, Mount Ida. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Florence Cole, and three daughters. The deceased for many years conducted a produce stand in the City Market and lately has been associated with the stand of Julian Chauncey.

Dr. J. C. Robertson, of Richmond, will be the speaker at the meeting of the Kiwanis Club at 12:30 o'clock today at the George Mason Hotel and will be introduced by Charles E. Dare, program chairman. Roy R. Harton, also of Richmond, will give vocal selections.

Modern Exchange At College Park

Maryland University Now Has All Departments Connected.

A modern private branch exchange telephone system, connecting all departments of the University of Maryland through a switchboard serving 80 telephones, has been installed at the university.

The school was one of the first colleges in the country to have telephone service. Trunk lines connect this switchboard with the Berwyn and Hyattsville central offices of the Chesapeake & Potomac Co., of Baltimore City, from which points connections can be established to more than 90 per cent of the world's telephones.

The Berwyn central office, from which the individual line telephone serving Maryland University had been operated prior to the installation of the present private branch exchange system, was placed in operation May 14, 1910.

HUNTER TRIALS HELD DESPITE HEAVY RAIN

Virginia Club Members See Many Horses Tested and Prizes Awarded.

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., April 1.—The heaviest 20-hour rainfall that has visited this section in seventeen months, ending at noon today, did not prevent the hunter trials scheduled by the Farmington Hunt Club for this afternoon. Despite the overhanging clouds and chilly atmosphere several hundred members of the sporting set from Piedmont and northern Virginia braved the mud and watched the horses as they wended their way over the mile-and-a-half course at Windsor, country estate of R. D. York, 3 miles west of Charlottesville.

Despite the heavy going there were no accidents to mar the afternoon's sport. The numerous entries negotiated the ten fences and gate without a single mishap to horse or rider. There was an unusual number of clean performances.

Manners, pace, form and other requisites necessary in a good hunter were considered in the awards made by the judges, John Gheens, of Washington; Lewis Merriman, of Baltimore, and Minor Lewis, of Lynchburg.

Green Hunter Class.

The first class, called promptly at 1:30, was for green hunters, horses that have not been hunted more than one season. Eighteen of the 21 entries competed for the pitcher presented by Mr. and Mrs. William Luke 2d, of Covington, Va. The trophy was awarded Try Me, raised and owned by Grover Vandevender, at his Ivy Farms. This 4-year-old chestnut mare by Harvey F., out of Lady Greenbrier, made an exceptional showing, and promises to be heard from on the Virginia circuit of horse shows the coming season.

The red ribbon in this class went to Should I, a chestnut gelding, four years old, owned by Mrs. Wilbur W. Osborne of Gordonsville, and the yellow ribbon to Lindbergh, a gelding exhibited by Fox Brothers, of Greenwood.

Other entries in this class included Two Step, owned by Mrs. R. M. Brady, of Rapidan; W. A. Rinehart's Sonny Girl, Russell Mott's Lillian Russell, Arthur Talcott's Sky Rocket, Mrs. Jack Rinehart's Luster, Richard White Hall's Miss Keswick, Trump, owned by Manley Carter, of Orange; Frank Ix, Henry Hastings and Golden Max, shown by Mrs. Estelle L. Ditto, of New York.

Qualified Hunters' Class.

The plate presented by Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Jones, of Inglecress, in the class for qualified hunters, horses that have been hunted more than one season, was won by Vicaire, who has been hunted for the past two years by Mrs. Jones. This bay gelding, son of Berrildon, out of Villhalla, is an old steeplechaser, having won twelve races over courses in Maryland and New York.

The second ribbon in this class was pinned on Riley, the classy entry of John Stewart, M. F. H., of the Keswick Hunt Club, while the yellow went to Wilbur Osborne's Mint Julep.

Mrs. Thomas Somerville, of Montpelier, the former Marion DuPont, had two sterling horses in this class in Bell of Erin and Lovematch. Others competing were Mrs. Blanche Ortman's Paddy O'Spangle; Raspberry, owned by Harry Lee Smith, of Warrenton; Richard O. Hall's Keswick, winner of the Causey Memorial Cup at the horse show given at the meeting of the Virginia Fox Hunters Association in Suffolk last fall; Russell Mott's Timber King and Diana; Elf Queen and Highlander, owned by Manley Carter, of Orange; Mrs. Ellie Wood Keith's Sweetie; Mrs. William Luke's Silver, Dr. J. P. Jones' Silver Threads, and See Me Go and Red Emblem, shown by Mrs. Estelle Ditto, New York.

Should I Is Champion.

The bowl presented by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rinehart to the winner in the championship class was awarded Mrs. Wilbur Osborne's Should I, declared by the judges to be one of the outstanding hunters at the trials.

The horses awarded ribbons in the first two classes were started together and sent over the course at a hunting pace. Second honor went to Vandevender's Try Me, while Mrs. Jones' Vicaire was third.

Among the riders who piloted the hunters over the jumps were Harry Lee Smith, Warrenton; Morris Clark, Rapidan; Roger Rinehart, J. T. Carpenter, Dr. J. P. Jones, Douglas MacGregor, Hugh Garth, Grover Vandevender, Joe Ladd, Richard Whitehall and Joe Mott.

A hunt ball was given tonight at the Farmington Country Club.

Summary of Prizes.

Class 1, green hunters—Won by Try Me (Grover Vandevender, Ivy); second, Should I (Mrs. Wilbur Osborne, Gordonsville); third, Lindbergh (Fox Bros., Greenwood).

Class 2, qualified hunters—Won by Vicaire (Mrs. J. P. Jones, Inglecress); second, Riley (John Stewart, Keswick); third, Mint Julep (Wilbur W. Osborne, Gordonsville).

Class 3, championship — Won by Should I (Mrs. Wilbur Osborne, Gordonsville); second, Try Me (Grover Vandevender, Ivy); third, Vicaire (Mrs. J. P. Jones, Inglecress).

ARLINGTON COUNTY COUNCIL GIVEN $100

Potomac Savings Bank, of Capital, Sends Sum for Bicentennial.

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Receipt of a contribution of $100 from the Potomac Savings Bank, Washington, to assist in defraying the expenses of the Arlington County Bicentennial Council was announced by Albert H. Cohen, treasurer of the council, last night. The contribution was unsolicited, according to the statement, and was accompanied by the bank's expression of "the very important key position that Arlington County will occupy in the bicentennial celebration of the birth of George Washington."

Arlington Lodge, No. 193, I. O. O. F., has affiliated with the council and has appointed the following delegates, Arthur Orr, president of the council, announced last night:

William L. Bragg, vice president; Thomas O. Halloran, Walter B. Huffman, J. W. Myers, and C. W. Whiteseil.

Having been selected as vice president, Mr. Bragg becomes a member of the executive committee of the council as the representative from the lodge, President Orr announced.

President Orr further revealed that Arlington Post, No. 139, American Legion, will contribute $50 worth of evergreens to the council for use as prizes in connection with the county beautification contest to be conducted during the spring. The evergreens are a gift to the legion by one of its members, Robert H. Forman.

Commonwealth's Attorney William C. Gloth was instructed by the county board of supervisors at its meeting yesterday to file suit against the owners and developers of Aurora Hills subdivision in Jefferson district, to force the correction of the stoppage in the storm sewers which it is claimed is caused by the sanitary sewerage system which has been installed in that subdivision.

Chairman Edward Duncan stated that for a year and a half he has made efforts to have this condition corrected and feels that the only way to have it done is to institute suit.

Continuing the public hearing on proposed amendments to the county zoning ordinance the board approved a number of amendments proposed by the county zoning administrator. One permitted automobiles to enter filling stations between the sidewalk and pump providing there was no blocking of the sidewalk.

Approval was also given to a paragraph which provides that no hedge on corner lots shall exceed the height of 3½ feet.

The public schools of the county will close tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock and remain closed until Tuesday morning for the Easter holidays, according to an announcement from the office of County School Superintendent Fletcher Kemp.

A statement issued last night by Robert E. Plymale, president of the Fort Myer Heights Citizens Association, which is sponsoring the development of Washington street as an adequate approach to the new Memorial Bridge, said:

"The Washington street project has no connection with the Whipple street extension as a means of reaching the bridge over the Lee boulevard, and those who are sponsoring the Washington street project are in no way opposing the development of the Lee boulevard. * * * We do feel that the people to be served by the Washington street project are entitled to an adequate approach to the bridge which this street will give.

"This special meeting which I have called as president of the association, which will be attended by delegates from all the civic associations in both Arlington and Washington District, which are supporting the movement, is also open to any and all persons who are interested in seeing the construction of an adequate approach to the bridge for the most thickly settled sections of the county."

The meeting will be held in the auditorium of the Fort Myer Heights School Building at 8 o'clock.

The Arlington Rotary Club will hold its weekly luncheon meeting tomorrow at 12:30 o'clock at the Washington Golf and Country Club.

The trash containers recently ordered by the county board of supervisors to be placed in Clarendon have arrived and have been placed in the business sections of the town. All persons are asked to cooperate with the county officials in an effort to keep the waste paper off the streets.

At the request of the Lyon Park Citizens Association, the Woman's Club and the business houses there, the supervisors yesterday authorized the ordering of two more of the containers for Lyon Park.

Lenten services at St. George's Episcopal Church will be conducted today at 10:30 a. m. and 8 o'clock p. m. Both services will be conducted by the rector, the Rev. Henry J. Miller, the subject of the morning sermon being "Love." In the evening the sermon will be "The Holy Communion."

Tomorrow, Good Friday, there will be services starting at 12:30 and continuing until 3 o'clock. In the evening a Lenten cantata, "Penitence, Pardon and Peace," will be presented.

The Ladies Auxiliary to the Arlington Volunteer Fire Department announces that plans are under way for a benefit card party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Scheffel, 153 South Glebe road, the evening of April 8.

The Floral Circle of Mary Washington Chapter, No. 50, Order of the Eastern Star, will hold its monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Louise Elliott at Walker's Chapel this afternoon.

The executive committee of the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce meeting last night at Clarendon voted to hold a membership meeting the evening of April 15 in the Odd Fellows Hall at Clarendon.

It is understood that at this meeting the question of the chamber activities in the Arlington County Bicentennial Council, which has charge of the county participation in the celebration next year, will be discussed.

A quantity of the granite taken from the terrace around the Unknown Soldier's Tomb in Arlington National Cemetery having been placed on the property of W. R. Rose in Rosslyn, who was preparing to use it for a fence, stated last night that he has given permission to Arlington to the Arlington Post, No. 139, American Legion, to use as much of the stone as they need to complete the memorial they are erecting at Clarendon.

Correcting the impression that he feels exists in the county that the members of the Arlington County Bar Association opposes the movement seeking an executive order from the President of the United States permitting political activity by Federal employes who are residents of the county, Amos C. Crounse, president of the association, issued the following statement last night:

"While it is true that the association at its meeting held Monday afternoon did vote against the proposal, the action was as an association. It was the opinion that as a Bar Association its passing such a resolution was without the scope for the purpose for which the association was organized. As individual members I feel safe in saying a majority are in favor of such action on the part of the President."

Speaking as an individual Mr. Crounse said: "The issuance of the proposed executive order is not a new thing. I have heretofore been in favor of permitting the large number of the qualified voters of the county who are Federal employes and are deeply interested in the welfare and advancement of the county to take an active part in all political questions affecting their local self-government."

DROUGHT'S END SEEN IN BIG SPRING RAINS

Many States Are Benefited; Truck Crops Flourish in Arkansas.

Richmond, Va., April 1 (A.P.).—Weather Bureau officials east of the Mississippi began to speak of the 1930-31 drought in the past tense today.

The heavy rains that continued over into April in most of the drought States have made up in a large measure for the deficiency since the first of the year. Danger of another year of drying wells and parched crops is materially lessened.

Top soil was reported in fine condition throughout Kentucky, Tennessee and Virginia after an inch of rainfall. The precipitation frequent and extended over several days at a time during the last few weeks, also was penetrating into the subsoil, and streams reached the highest point in more than a year.

Snow accompanied the rains in the mountainous sections of the northern tier of Southern States but was not expected to materially affect fruit crops. The Alleghany Mountains near Bluefield, Va., southward along the Kentucky border, were blanketed with a white mantle several inches deep.

Weather bureaus at Richmond and at Louisville, Ky., said the drought is broken in those States, while in the stricken State of Arkansas the rains have given new hope to the farmers. Red Cross food lists are declining rapidly in Arkansas as agricultural employment increases. Truck crops are flourishing and workers are needed for strawberry picking.

Along with the statements from individual weather bureaus was an announcement from J. B. Kincer, chief of the meteorology department of the United States Department of Agriculture, that the week's precipitation in a large measure relieved the entire drought area. The spring wheat belt, he said, still faces a shortage of subsoil moisture, but the rains have been especially helpful from the Ohio valley and Lake region eastward to the Atlantic Ocean.

In Virginia the precipitation varied from three-fourths of an inch in the East to an inch in the Piedmont hills, with the extreme western part of the State receiving 1.75 inches.

Potomac River 5 Feet Higher at Williamsport

Special to The Washington Post.

Hagerstown, Md., April 1.—The Potomac River at Williamsport was rising this afternoon and was approximately 5 feet above normal stage this evening. Heavy rains throughout last night and today were responsible. An inch of rain had fallen since last night. All of the tributaries to the Potomac are running bank-full.

For the first time since last fall, when most of the wells went dry, they started flowing yesterday and today. Indications are that all underground streams are getting back to normal.

BOND PRACTICE HIT IN PRINCE GEORGES

Employe of Maryland University Claims That Police Held Car.

Although he charged that Prince Georges County police tried to discourage him when he wanted to get bond privately, and that his car was held for three days at a garage belonging to a member of the force, P. D. Saunders, employed at the University of Maryland, was yesterday fined on two counts in police court in Hyattsville.

Saunders said that a bondsman was at the house of the justice of the peace who committed him to jail, and offered to furnish collateral to the extent of $35 for a fee of $25. He called a friend, however, to bring him the money, although the policemen, he said, "discouraged me." He was placed in jail until his friend arrived.

After his release, he said, he was told his car was at a garage run by another policeman. He attempted to get it out at once, he said, but was unable to do so for three days. He claims that rent was charged for these three days.

Saunders was charged with speeding, having no license, and having no registration card. He was fined $1 on each of the latter charges, and the speeding charge was dismissed when he brought into court the certificate of a test of his speedometer.

Saunders told the policeman, he said, that his car would not do 55 miles an hour, which was the charge. The policeman then drove his car at that speed to disprove Saunder's statement. While awaiting trial, Saunders took his meter to town and had it tested, the test showing that it was fast.

Regretting that he was not able to fine a man more than $50 for using a smoke screen on his car, Judge J. Chew Sheriff yesterday placed one of the heaviest totals of fines ever imposed in police court and held a man for a grand jury to decide whether "smoking" is an assault with a dangerous weapon.

Besides the $50 smoke screen fine, Julian Foster, colored, of Oregon avenue near Seventeenth street northwest, was fined a total of $535 on six other charges, all but one of them being the maximum fine for that offense. For possession he must pay $200 or serve 6 months in jail; for reckless driving he was fined $100; for speeding, $150; for using an exhaust whistle, $50; for having no license, $25; for having no registration card, $10. He was committed to jail in default of his fines.

Once before a man has been held for action of the grand jury for an assault arising from using a smoke screen, but the case was never decided as the man escaped from the Bladensburg Jail before the jury met. John H. Thomas, of Washington, was also held for the grand jury on a warrant charging that he "aided and abetted the commission" of an assault with the smoke equipment.

Thomas was riding in the machine with Foster during the seven-mile chase which ended only when a policeman's bullet drained the gas tank. Bond for both men was set at $1,000 on the grand jury charge.

Thomas was also charged with possession and fined $100, but a charge of operating a car equipped with a smoke screen was dismissed. He appealed his fine and was held on bond of $500, pending trial of his appeal.

Harry Friedman, of G street northeast near Sixth street, was fined $200, with an alternative of six months in jail, on a possession charge, and was fined $100 more for exceeding 60 miles an hour. In addition, fines of $10 for having no license and $5 for having no registration card were placed against him. He was committed to jail in default of the fines.

Oscar M. Thorne, of Fourth street near D street northwest, was fined $100, with the six months alternative, for possession, $10 for having fictitious markers, $25 for speeding and $1 for having no registration card. With costs the total amount was $144.60. He told newspapermen that he would like to have the total in the paper, as his mother was very poor and he wanted her to see how much his fines were.

George D. Sheldon, of Baltimore, was fined $200 for possession. He pleaded guilty to the charge, admitting that he had nine cases in his car.

Judge Sheriff ruled in a number of cases involving use of cars with District tags by residents of Maryland. Nine charges of this offense were heard.

Maryland residents who use commercial cars with District tags merely to drive to their homes in the State, and do not use them for pleasure purposes in the State, are not required to have Maryland tags, he ruled in the case of Jerome D. Huff and William F. Rosenfield. Both these men are employes of a Washington trucking firm, and use the trucks for this purpose. Charges against them were dismissed, but Rosenfield was fined $10 for not having his personal car equipped with Maryland tags.

In the case of John A. Boyd, of Cottage City, the judge ruled that Maryland residents driving cars belonging to firms in the District, and having District tags, must have Maryland chauffeur's licenses. Boyd was fined $10 for having an improper license, a Washington one.

Willis Lancaster, of Mount Rainier, was acquitted of using fictitious markers after he brought in a witness to show that his machine was three feet over the line in the District when he was arrested. The line runs between his driveway and his garage and the car was in the driveway, although the garage is in Maryland.

Layton Miner, of Cottage City, was fined $10 for fictitious markers and $5 for having an untitled car. Ellis F. Riley, also of Cottage City, was also fined $10 for fictitious markers. Carl V. Fisher, of Washington, forfeited $10 on a speeding charge.

Frank Fee, of Baltimore, forfeited $10 for reckless driving, and Thomas D. Marks forfeited $25 for speeding. Another convicted on a fictitious marker charge was one against R. C. Brawning, of Mount Rainier, who pleaded guilty and paid $10. A similar charge against Arthur G. Hallows, of Mount Rainier, was dismissed, although he was fined $1 for having no registration card.

John E. Christensen was also convicted on the tag charge and fined $10. He was remanded to jail in default of this sum. Kenneth W. Spencer, of Hyattsville, was fined $1 for having no registration card. Both these arrests were made by Albert Anderson, chief of police of Hyattsville.

Neil McCallum was fined $100 for driving while drunk and $1 for reckless driving, as well as $1 for having no registration card. He testified that he was drunk and did not remember driving the car which was in collision with another one in Cottage City. Stephen DeBurr forfeited $25 for speeding.

William Prather, of Tuxedo, was fined $10 for assaulting his wife, Roberta. She testified that he struck her, although she had shown him clippings of a newspaper telling how a Baltimore wife-beater had been sentenced to the whipping post. Judge Sheriff, in sentencing Prather, said that it was likely that the whipping post might yet come into use in the county if this offense did not cease.

A hearing will be held April 15 in Baltimore on the request of the Baltimore & Ohio Railway to do away with the station agent at Riverdale. A number of organizations in that town, including the mayor and council, have protested against the change.

The railroad company has asked permission to make the change April 20, alleging that there is not sufficient freight service at the station to justify maintaining an agent. The town council plans to show figures on the amount of business.

The hearing was set by the Public Service Commission after receiving complaints against the change. Under the new plan asked by the railroad the freight business would be handled by the station agent at Hyattsville and the gate tender at the Riverdale crossing would take care of the mail. There will be no change in train service.

A coroner's jury has returned a verdict of accidental death in the case of Edgar Poe, of Capitol Heights, who was killed when a brick from the lining of a well fell on his head while he was at work in the shaft. Testimony showed that Poe knew of the brick and had tried to replace it shortly before it fell.

The Exchange Club, of Prince Georges County, yesterday took up its regular session hearing C. Irving Root explain the proposed extension of the park system under the Cramton enabling act. Mr. Root is chief engineer of the Park and Planning Commission.

Two Former Officers Sentenced in Bribe Case

Special to The Washington Post.

Petersburg, Va., April 1.—W. N. Walden and J. W. Gay, former members of the police corps of Petersburg, and Tom Scott, colored, were convicted in Hustings Court this morning and given penitentiary terms.

The two former officers were convicted of accepting alleged bribes from Scott to protect him in the liquor traffic and were given eighteen months each in the penitentiary. Scott was given one year in the State prison. Each pleaded guilty.

IMPROVEMENT CITED IN CREDIT, BUSINESS

Survey of Bank of Richmond Also Reports Upturn in Agriculture.

Richmond, Va., April 1 (A.P.).—William W. Hoxton, chairman and Federal reserve agent at the Bank of Richmond, in his April review of credit, business and agricultural conditions today said some seasonal developments were noted, and that there were a few signs of better adjustment to existing conditions.

With the exception of the few adjustment signs, Mr. Hoxton said February witnessed no material change in the trend of business in the Fifth Federal Reserve District in comparison with other recent months.

Rediscounts at Same Rate.

At the reserve bank, rediscounts for member banks remained at about the same level between February 15 and March 15, and on the latter date were practically the same as on March 15, 1930. The circulation of Federal reserve notes declined seasonally during the month, but the volume of notes outstanding continued larger than a year ago. Outstanding loans by reporting member banks declined moderately between the middle of February and the middle of March, and the demand deposits dropped by in similar proportions, but time deposits in member banks and savings deposits in Baltimore savings banks rose.

Debits to individual accounts for four weeks ended March 11, 1931, totaled 3.3 per cent less than the debits in the preceding four weeks ended February 11, 1931, and 11.8 per cent less than in four weeks ended March 12 last year.

Textiles Show Improvement.

The textile situation improved somewhat, cotton goods sales having been reported as exceeding production, and the danger of overproduction was greatly lessened by the abandonment of night work in most Southern mills. Cotton consumption in the Fifth District in February was less than consumption in January this year, or February, 1930, in total bales, but on a daily basis the February record was better than that of January.

Retail trade in department stores last month averaged about 5 per cent less than the volume of business done in February, 1930, but a considerable part of the decrease was due to price declines during the year. Wholesale trade also compared unfavorably with February, 1930, trade in most lines, but again price changes played an important part in the decline, the review said.

W. E. Smith Is Convicted of Assault; Took Fairfax Man for Holdup.

Walter E. Smith, 23, a Treasury Department draftsman, who lives on Columbia road northwest near Fifteenth street, who was indicted in the Fairfax County Circuit Court on a charge of attempt to kill Fairfax County Policeman Carl McIntosh on Chain Bridge hill March 15, was found guilty by a jury of the Circuit Court yesterday of assault. His fine was fixed at $500.

According to the evidence brought out at the trial yesterday, Smith and Mrs. Dorothy Dixon, 22 years old, of Sherrier place near Conduit road, were parked in a car at the top of Chain Bridge hill. McIntosh approached the car from the rear, and as he stepped alongside he was fired upon twice without warning. When he dodged to the rear of the car a third shot was fired, piercing his coat collar.

The policeman drew his own gun, shouting to Smith that he was a policeman. On being satisfied McIntosh was a policeman, Smith surrendered his gun and he was placed under arrest and taken to the Fairfax County Jail, where he was held without bond.

Taking the stand in his own defense, Smith testified he was married and that his wife and child were in Alabama. He met Mrs. Dixon at a music academy in Washington, where he was a piano instructor in the evenings. Mrs. Dixon was one of his pupils. Smith said he shot because he mistook the policeman for a holdup man. The trial lasted all day, the jury returning its verdict shortly before 7 o'clock last night, after being out for more than an hour and a half. The prosecution was conducted by Commonwealth's Attorney Wilson M. Farr and his assistant, Hugh Marsh.

ACTION DUE TODAY IN BLUE LAW FIGHT

Senate in Maryland Passes Bill Banning Purse-Net Fishing in Chesapeake.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., April 1.—With the passage of the compromise bill outlawing purse net fishing in Chesapeake Bay, and the Senate having made the measure giving to Baltimore City home rule on the question of Sabbath law abrogation the special order of business for a final vote tomorrow, the Maryland Legislature today disposed of issues that have blocked progress of legislation during the last several weeks.

Several other proposed laws of State-wide importance are pending, but both houses have cleared the way to act upon the mass of bills embracing local legislation for the various counties.

This means plenty of work will be crowded into the four remaining calendar days of the 90-day biennial session, which closes Monday midnight. Indications are, however, that a last hour jam will be avoided.

The fight on the anti-Sunday bill is evenly divided in the Senate, advocates and opponents cleaming fourteen votes each, with Senator David G. McIntosh, Baltimore County, holding the deciding vote.

As it now stands the bill grants the Mayor and Council of Baltimore authority to pass ordinances to modify Sunday laws on amusements and merchandise selling, subject, however, to a referendum. State-wide provisions of the bill have been eliminated.

The purse net bill was passed by the Senate under suspension of rules, and the House having previously approved it, it now goes to the governor for final action. Senators Beck, Kent County, and Withgott, Talbot County, the sections where purse nets have been in more general use for years, fought the measure to the last. Theirs were the only votes cast against it.

The House today approved the two administration bills providing for State loans aggregating $7,633,000, of which $5,633,000 is for general construction.

The House also adopted a Senate bill calling on the governor to appoint a commission to study State's water resources, a measure that was prompted by the drouth. The House passed and sent to the Senate the Prince Georges County bill authorizing the Maryland National Park and Planning Commission to establish a building code in the county area.

Chauvinists Described As Degenerate Patriots

This is the second of a series of essays on the flag which are intended to assist entrant in the Post-United States Flag Association "Envoy of Friendship" contest in preparing their essays.

By COL. JAMES A. MOSS, (United States Army, retired, president general, United States Flag Association).

When patriotism degenerates into chauvinism it becomes false patriotism and the "patriot" becomes a chauvinist—and there is as much difference between a true patriot and a chauvinist as there is between a saint and the devil.

Many are the deeds of absurdity, vainglory, selfishness, dishonesty, injustice and even crime committed in the name of "patriotism"—false patriotism.

False patriotism, of which there is so much in the world, reeks with hypocrisy. Can any one, for example, think of a greater hypocrite than the man or woman who is always waving the flag, who incessantly shouts from the house tops the virtues of his or her country, but who has no compunction about violating the law of the land, avoiding jury duty, evading the payment of taxes, or taking advantage of his or her country in a business deal? And every country has its army of "hypocritical patriots."

CONTESTANTS MUST SHOW DEEP FLAG KNOWLEDGE

are published only in The Post. No copies are kept, and students can obtain this information only through The Post.

Once again, the United States Flag Association has nothing to do with the selection of the two students. Teachers in the various schools will pick the two students from each school who will participate in the preliminary test. A group of distinguished citizens, soon to be announced, will conduct the examinations in the preliminary test and will select the six boys and six girls who will enter the final test on April 18. A jury of selection, headed by United States Commissioner of Education Cooper and consisting of outstanding citizens, will make the final selection of the boy and girl who will receive the free trip.

Additional promises of honors for the children abroad are being received by the Flag Association officials. Prominent men, high in governmental circles in both Great Britain and France, are taking an interest in the good will tour and are offering their cooperation in any possible way to make the trip a success. In the meantime plans are being made to give the envoys an elaborate entertainment when they assemble in Washington in June preliminary to leaving on the patriotic pilgrimage to American places of historic interest before sailing for London and Paris.

The good-will trip is limited to 63 girls and boys, it being the purpose of the Flag Association to have them represent a "living flag" with 1 boy as the flagstaff, 1 girl as the field of blue, 13 boys and girls as the stripes of the flag and 48 girls and boys as the stars. For this reason, the United States Flag Association is taking care to see that the highest possible type of boy and girl is being selected in every case, with the idea that they will become leaders of thought in the next generation, and inculcate into the people of their day the lessons of world friendship they will learn on this trip. Because of this, officials of the Flag Association say, the boy and girl who win this contest will have just cause to be proud of their ability.

Merit alone will decide this contest.

Because of the large number of people involved, both in writing the essays and in marking them, it is impossible for any element of favoritism to creep into the contest.

The best insurance against losing is to study carefully both the history of the United States and the flag, be diligent in school duties and read The Washington Post every morning.

GOV. ROOSEVELT—WET.

Gov. Roosevelt supplements a decided vote in his favor among delegates and alternates to the last Democratic convention by a new pronouncement on prohibition. In giving his approval to a resolution passed by the New York Legislature urging Congress to call a national constitutional convention to repeal the eighteenth amendment, he said:

> I believe an overwhelming sentiment exists in this State which asks for immediate action to change the eighteenth amendment and that the greater part of this sentiment is based on two righteous and sane objectives: First, to eliminate the fundamental source of the greater part of modern, organized crime, and secondly, to promote a greater temperance. To this policy I subscribe.

Critics of Gov. Roosevelt have complained that since his inaugural address it has been impossible to get a clear-cut expression from him as to his wet and dry views. His statement in signing the resolution for a constitutional convention leaves no question of doubt with regard to his attitude toward the eighteenth amendment and the advisability of changing it.

What effect such a statement might have had upon the straw vote recently gathered by Mr. Straus it is difficult to say. The Southern dry element of the party undoubtedly has turned strongly to Roosevelt. His persistent silence on the prohibition question during recent months led to the hope among dry Democrats that he would maintain such a neutral attitude that they could give him whole-hearted support.

But Gov. Roosevelt is not the only power in the Empire State. Visits of big chiefs of Tammany to Albany have been frequent of late, and rumor has it that the conversations were not limited entirely to investigations in the metropolis. The governor, perennial nominator of Al Smith, would still be in a most uncertain state if the former governor were not disposed to reciprocate at the next convention.

The vote in the former delegate poll of 478 for Roosevelt against 125 for Smith was generally surprising, and by many is held to be most significant. A considerable proportion of the former delegates doubtless will vote on Democratic nominations in 1932. The fact that of the total vote cast in the recent test Roosevelt and Smith received nearly two-thirds, and that New York State delegates were not included in the poll, seems to carry a message of some importance to other candidates. The only one who made more than an also-ran showing was Owen D. Young, and he did not receive one-sixth as many votes as Roosevelt.

Notwithstanding his big straw vote lead over Smith, the governor's thoughts must turn occasionally and with good reason to a Baltimore scene, where Mr. Bryan could not secure the nomination, and yet most effectively saw to it that Champ Clark was not nominated, either.

NEW INDIAN POLICY.

Reorganization of the office of Indian Affairs, which has just been announced by Secretary Wilbur, is an important step in the administration's plan of assimilating the native race into the economic life of the country. For many years the Indian Bureau was devoted to the work of isolating Indian tribes on reservations and of administering Government aid. Soon after President Hoover was inaugurated that policy was put into reverse. A new organization is needed to carry out the new policy. Charles J. Rhoades, Commissioner of Indian Affairs, and other officials have spent more than a year overhauling the bureau's administrative machinery.

The new organization is set up along strictly practical lines. Each department will have a new objective toward which its efforts will be directed. The whole purpose of the bureau under the present administration is to prepare the Indians for a new economic and social life. The practice of herding the aborigines into desolate reservations has reduced them to abject poverty, and the doling out of rations has encouraged idleness. Efforts have been made to educate the younger members of the tribes, but there has been no opportunity for them to utilize their education or even to live according to civilized methods. Now the bureau plans gradually to get the Indians away from reservations and into useful employment, where they can make a living for themselves.

When Congress decided to set up Indian reservations for the protection of the tribal remnants it must have been influenced by that oft-repeated conception of the red man as the vanishing American. As a matter of fact, the race has shown no evidence of vanishing. The best authorities calculate that there are about as many Indians in the United States now as there were when Columbus navigated the Atlantic. The Indian population is increasing at the rate of about 2,000 per year, and the birth rate is 50 per cent higher than that of the country as a whole. When the death rate is cut down to the national level by sanitary living and adequate medical attention the race can be expected to hold its own with the white man.

It is too much to expect widespread and immediate improvements from the program that has been inaugurated by the office of Indian affairs. Many years will be required to assimilate the Indians. Progress may be especially slow at first. But there seems to be no question that the Government is on the right track. It is encouraging to find the bureau laying careful and detailed plans for the undertaking which, if successful, will some day bring about its own extinction.

IN RESTRAINT OF TRADE.

Secretary Wilbur, acting as spokesman for the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana, announces that its imports will be reduced immediately. Previously the Oil Conservation Board, of which Secretary Wilbur is chairman, had arranged with three other great oil-importing companies to cut down their shipments of petroleum and gasoline into the United States. All of the large importers are now parties to this agreement in restraint of trade.

A few months ago the Oil Conservation Board was advocating that a larger volume of oil be imported, in order to ease the heavy draft upon American petroleum wells. Now, under the pretense of "conserving" the oil supply, the board promotes an agreement to curtail imports, in spite of the fact that the volume of oil imported has decreased since that time and American exports have increased. Apparently the board has abandoned the purpose for which it was created. Its mission was to promote conservation of American oil, not that of Venezuela.

The strangest aspect of this movement is what appears to be cooperation of Federal officials in an agreement to restrict imports. Such agreements are forbidden by the anti-trust laws. Had the petroleum importing companies entered into an agreement among themselves to curtail their imports they might have expected to be brought into court by the Attorney General. Can trade be restrained with the consent of a branch of the Government? It is hardly conceivable that the courts would uphold a conspiracy in restraint of trade merely because Federal officials had encouraged it.

The board has set a precedent which will not go unchallenged. On one hand, the Department of Justice is trying to break up alleged monopolistic combinations, and on the other the Oil Conservation Board is encouraging restraint of imports. The millions of automobilists in the United States have a right to be protected against combinations to restrain trade and boost the price of gasoline. They will be heard from.

THE NATIONAL PLAYERS.

The seventh consecutive season of the National Theater Players was ushered in this week by the presentation of the key of the city to the players by District Commissioner Reichelderfer. It was an appropriate expression of Washington's appreciation of the growth and success of the organization that now stands foremost among the stock companies of this country. Manager S. E. Cochran is entitled to credit for the idea of establishing a competent company to present good plays at moderate prices. The public has given generous support to the enterprise.

The annals of the American stage are replete with the names of celebrities who graduated from local stock companies. Washington has furnished its share of talent to adorn the national stage. There has always been a desire on the part of playgoers to see a national theater established here, and it may be that the National Theater's company is the nucleus of such a desirable addition to the cultural wealth of Washington.

BETTER BUSINESS INDICATIONS.

There are numerous evidences that the current depression has passed the worst period. In the fields of labor, prices and business, various distinct centers of observation are in agreement regarding the improved situation.

The first bit of cheering news for farm products in a long time came with the official announcement that, after an uninterrupted decline for five months, the general level of agricultural commodity prices of local farm markets showed a 1-point advance from February 15 to March 15. This is not much of a recovery in a price range that is 35 points below the previous year, but it is in the right direction—at last.

The emergency committee for unemployment can not report a uniformly general improvement in labor conditions throughout the country, but in many, many widely scattered districts and cities officials find encouragement because gains outnumbered losses considerably. Col. Woods reports the letting of contracts last week for public and semipublic work in 39 States and the District of Columbia for a total of $40,580,537, which brings the total since December 1 to nearly $1,000,000,000.

The Department of Commerce makes public the results of a survey showing further slight improvement in exports to thirteen foreign countries. Somewhat better trends were reported for Canada, Germany, India, Japan, British Malay, Siam and the Philippine Islands.

The business index of the Guaranty Trust Co. of New York, stood at 64.8 for February, as against 63.8 for January, and the index of wholesale commodity prices on March 15 stood at 54 as opposed to 53.4 a month earlier. These slight increases are considered, following three months of stability, to indicate at least that business has begun to improve. In general the Guaranty's survey finds that the way is being cleared for business recovery and that the readjustments necessary to assure it are under way. "That progress," adds the report, "can not be accurately timed or measured, but that it seems to be started is of real importance and carries with it a degree of reassurance and improved business psychology."

Roger W. Babson, in the current Collier's, gives a summary of the various panics that the United States has weathered during the last century and recalls that "ten times within the last 90 years the country has been 'ruined,' but each time has come out safely and has risen to new summits of safety and prosperity." His concluding counsel is to remember that "all the hard luck now suffered the country has suffered many times before, and it has a 100 per cent record for pulling through, not only unimpaired but actually improved. Look forward, therefore, to the brighter days that are surely coming, when prosperity will return, not only as good as ever but better than ever."

To the farmer, the manufacturer and the exporter struggling with the trying conditions that are world-wide, mere expressions of hope for the future are not very reassuring, but the actual evidences of general improvement, even though slight, afford grounds for feeling that the worst is over.

VERMONT'S ELECTION.

In Vermont's special senatorial election the Democrats polled 15,304 votes as compared with 27,308 for Warren R. Austin, the Republican nominee. Vermont is, of course, a Rock-ribbed Republican State. But it may be noted that the Hoover landslide in 1928 gave the Republicans only a two to one vote. The division of the votes between the two parties in this special election was strikingly similar to that of 1928. The Republicans held most of their majority in spite of many adverse conditions.

Gov. Weeks appointed Frank C. Partridge to succeed the late Senator Greene. Senator Partridge came to Washington for the remainder of the short session. He became infected with the "bonus" fever and voted against the administration after he had promised to support it. Mr. Austin denounced this procedure and won the Republican primary election. This brought about a rift in the party, and the Democrats foresaw a "golden opportunity."

Stephen H. Driscoll, the Democratic candidate, staked his case on the wet issue. The rising tide of wet sentiment, aided by a split in the Republican ranks, should have resulted in a close race, according to the Shouse methods of calculation, but it did not. Vermont seems to be more solidly Republican than before. This is especially significant in view of the fact that Mr. Austin stood firmly behind the administration, defending the tariff and prohibition.

BUILDING TO LAST

From the Saturday Evening Post.

All of us become much excited for transient reasons and in respect to fleeting causes. Thousands of prominent persons visit the Nation's Capital from time to time to urge this or to protest that important measure. Perhaps they would do well to pause for a few moments and gaze at some of the great new Government buildings and plazas now in process of creation. For these not only are part of one of the most comprehensive plans ever made for a city in any country or any age, but have about them a quality of permanence which is utterly lacking in most of the issues and controversies of the day.

After all, a people finds no such thorough expression as in its architecture, and in the Capital this must reflect truly national qualities. The monumental buildings which are rising in Washington, especially in the colossal triangle group, or formation, are bound to carry with them a lasting meaning and purpose.

One of these buildings, now almost finished, the Department of Commerce, is among the very largest structures in the world. What are people to think of it and its type? This is not an idle question and it deserves no idle answer. Already this huge mass has been subjected to no little criticism as being an imitation of a Greek temple, as un-American and unfitted to present-day life. Here is a question asked by a congressman of a public official connected with the work:

"How long would you say it will be before all these buildings we are now constructing that look like flat-topped State penitentiaries will be determined to be entirely too plain, as unsightly, ridiculous absurdities and a disgrace to the Government, and Congress will be appealed to by some people to tear them all down and rebuild them in accordance with the style of architecture then in vogue?"

These new buildings are in the semi-classical style known as Federal, and in accordance with the pattern set so early by the White House, the Capitol and the Treasury, to which, also, the far-from-new State and War Department Building will be changed to conform. The pattern was set too early to change it now, and there is unity, mass and continuity about it all which carries down from the early days of the Republic and makes our history something besides jazz in its architectural expression. As it takes form, there is a natural link between the unfolding of the great plan and the inspiration which George Washington and the other fathers and founders gave to their handiwork. There are here no shifting fads, no momentary excesses, but a solid development which can never be objectionable, despite changes of taste.

Moreover, the plan now being carried out represents the very best thought of the foremost living architects. Besides, it can not be fairly judged by any one building, but only in connection with the whole, which means not only the aggregate of buildings but all the contemplated as well as existing plazas, boulevards, fountains, parks, concourses and malls.

A large part of the entire plan will be realized within the next five years. It will be a notable expression of the might any majesty of a great nation, the citizens of which will do well to watch its realization in the spirit in which the work is being planned and carried on.

Since it is now assumed that everybody else is against it, Senator Borah comes out in favor of the German-Austrian tariff agreement.

The West kept its spring blizzard to itself; here's hoping the South will do the same.

Navy folks are peeved at falling behind the international ratio; but how about the Army, which is only about one-half the strength authorized by Congress?

The Real Glory Song.

Toledo Blade: Glory be, there is a new and livelier spirit on the air. For a time, too long a time, broadcasting stations were given to calamitous notes. Now the tune has changed and we are getting cheerful introductions to returning prosperity.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

THE BURDEN-BEARERS.

They do not live in vain who keep Close watches where the children sleep,
And give the stitches which repair
The little garments children wear.

Not vain those lives which seem to stay
On guard where happy children play
And never venture far for fear
There'll come a cry they may not hear.

Though dull at times the tasks appear,
And weariness is ever near,
There is a dream such mothers hold
Surpassing worldly fame or gold.

Beyond their dreary tasks they see
The man or woman soon to be,
And all the endless steps they take
Are suffered for the children's sake.

Nor would they say they'd lived in vain,
Enduring weariness and pain,
If at the end their children rise
Great-hearted, gentle, true and wise.

The Larger the Club, the Greater Willie's Assurance That You Won't Use It.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

THE proof of the pudding, as you know, is in the eating.

If you would determine whether capital punishment is justified, learn whether it does the work it is supposed to do.

The purpose of capital punishment is not to take vengeance, but to prevent homicide.

Homicides, as you know, are not prevented. Obviously, then, capital punishment fails of its purpose.

That kind of logic doesn't dispose of the matter, however, for all crimes are committed in violation of law and yet the laws are necessary and in large measure effective.

The charge against capital punishment is not that it fails to prevent some homicides, but that it fails to prevent any.

As a matter of fact, it can be shown that capital punishment, as practiced in America today, actually encourages crime.

The chief reason why the question remains debatable is because the American people, being idealists, think of things as they should be and not of things as they are.

Some men, they reason, are mean enough to deserve killing. Therefore capital punishment is necessary and right.

But you can't determine the worth of a law by declaring that it ought to work. You must take your facts as you find them.

Statistics prove that the fear of death does not stay the hand of killers. In the year 1921 Chicago executed ten killers, and next year the number of homicides increased by 38. Gangsters and deliberate murderers are not deterred by the threat of capital punishment for the simple reason that they don't expect to be caught.

And all experience has shown that those who are caught seldom are given the extreme penalty.

That is the reason why capital punishment encourages homicides.

American juries simply will not convict a killer if the penalty is death. The very men who favor capital punishment in theory will refuse to apply in when they must assume responsibility.

In one of our States the number of convictions in homicide cases increased more than 50 per cent when capital punishment was abolished. Juries that wouldn't assume the responsibility for executions were quite willing to send killers to the penitentiary.

And since the certainty of punishment is the one and only effective deterrent, capital punishment encourages homicides because juries will acquit a guilty man rather than send him to the gallows.

PRO AND CON

Comment Upon Acts and Actors in the Great Show, "Politics," Staged in Congress.

Comrade Zyavkin.
Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Comrade Zyavkin came to this country in January of 1930 on a six-month visitor's permit, which was extended a further six months last July. He has now overstayed his welcome by about three months. The lenient Labor Department has at last notified him that he must leave or be deported. His position is merely that of any other alien who does not pay proper attention to the time limit of his permit.

The public is not likely to take any such easy-going view of the matter. Here is a member of the Soviet terrorist organization, sent to keep watch over Russian trade officials who are doing business in this country and to engage in such other activities as seem fitting in the advancement of Soviet aims. There is no room in the United States for such an individual. He should not have been allowed to enter in the first place. He should not have been permitted to remain here fifteen months. The sooner the authorities get rid of him the better.

California Grows.
Christian Science Monitor.

If President Hoover is again the candidate of the Republican party for President of the United States, he is pretty sure to get a larger vote from California than he did in 1928, as his home State will have nine more in the electoral college next year than it had in 1928.

Study Tariff, Too.
Indianapolis News.

The young Republicans are getting ready to organize, and the old ones may advise them to study taxation before they talk to the voters.

And How!

Politics is this country's most precipitate institution. The 1932 fuse is already sputtering.

Undersecretary Castle.
New York Herald Tribune.

The applause which will greet the appointment of William R. Castle, jr., as Undersecretary of State will be both widespread and enthusiastic. Since the war Mr. Castle has served the State Department with marked distinction—as chief of the western European division, as Assistant Secretary of State and, for a time, as Ambassador to Japan. He is the ideal type of public servant, so little known in the country at large, whose life is his work and who is glad to leave the fanfare and the glory of public matters to the politicians. If there were not men like him in Washington and if the serious side of government were left wholly to political officials, there would soon be chaos.

Puzzle—Find the Market.
Topeka Capital.

Senator McNary, co-author of the McNary-Haugen equalization measure, is despondent over the foreign market. He is quoted as saying that he "does not see how the equalization fee can now help American wheat growers, since they have lost the foreign market." The problem concerning the debenture, the equalization fee and all other plans to dispose abroad of the American wheat surplus is how it is possible to find a foreign market where none exists. So the question comes down to this: Is there a foreign market?

Amidst Other Bunk.

Probably before this birth control fuss is over we'll see it written into the platform of one of the political parties.

We can't be such a healthy people, after all, for the Government has ordered 3,000,000 more gallons of whisky for medicinal purposes.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Teaching Young Men to Defend Themselves Is Bunk, Declares an Outraged Parent.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I have been reading the twaddle in your columns about preparedness, Boy Scouts, summer camps, &c. It may be a safety-valve for the writers, but what does it amount to? We are 3,000 miles from any nation that might want to fight us, for any reason. We have the sinews of war and the man power, and we can meet all comers at the water's edge. Why waste time and money preparing for a war that no one expects? "So as to be ready when it comes." Bunk! Why cross a bridge till you come to it? It probably isn't there. "We can't get ready in time," whines the Army and Navy. Bosh! Didn't we get ready "in time" to lick —— out of the Germans, and do it with a neatness worthy of the noble bird that perches on Old Glory?

I read a letter last week that "A Mother" had sent to you. That kid needed a chance to rough it, and a lumber camp would have put color in his cheeks, and he wouldn't have to salute, every time he picked up a cant-hook. "Raise my boy to be a soldier," a loafer, a do-nothing? Oh, no. He can learn how to be a useful citizen without learning how to shoot men who have as good a right to live as he has, or to use a bayonet to carve an unfortunate who has been thrown in his way, against his will—butcher him without mercy!

Send him to camp, because it costs nothing, eh? Well, I'm not a grafter. I'd pay for the instruction which our perfectly competent schools can furnish, and take a chance on his being as good as the average, and the average American is a rather decent sort of a man, looked at from any angle.

If any one likes the Army and wants his sons to learn how to behave in battle, when there isn't any battle, "I should think that would be the kind of a thing he'd like," to use the words of the immortal Lincoln, who would not allow a sentry to be shot for sleeping on his post—he had a better use for men.

I lost a father in the Civil War, a brother in the War with Spain, and a son in the World War, and I know that "war is hell." Knowing that, I've had my share. I don't want any more. Won't our warlike friends please give us a rest? A FATHER.

Drought Experience Shows How Many Farmers Are Living in Primitive State.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: If American agriculture heeds the lesson of the drought from the effects of which we are now steadily recovering, the future good results will much more than repay us for what we have suffered during the past few months.

Notwithstanding our traditional belief in the practical ability of the typical American, the farmers of the country up to recent years were for obvious reasons slow in getting away from pioneer methods in carrying on the business of agriculture.

In the latter half of the nineteenth century discussion of the necessity for scientific and intensive farming to meet changing conditions in the United States commenced. Due to the Agricultural Department's growing activities and the steady extension of means for agricultural schooling throughout the country there has been considerable improvement. But reports of private and official post-drought investigators show that there are still sections where the tillers of the soil live from hand to mouth with a primitive disregard for future emergencies.

Says the Houston Post-Dispatch: "It is nothing uncommon for a tenant farmer in the South not to have a cow, a hog or a chicken on the place and to have no vegetable garden. Those who advocate the cow, the sow and the hen on the farm are sometimes ridiculed, but it stands to reason that the farmer who produces a large share of what he and his family eat is better prepared to meet the vicissitudes that come to the markets for the staple field crops than is the farmer who depends for his living on what he can get for a few staple crops."

Such testimony as this conclusively demonstrates that those who have made recent drought conditions the pretext for talk about establishing a European dole system in this country are in their several classes demagogic, socialistic, communistic, unscientific, unstatesmanlike, unpatriotic.

READER.

Rags, Bottles, Dead Auto Bodies, Chewing Gum, Old Papers and Other Debris Adorn Washington.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I am interested in Washington's annual clean-up week. It is needed. But I wonder what would be thought of a housekeeper who swept her house once a year, or of an individual who had an annual shave and haircut.

Is there any reason why Washington streets and premises should not be freed of litter and kept free the year around? Is there no local law against dropping waste and trash anywhere that a slovenly individual finds the least trouble? If so, why is it not enforced? An unkempt city is as bad as an unkempt individual, and some of our local scenes are a disgrace. Beginning with the Union Station, its marbled floors adorned with wads of discarded chewing gum, to the approach to our national shrine, Arlington, through a repulsive welter of flying papers and garbage, a visitor, especially a foreign visitor accustomed to a tidy landscape, is presented with some amazing aspects of our Nation's Capital.

We shall afford an interesting spectacle to all visitors in 1932, with miles of pretentious pillars amidst a debris of flying newspapers, discarded milk bottles, automobile bodies and tin cans.

THE march of the spring brides or of engaged girls found its echo yesterday in the announcement of the engagement of Miss Isabel Ann McDonald and Mr. Irving Ransdell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Irving Ransdell, of Milwaukee, by the parents of Miss McDonald, Maj. and Mrs. Charles Henry McDonald.

Maj. and Mrs. McDonald have been stationed in Washington for over a year, but were here several years before that time and Miss McDonald spent most of her girlhood here. She is a graduate of the Ohio State University.

No date has been set for the wedding, but Miss McDonald will come to Washington later this month to visit her parents and to plan for the wedding.

Coming as a surprise to society, the marriage of Miss Marjorie McVickar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. McVickar, of Paris, to Mr. F. Bartholomay Jelke is announced by a cousin of the bride, Mrs. Herbert C. Pell, of New York. The ceremony took place Monday in Baltimore, after which Mr. and Mrs. Jelke informed Mrs. Pell of their marriage.

Mr. Jelke is the son of Mr. F. Frazer Jelke by a marriage previous to the one with Miss Eugenia Woodward, niece of Mrs. Oscar Underwood, which took place early in the winter at Mrs. Underwood's country estate, Woodlawn, in Virginia.

Mr. Crocker is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel E. Crocker, of Stockbridge, Mass., who passed some time as a boy in Washington when his father was special agent in the Bureau of Standards of the Department of Commerce, from which he resigned in 1920. Mr. Crocker, jr., who was in school at the time, passed holidays in Washington and had many friends here.

Boy at School Holds Strother To Home Here

Assistant to Hoover Not to Leave Washington Before June 1.

Planning to remain in Washington until the close of Friend's School, where their son, French Strother, jr., is a student, Mr. and Mrs. French Strother will leave then for New York. They will go to Garden City, L. I., where they will be established for the summer months at their home there.

As Mr. Strother's retirement from the post of administrative assistant to President Hoover will not become effective until June 1, Mrs. Strother's plan to remain in Washington in order that her son's term at school will be uninterrupted, coincides with the arrangement.

The Strothers have lived in Washington, where they have made their home at Wardman Park Hotel, for two years. Mr. Strother was appointed by the President to serve for that length of time, and now that his term is completed, he will return to Long Island to devote all of his attention to writing.

The author of several books, Mr. Strother went into the White House service from the World's Work Magazine, of which he was editor and is now part owner. His service at the White House has been devoted chiefly to research work for the President, mainly in connection with the preparation of speeches and messages.

Dr. Klein and Guernsey To Address Merchants

Dr. Julius Klein, Assistant Secretary of Commerce, and John Guernsey, in charge of the census of retail distribution, will address the Merchants and Manufacturers Association next Wednesday evening at the Willard, it was announced yesterday by Mark Lansburgh, president of the association.

Facts will be revealed about retail distribution in Washington, which the individual retailer may use as a yardstick to measure his own business, it was announced. The census of distribution shows the number of stores in each kind of business, their sales, the number of people engaged and the cost of doing business, as well as a large amount of other data, according to the announcement.

Dr. Simon to Lecture On Passion Play Topic

The Jewish Feast of Passover comes this year coincident with the Easter holiday. Because the story of the Crucifixion is fundamental to the Christian festival, and because of its tragic relation to Jewish history and prejudice, Dr. Abram Simon will deliver a special lecture at the Eighth Street Temple tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock on the subject, "The Passion Play and Fair Play."

The public is welcome at all services.

DIAL FLASHES

By ROBERT D. HEINL

LISTENERS are reminded of the radio observances of Good Friday by the following brief summary of programs tomorrow:

A musical legend in four parts, "Children's Crusade" (WRC, 11 a. m.).

Service from Washington Cathedral—the Right Rev. James E. Freeman, Cathedral choir of men and boys (WMAL, 12 noon to 3 p. m.).

Service from Church of the Immaculate Conception (WOL, 2 p. m.).

Addresses by Father James M. Gillis and Bishop Charles K. Gilbert, followed by one-minute silence commemorating the death of Christ (WRC, 2 p. m.).

National Oratorio Society, "Brahms' Requiem" (WRC, 6 p. m.).

Presentation of "Parsifal," Walter Damrosch conducting (WRC, 11 p. m. to 12:30 a. m.).

GERMANY'S "roving radio reporter," Hellmut H. Hellmut, is visiting Washington, and will do a description of the Nation's Capital from the dome of the United States Capitol for the people of Germany this morning.

The program, heard here through WRC, will be divided in two parts. From 11:30 to 11:45 the program, entirely in English, will be broadcast throughout the United States. This will comprise principally a short talk by Hellmut, giving his impressions of America.

From 11:40 to 12:15 the program will be entirely in German and will be sent via short wave to all radio stations in Germany. The German portion of the program will include addresses by the Ambassador from Germany, Friedrich W. von Prittwitz-Gaffron, and Senator Robert F. Wagner, of New York.

The Dixie Spiritual Singers, a Negro group, will broadcast the first of a series of weekly fifteen-minute periods, originating in WRVA, Richmond, over the WJZ network, tonight at 8 p. m.

"AROUND $3,500,000 in wire charges was the bill paid for network broadcasting last year," according to Variety. "This one item consumed close to 15 per cent of the total income of both major systems, NBC and CBS.

"It was one reason why NBC in a $20,000,000-year did not show a profit. NBC'S $2,500,000 wire bill went to the A. T. & T. During the same year of leasing its wires for remote control broadcasting the phone company reported a net earning increase of $1,000,000."

A drama in keeping with the season, "The Terrible Meek," has been chosen for the Guild period tomorrow afternoon (WRC, 4 p. m.).

The Radio Roundup tonight will present Harry Jolson, vaudeville headliner and brother of Al; Eddie Walter and the Dodge twins (WMAL, 11:30 p. m.).

THE NBC reports enrollments for the piano course begun last Saturday are being received by the thousands. Instruction charts may be had by addressing a request to 711 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

Already well known to radio audiences, Helen Oehheim, contralto, will make weekly appearances over CBS each Friday, (WMAL, 8:30 p. m.).

Five programs straight, with fifteen seconds to change studios between each one, is Ted Pearson's job on Tuesday evenings. Pearson is a Chicago network announcer.

The Roxy tour, which played here early in March, is reported to have grossed $220,000, the net profit going to charity. The Gang, consisting of 81 persons, played 60 cities.

And now Edward Thorgersen wants to know if you've heard about the Scotchman who was so stingy he wouldn't even give the chimes?

Dare Interprets the Mode

A chic ensemble in a fancy wool weave, showing the dress in a lighter weight material than the coat. Both are trimmed in black patent leather stitched, and the coat has an interesting scarf effect. (Courtesy of Philippe et Gaston, Paris.)

Paris, April 1.

THE way I've neglected to tell you about rainy weather attire, one might really think that spring showers instead of being natural occurrences, were outmoded affairs of the past. Oh, but what is outmoded and completely, is cumbersome, dark, gloomy and purely "useful" outer garments for spring rains.

In the direction of "beauty and more beauty" in your hitherto merely serviceable raincoats, Lenief even showed this season an all-white waterproof costume which looked and felt exactly like kid. It had a little capelet and a small brimmed hat to match—and was much too conspicuously lovely to be worn on city streets. I suppose it is meant to wear at your favorite resort when you feel you simply have to get out and walk in the warm rain—some of us goofy artists and wild young things might like to do that!

And then I've seen any number of fine silk rubber coats with mechanical closings which close in one swoop from the very bottom of the coat right up to the little round collar. These are in all the pastel shades and every other smart shade, including plaid effects and a very gay polka-dotted variety. They are not cut just any old how, but very careful attention is paid to their smartness of line. I've seen these very light silk rubber coats slightly flaring and belted and also in the trim, straight unbelted style. Very often they are worn with a matching silk rubber hat, having the deep brim in back—but if you are the kind of person who carries an umbrella you can, of course, wear any hat that blends.

Summer lingerie is no problem to a lovely lady, because she knows that she needs nothing more than plenty of it, and of the right type for the maximum comfort and the minimum bunchiness under her new smooth-hipped gowns.

That's why I've made you another leaflet telling you once more how to make that perfectly marvelous bloomer of ours which is made of 1 yard of material and is cut exactly on the bias in such a way that you do not have to gather it at all at the waist line. It's marvelous for summer underwear because with it you don't have to wear a very heavy costume slip, if any at all. And you needn't think for a moment that the lingerie has to be plain in order that it may be as smooth underneath a gown as it has to be for style—because Dame Fashion and your Dah-ray have figured out ways for it to be trimmed without losing any of its necessary flatness. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post and see for yourself—and for your summer bloomers.

* * * *

I sketched for you today a practical and extremely smart ensemble from Philippe et Gaston. The dress and coat are in fantaisie wool identical in color and weave, but in a lighter weight for the dress. Black patent leather collar, cuffs and belt stitched in white give the dress that indefinable "something" which spells chic. The coat, too, has a black patent leather belt, and what's more, a scarf of the same weight material as the dress, which passes in a tricky way all its own through the reveres, before it is tied in the simple way you see in the design. Attractive, isn't it?

Do remember to look for Dare's weekly Dare fashion letter every Sunday in The Washington Post.

Au revoir!

Indoor and Outdoor Gardens

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES.

PLEASE tell me how to care for a fuchsia. GRACE C. HALL.

Keep plant in a warm, sunny, well-ventilated place. Never permit it to be in a draft. Water it every day and spray the foliage twice a week to keep down the red spiders or mealy bugs. If the roots become dry for a half day or the temperature drops for the same length of time, the plant's growth will be so checked that it will drop both its leaves and flowers. The fuchsia requires a rich, fibrous soil where the drainage is perfect. If you notice it becoming leggy cut it back. When it shows signs of resting give it less water.

Please give me a few general rules for starting a rock garden. I have an irregular stretch of land away from the roots of trees. I think this is a good place because I know the tree roots soon exhaust the soil, and I imagine that if it is placed under a huge tree the constant dripping from the branches might injure the plants in winter. RUTH P. L.

Your reason for placing a rock garden away from trees are good. A well-placed rock garden is one that is sunny in spots. Excellent drainage is necessary. I think it pays to place several inches of coarse gravel under the soil. To get the best effect, use native stone. Never use cement or coal clinkers. The amateur so often makes this mistake. Arrange rocks so water drains into the ground where the roots will be benefited by the moisture. Pack all soil into the crevices as you form the garden. Use a soil composed of good loam, grit and for some plants a soil composed of lime rubbish. Each plant should really have its own particular soil. This means you must start carefully. As we make rock gardens in America we are apt to use a generous supply of perennials instead of alpines as are used in the European gardens. This means we plant less of the lime-lovers. So it is well to keep one section of your garden filled with alkaline soil. For immediate effect be sure to plant some alyssum saxatile, some phlox, subiata, campanula pusilla and gypsophila repins.

Please tell me what causes the crown of delphiniums to decay. MRS. T. L. K.

When water is permitted to stand about the crowns of delphiniums they are apt to decay. After cold weather sets in it is well to spread a shovelful of coal ashes over the crowns of these plants. Slugs may also be responsible for decay. Coal ashes will in a large measure prevent the activity of these pests.

Please tell me if there are any perennials which have evergreen leaves. I am planting a new garden and want it to be as beautiful in the winter, if that is possible, as it is in the summer. JULIA B. P.

Candytuft, iberis sempervirens, thymus serphyllum, perennial flax, stonecrop and iris foetidissima are all plants with evergreen leaves.

I am inclosing a leaf from a plant. While outdoors the leaves of this plant were green and shiny, now they are withering and falling off. A friend says the plant is a night-blooming cereus. Is she right? MARJORY A.

The leaf you inclosed is from a variety of sedum quite different from night-blooming cereus. This plant requires a warm, sunny window, a great deal of moisture and fresh air at all times.

Is it true that all leaves of house plants having a smooth surface, like those of a rubber plant, should be bathed once or twice a week? MRS. SARAH B.

Yes.

YOUR NAME — WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

By HARRY A. DEFERRARI, Ph.D.

THE family name "Lane" is extremely common in Ireland as well as in England. When this name is of English origin it has the obvious meaning of "the dweller in a narrow rural road." In Ireland "Lane" is generally a modern variation of "O Laighin," which means "the descendant of Laighean." "Laighean" was an old personal name meaning "spear" and "lance." The various recordings of "Lane" in the Hundred Rolls are especially interesting in that they show us how the English family names which denote places of residence were originally preceded by prepositions. Some of the names included in that famous document are William atte Lane, Robert de la Lane, Cecil in the Lane and Emma a la Lane.

The family name "Bresnahan" (also spelled "Bresnihan "Broanahan," "Broanan," &c.) is of Irish origin and means "the descendant of Brosnachan." The personal name "Brosnachan" means "the native of Brosna." "Brosna" (also spelled "Brusna") is the name of villages in King's County and Kerry. This place-name means "brushwood" or "the place where brushwood grows." There are rivers called "Brusna" in both of the above-mentioned counties. In an Irish document of the tenth century the river Brusna in Kings County is called "Broanacha." The document explains that the river was so called because of the shouting and noise ("broscur") of the Munster people when they caught sight of St. Patrick. In spite of this legend it is probable that the rivers Brusna were so called because they flowed through land overgrown with brushwood.

The family name "Cassidy" has come down to us from several Irish sources. Its commonest meanings are "the descendant of the man with curly locks" and "the descendant of the clever man."

Watch this column every day. Your name will appear here.

FRANCES M'DONALD

She Is Too Intense.

DEAR Frances McDonald: Do I have a man, or is he a molly-coddle? I had known him for nearly two years. We both went with other people, until I moved away. Then he wrote asking me to marry him. I consented. He was enthusiastic. Made all sorts of plans for an immediate marriage. Our engagement was announced. I gave up all others. My family entered into the plans. We decided to be married within a few months. First, we set January 1. He said he would rather wait until April 1, but we'd be married then. About a week ago I asked him about some plans for the wedding, and he said he had been thinking and he didn't want to get married, that he had a lovely home, much better than we could afford; that his mother was a better cook than I'd ever be; and that in short he was satisfied. I asked him if he had in mind getting married at any time, and he said, of course, he wants to get married and that I'm his ideal of a wife, but that he doesn't want to get married for several years. And it is his belief that I will be willing to wait indefinitely if I truly love him. He is 28 years of age, makes $75 a week, has a wonderful education and prospects, and has $2,000 saved. At the present time he is saving very little additional.

Now his indifference is killing, as my nature is such that I must show and receive intense affection. He knows this and knows it affects my health if I do not. I'm not an invalid by any means, but as a result of all this am a wreck. I earn my own living and contribute to the support of my family. My home life is not very pleasant, which he knows. And the doctor states that I should not be "keeping company" with any one whom I love so dearly without marrying them, as my "nerves" are due to my unhappy emotional state. What should I do? Bid him a fond farewell, or keep waiting for I know not what. DISGUSTED.

It is probably your emotional state that has caused the man to change his mind about the advisibility of marrying you. No intelligent man knowingly marries a neurotic woman or one who is not in control of her emotions. As a matter of fact such a woman is not a fit subject for marriage. You have, in your recent close relationship since your engagement, convinced this man that you are completely controlled by your emotions. And that is fatal to romance.

When you have, by sane and sensible behavior, put this man in his place and his fears at rest, he will be a bit more enthusiastic about the idea of matrimony and will stop weighing its rewards in the balance with good cooking. The man is trying to side-step what he fears would be a serious mistake. He proposed marriage to you when you were apparently not intensely interested in his existence, having left him behind. He found you after that proposal, so extravagantly intense that he was overwhelmed, and alarmed. When you get yourself into a poised and healthy balance you will be in a position to deal with the situation. If you continue your present attitude of frantic absorption in him, the marriage will never take place. In fact no man will marry you. Calm yourself. Take men and other natural phenomena as they come. Wonders of nature but nothing to become excited over. When you control the scene, men will do what you wish, and not until then. So put on the brakes. Let them do all the stepping on the gas.

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

"ARIES."

IF April 2 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11:30 a. m. to 1 p. m., from 5 p. m. to 7 p. m. and from 11 p. m. to midnight. The danger periods are from 7:30 a. m. to 9 a. m. and from 2 p. m. to 4 p. m.

April 2 does not carry with it a fortunate or propitious atmosphere. It is apparently unfavorable for social affairs, and decidedly unfavorable for handling important business matters. An atmosphere of conflict and suspicion will disrupt the harmony of the home. The influence of the stars will be stronger than the will of man!

The child born on this April 2 will have a personality which invites attention, demands love and wins success. No matter to what rank it is born, it will always be a "commoner" at heart, and it will fight for any one in stress. It should not be deprived the companionship of animal pets.

Subjects born on April 2 have simple, frank and outspoken natures. You are capable of holding command in executive positions, though you are not good in originating schemes. Given the blueprints, you are a master builder. You have tried to make yourself "skilled" through information and training and you can truly be called an efficient being. You are thorough and exact and probably sometimes called a "crank."

You have very radical opinions and are rather inclined to enforce them upon others, both in season and out of season. You have a tendency to progress with the times, and you are not loath to change your ideas. In both religion and politics you are ardent, and you are almost violent in your expression of feeling, but it is only a fire of straw and is soon over, leaving no sense of resentment. Your likes and dislikes are very pronounced and you have no half-way feelings about either people or things.

A lot of geography and a lot of history is shown in your stride; adventure and travel are prognosticated for you. If life is dull, you usually find some way of livening it up. You are clannishly loyal to your own kith and kin, and you do not seek many outside friendships. You unconsciously make enemies, though no formidable ones.

Successful people born April 2:

Thomas Jefferson, third President of United States.

Alexander H. H. Stuart, lawyer, of Virginia.

George H. Putnam, publisher.

Nicholas Murray Butler, educator.

Charlemagne, emperor.

Thomas H. Rufer, superintendent of U. S. Military Academy.

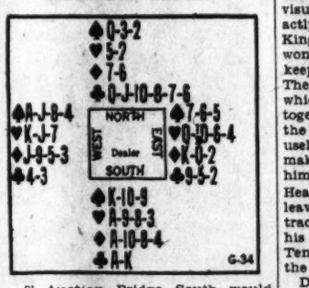
WORK ON BRIDGE

MAKING AN ENTRY.



At Auction Bridge South would bid one No Trump on the above hand and there would be no other bid. At Contract Bridge South would bid two No Trumps, and North would have just the count to bid three. To bid three No Trumps over partner's two needs a count of 6; North's two Queens count 4, the Jack 1, and a five-card or longer suit (in this case six Clubs) headed by one of the three top honors counts 1.

When the hand was played, West led the Four of Spades, dummy played the Deuce, East the Five and South the Nine. Then South led his Ace and King of Clubs, and after that his Ten of Spades. West could visualize South's Spade holding exactly; and realizing that he had the King left and no other Spade, West won the Ten with the Ace, so as to keep North from obtaining the lead. Then West led the Eight of Spades, which knocked Declarer's two Spades together and put the South hand in the lead. Dummy's Clubs were now useless and all that Declarer could make was his two Aces which gave him a total of two Spade tricks, one Heart, one Diamond and two Clubs—leaving him three short of his contract. If to trick 2 Declarer had led his King of Spades instead of his Ten, West would have held up and the result would have been the same.

Do you see what the Declarer could have done to enable him to win the game?

THE CORRECT PLAY.

On the first trick when East played the Five of Spades, West is marked with the Ace and Jack. It is vital for Declarer to have an entry for Dummy's Clubs; so the first Spade trick should be taken with the King, then the two high Clubs led, and after that the Ten of Spades. With the hand played in that way, it would be impossible for West to shut out North's Clubs and the Declarer would win two Spades, one Heart, one Diamond and six Clubs.

WHEN YOU COOK YOUR easter ham
REMEMBER THAT sugar
WILL MAKE IT

taste better

Sprinkle sugar generously over the ham before you put it in the oven to bake.

A BAKED HAM studded with cloves and coated with sugar is certainly an appetizing sight. But the real treat comes when you taste that ham and revel in its tangy-sweet, juicy goodness.

Ham, however, is not the only meat that tastes better by adding sugar. You'll be surprised at the way a dash of sugar plus a pinch of salt heightens the flavor of cheap cuts of meats during the stewing or braising process.

Think of this value of sugar as you plan your meals. Remember, too, that sugar added to vegetables gives them new taste-appeal. For proof just try a dash of sugar to a pinch of salt when you cook spinach, peas, carrots, cabbage or beans. Most foods are more delicious and nourishing with sugar. The Sugar Institute.

MONTGOMERY GROUP ON PUBLICITY MEETS

Gathering Tonight Will Discuss a Permanent Organization.

Montgomery County Bureau of The Post, 9103 Conn. Ave., North Chevy Chase, Md. Telephone Wisconsin 4205.

Organization of a permanent group to handle publicity for Montgomery County and the publication of a booklet setting forth the advantages of the county both from a residential and a business standpoint will be discussed at a meeting of the special committee appointed by representatives of the six chambers of commerce of the county tonight at 8 o'clock in the Bethesda County Building.

Walter Funderburk, of the Rockville Chamber of Commerce, is chairman of the committee, with Edward H. Jones, of Chevy Chase, as vice chairman. Other members are George P. Sacks, Bethesda; Maj. Phil D. Poston, Silver Spring; E. V. Crittenden, Takoma Park; Josiah W. Jones, Olney; W. I. Cleveland, Kensington; John B. Diamond, jr., Gaithersburg; Bernard T. Brosius, Rockville, and J. Donald Clagett, Woodside.

The main group which appointed the committee to study the questions and report included representatives from the Chambers of Commerce of Rockville, Gaithersburg, Bethesda, Kensington, Silver Spring and Takoma Park and also from other civic and business bodies.

The Cabin John Park Volunteer Fire Department is back in service, it was reported yesterday, following a love feast meeting at the home of David Tuohey, at which 58 members were admitted to the rolls of the department to replce the 37 who resigned in order that the department could be reorganized.

Mr. Tuohey was elected president of the board and the leader of the opposing faction, Norman Lynch, was elected vice president. Members of both of the old factions were elected to offices.

Other officers elected were Francis Day, treasurer; W. B. Patzer, secretary; Thomas Sullivan, chief; J. A. Graham, assistant chief; Perry Kidd, captain, and Norman Sheetz, lieutenant. Directors elected were Capt. Ira Sheetz, Cabin John Park; Mrs. Charles Lee Frank, Glen Echo Heights; Joseph H. Bodine, Cropley; George Riegels, Cabin John Park; Charles E. Sullivan, Great Falls; Maj. Dewey Radcliffe, Brookmont, and Edward Shoemaker, Brookmont.

Mrs. Frank, Capt. Sheetz and Maj. Radcliffe were appointed a committee to draft new by-laws. The meeting was called by Charles E. Benson, one of the three original incorporators H. Maurice Talbott, Rockville attorney, was made an honorary member of the department.

A dance is to be held within the next ten days at the Rock Spring Tea House, for which the following committee is planning: Edgar Starry, Chief Sullivan, Mr. Day and Mr. Riegels

The suspect who had been arrested for questioning by Montgomery County police in connection with the series of mysterious fires at the home of P. G. Ligon, Brighton, was released yesterday and police have made no other arrests. The police became suspicious when four fires, all of aparently incendiary origin, occurred at the house in four weeks and launched an investigation.

Clarence L. Gilpin, of Olney, has been reelected president of the Montgomery County Agricultural Society, the organization which sponsors the annual Rockville fair, for the tenth time. He has been president of the society since 1921. Other officers elected were Otho C. Trundle, of Gaithersburg, secretary and treasurer to succeed the late Perrie E. Waters, of Rockville; Miss Anna Gilpin, of Olney, vice president, in place of William A. Waters, of Gaithersburg.

The board of directors voted to hold the fair August 18, 19 and 20 this year, and not to hold the usual fourth day. It is believed that considerable expense can be saved by dropping one day without cutting total gate receipts. The fourth day has always been unprofitable, it was pointed out.

Miss Margaret Moses has been elected president of the Christian Endeavor Society of Warner Memorial Presbyterian Church of Kensington. Other officers elected were Charles R. Rowdybush, jr., vice president; Miss Arria McGinniss, secretary, and Almon V. Spinks, treasurer.

The new officers will be installed at a supper which will be given in their honor by retiring officers in the Sunday school room of the church, April 12.

The Montgomery County Federation of Republican Women will meet April 9 in the Woman's Clubhouse, Old Georgetown road, Bethesda, it was announced yesterday. The meeting will be open to the public and will be devoted to county affairs and county legislation.

Walter W. Dawson, Republican member of the Maryland House of Delegates from Montgomery County, will be principal speaker.

Liquor Agent to Jail On Transport Charge

Danville, Va., April 1.—L. B. Mills, prohibition officer of Pittsylvania County, was convicted today at Chatham on a charge of transporting liquor and was sentenced to three months in jail and a fine of $100. Motion for a new trial will be argued next week before Judge Turner Clement.

Mills was arrested with 2 gallons of brandy in his car in January. His defense was that he had seized the liquor at a filling station and had the right to transport it. His story of the seizure was not, however, borne out by John Paul, at whose place it was said to have been found.

LIBERTY MAGAZINE SOLD TO M'FADDEN

Publishers of Weekly Buy Detroit Daily; Prices Not Disclosed.

New York, April 1 (A.P.).—Liberty, weekly magazine, has been sold to MacFadden Publications, Inc., and the magazine publishers have bought the newspaper, Detroit Daily, it was announced today.

Prices were not disclosed, nor was the amount of money involved in the deal. The sales became effective today, after protracted negotiations.

Liberty entered the field in 1924, sponsored by the owners of the Chicago Tribune and New York Daily News. The Detroit Daily, of Detroit, Mich., was one of six daily newspapers, in addition to more than a score of magazines, published by the firm headed by Bernar MacFadden, noted physical culturist.

Mr. MacFadden's enterprise started with a single magazine, Physical Culture, in 1898, and the capitalization of the present publishing concern was estimated at $55,000,000.

Liberty, late circulation figures showed, had a weekly circulation of 1,941,241. Its owners were Joseph M. Patterson and Robert R. McCormick. Latest available figures as of January 31, this year, give the Detroit Daily a circulation of 69,066.

It was announced that the new owner of the Detroit Daily intends to publish the newspaper along the lines of the New York News, while Mr. MacFadden will continue the editorial policies of Liberty.

Javan Sugar Interests Weigh Price Proposal

Paris, April 1 (A.P.).—The World Sugar Conference adjourned for Easter today, with representatives of the sugar interests of Java considering a proposal of Cuban and beet sugar interests for a fixed price of 2½ cents a pound.

The Javanese delegates left for Holland and will return Wednesday of next week to resume discussion of the proposal. The Cuban and beet sugar interests turned down a proposal of the Javanese producers for a price of 2 cents a pound to continue over a period of 5 years.

MIDSHIPMEN CHEER RETIRING ADMIRAL

New Superintendent Takes Annapolis Command on May 1.

Annapolis, Md., April 1 (A.P.).—Cheered by the midshipmen and praised by Annapolis city officials, Rear Admiral S. S. Robison retired today as superintendent of the Naval Academy and closed a career of 42 years in the Navy.

His official retirement starts June 1, but in the meanwhile he will take a vacation at his recently purchased home on the South River near here.

The regiment of midshipmen gave Rear Admiral Robison a round of cheers in front of his home last night and regret at his passing was expressed by Maurice Hibschmann, regimental commander.

A delegation representing the Annapolis city administration and various civic organizations planned to present a resolution this afternoon praising him for coming to the relief of the city during the severe drought of last summer.

The superintendent was to leave following an unofficial ceremony staged by his naval colleagues.

Rear Admiral Thomas C. Hart, who succeeds Robison, is to arrive May 1. In the meantime Capt. Charles P. Snider, commandant of midshipmen, will be acting superintendent.

Ninety of the group of 184 officers stationed at the Academy will be transferred this spring, effective June 1.

THE PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

SUMMARY OF ANNUAL REPORT FOR 1930

THE 84TH ANNUAL REPORT of The Pennsylvania Railroad Company, covering operations for the year 1930, will be formally presented to the stockholders at the annual meeting on April 14th, 1931. The report shows that although the Company's total operating revenues in 1930 declined over $112,000,000, it earned a net income sufficient not only to pay 8% dividends and all other charges, but also to provide a surplus of nearly $11,500,000.

Net income amounting to $68,809,818 was equivalent to 10.55% upon the outstanding capital stock at the close of the year, as compared with 17.64% upon the amount outstanding at the close of 1929. Net income per share (par $50) was $5.28 compared with $8.82 in 1929.

EQUIPMENT, JOINT FACILITY RENTS, etc., amounted to	15,438,866	D 455,251
LEAVING NET RAILWAY OPERATING INCOME of	$ 92,181,557	D$ 40,938,069
INCOME FROM INVESTMENTS AND OTHER SOURCES amounted to	55,266,677	I 6,475,177
MAKING GROSS INCOME of	$147,448,234	D$ 34,482,892
RENTAL PAID LEASED LINES, INTEREST ON FUNDED DEBT AND OTHER CHARGES amounted to	78,638,416	D 1,914,192
LEAVING NET INCOME (Equal to 10.55% of Capital Stock)	$ 68,809,818	D$ 32,568,700

After providing for the payment of 8% dividends to the stockholders and for sinking and other reserve funds, $11,431,273 was credited to Profit and Loss Account.

NEW FACILITIES INSTALLED

The Company expended $71,643,416 in 1930 for improvements on its own road and equipment in addition to the expenditure of large sums by its leased and affiliated lines. The net increase in the Investment in Road and Equipment for the entire Pennsylvania Railroad System was $91,798,977.

The new suburban passenger terminal in the business centre of Philadelphia under the Company's new Broad Street Station Building, and the new 30th Street Station, constituting the first major step in the passenger terminal improvements in Philadelphia, were opened; Broad Street Station Building was opened; a substantial part of the new rail-water terminal at Jersey City was placed in service; electric service was inaugurated between Philadelphia and Norristown and Philadelphia and Trenton, providing electric service on all the Pennsylvania Railroad's suburban lines in the Philadelphia district.

Engine cab signals, providing the most modern safety signal development, were installed between Manhattan Transfer, N. J., and Washington, D.C., and between Altoona and Pittsburgh, making a total of over 2,800 miles of track equipped for cab signal operation. Automatic block signals were installed on 170 additional miles of road, providing this form of protection between practically all large centres of population on the System.

NEW EQUIPMENT

Important items of new equipment placed in service were: 105 passenger and freight locomotives; 57 steel passenger and dining cars; 2,362 steel box cars; 201 steel gondola cars; 16 steel horse cars; 2 Diesel electric tugboats for New York Harbor; 99 steam passenger train cars were equipped with motors for electric service.

LARGE IMPROVEMENT PROGRAM

To provide in advance improvements in facilities and service required by changing industrial conditions and by advances in the science of transportation itself, the Pennsylvania Railroad is now engaged on one of its greatest improvement programs involving an expenditure of approximately $175,000,000. Instead of taking four years as originally planned, the management has decided to speed up the program and complete it in about 2½ years, thus taking advantage of low prices of materials, increased efficiency of labor, less interference from traffic, favorable cost of money and earlier resultant economies in operation.

The program involves the use of more than 150,000 tons of steel, purchase of 230 electric locomotives, electrification of 80 passenger cars and a large outlay for labor which should help to relieve unemployment. Projects to be completed are: Electrification of the remaining portions of the lines between New York and Washington; new main station at West Philadelphia; new station and other improvements at Newark, N. J., including new bridges over the Passaic River; six-tracking the line through Elizabeth, N. J.; construction of new line around Trenton, N. J., including a bridge over the Delaware River; improvements at Baltimore, including grade crossing removals and two new double-track tunnels.

FINANCE

The Company met its maturing obligations including $50,000,000 Ten-Year 7% Secured Gold Bonds.

Issuance and sale during the year of $60,000,000 forty-year, 4½ per cent Gold Debenture Bonds left unused at the end of the year approximately $55,000,000 of the Company's authorized indebtedness. In order to provide the capital necessary to continue the Company's progressive development and improvement and to retire outstanding obligations, there will be submitted to the stockholders at the annual meeting the question of authorizing the Board of Directors to increase the authorized indebtedness to the extent of $150,000,000 additional.

The Company has paid a return to its stockholders in every year since 1847. It is owned by 233,414 stockholders, a new high record, who reside in every State of the Union and nearly all foreign countries. A large proportion of the year's increase of 37,295 stockholders represents new employe holders as a result of the employe stock allotments of 1928 and 1930. The 1930 allotment was heavily over-subscribed by more than 72,000 employes in all departments of the service. Employes constitute 22% of the stockholders.

OPERATING EFFICIENCY

Notwithstanding unusual business conditions, operating efficiency, as measured by the ratio of operating expenses to operating revenues, was greater in 1930 than in any of the preceding nine years except 1928 and 1929. Operating ratios for the last ten years, given below, reflect the Company's steady progress in reducing costs through greater efficiency and economy in all parts of the service, increased loading and speed of trains, closer cooperation between officers and employes and the expenditure of many millions of dollars to improve and expand equipment and facilities:

1921	87.6%	1926	77.5%
1922	82.4%	1927	76.9%
1923	81.8%	1928	73.8%
1924	80.2%	1929	72.1%

COORDINATED TRANSPORTATION

Through the more extensive use of containers and portable truck bodies, in cooperation with established trucking companies, by affiliation with transcontinental bus lines and a half interest in Pennsylvania-Greyhound Lines, Inc., the Pennsylvania Railroad established during the year a sound and profitable basis of coordinating rail and highway transportation which benefits the Company itself, the public and the highway agencies interested. Travel over the coordinated rail-air route between New York and Pacific Coast cities showed such a satisfactory increase that it was necessary to place two daily rail-air 48-hour schedules in effect in each direction. A new 36-hour all-air mail express and passenger service was also inaugurated by Transcontinental & Western Air Transport, Inc., which took over the operations of the Trans-continental Air Transport, Inc., and Western Air Express, Inc., to operate the line between New York and Los Angeles—San Francisco.

The financial results achieved last year, notwithstanding marked reductions in business and revenues, reflect not only the Company's large capital expenditures for improvements in service and efficiencies and economies in operation, but also the increasingly cordial and effective cooperation which exists between the management and employes.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. W. A. EVANS

SHOES.

MOST of the shoe troubles with the human foot develop in the front end of the member. There are heel troubles, but they are the result of infections or other causes that lie beyond the foot. The toes turn out, causing weak foot or fallen arches. They turn in, causing pigeontoes, a fairly symptomless deformity. Bunions develop on the ball of the foot, as do callosities and warts. There are hammer toes, ingrowing toenails and corns. In comparison, the back of the foot is a haven of comfort and ease.

It follows that in construction of a shoe the principal thought should be given to the front part. In standing or walking, everything goes well so long as the weight is carried by the heel. Complications arise when the weight is carried forward and the front end of the foot begins to spread.

In the army, shoe building is based on the shape of the foot when the weight is on the ball. They even go further. They have the soldier load his back with a rifle, knapsack and the usual load of a marching man, and they measure the spread as it then is.

The civilian has no such thought put on his shoe gear, probably because he does not choose shoes built on that basis. The shoemaker has convinced the trade that shoes should be long. That there should be considerable space in front for the toes to spread into. They have overdone length by the fraction of an inch. But breadth is another story.

No allowance is made for lateral spread.

In consequence, when a man, nicely fitted in the sitting posture, or even when standing perpendicular and quiet—when a man so fitted walks, runs or carries weights his feet spread laterally and his shoes bind. His feet tire easily and begin to ache and burn. Some of the weight falls outside the sole and the shoe leather is pulled, stretches and wears. The ball of his foot is cramped and bunions and hammer toes may follow. Callosities result. The pinching of the toes causes ingrowing toenails. Rubbing them causes corns.

Conversely, some of these conditions can be cured by wearing broad-toed shoes unaided by any other curative procedure. This measure will cure most cases of corns and callosities, and cure without this procedure is never possible. It will cure some cases of ingrowing toenails and a few cases of bunions. Bad bunions and hammer toes will require some attention. Changing the type of shoe alone is not enough.

GETS PAIN IN SIDE.

F. S. writes: I am a boy 15½ years old, a freshman in high school, and in fairly good health. When I run fast or run a little I get pains in my body just below my ribs, at about 4 inches from my side. Could you tell me what it is and how to cure it. My mother says she used to have it when she was a girl.

REPLY.

Could you have your physician examine you? This symptom might be due to heart trouble or to anemia. Many boys and girls of your age have one or both of these ailments.

On the other hand, your symptoms may not be important. Young people have a great capacity for temporarily overcoming organic incapacities and for seeing their symptoms disappear spontaneously.

GETTING RID OF LICE.

A Constant Reader writes: What is the remedy for nits in a child's hair?

REPLY.

Wash the hair with warm vinegar. Comb with a fine tooth comb.

Wash the vinegar away. Dry. Grease the hair.

By this method, properly carried out, you will remove all nits or louse eggs.

See to it that no lice are left behind to lay more eggs.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, ROCKVILLE TEAMS WIN TITLES

Westbrook Pegler Says

NEW YORK, March 31.—The name of Ban Johnson recalls to any one who knew him so many savage quarrels and smoldering hatreds that it is difficult to discuss him, now that he is gone, without feeling resentful toward some one. Certainly the club-owners of the American League owed him decent treatment, and they treated him cruelly in the end when they voted him out of his job as president and turned his completed life work over to Judge Landis.

Nobody can claim that the judge ever had contributed anything to the development of the baseball industry when he was called in after the fake world series of 1919 to establish the practice of exploiting the reputations of public office holders to guarantee the integrity of this or that branch of the amusement industry. The judge has done all right in his job, but it is a job that has required none of the laborious doing that Ban Johnson put forth in his 20 years of building the baseball monopoly.

The judge had been merely a fan, and it is my belief that his extreme absorption in the game was an affectation at first, for he is a showy character, given to dramatic decisions and gestures. His rapt concentration on the ball games always has seemed to me to be exaggerated, but you can forgive a man his little foibles, especially if he can capitalize one of them at the rate of $75,000 a year in his old age, and more especially if you happen to know of many impulsive acts of kindness for which he has not wanted any publicity.

Between the two of them, the judge and Ban, if you knew them both, it was hard to take sides. Ban had learned to dominate, and when he became too old for his job he became a rather dangerous nuisance to the baseball business. In some respects, he had been the Boss Croker of the business. He devised and perfected the monopolistic plan whereby today a young man who signs a contract to play ball for a week-end league way out in the tassel grass country becomes the property of his employers, compelled to accept whatever pay they want to give him and prevented from soliciting another, better job with other employers. It is a pernicious contract, but Landis has done nohting to improve it.

Ban Devised Magnates' Monopoly

Ban not only connived at but often promoted syndicate baseball, that awful evil whereby one management owns more than one team in a league and, whether by one means or another, he managed to subsidize influential members of the press to fight the battles of the American League in print. If Ban had been less stubborn the club owners might have persuaded him to give up quietly when he was through and spared themselves the brutal necessity of kicking him out, humiliated and desperately ill. But then, if Ban Johnson had been less stubborn in his younger years there would have been no American League and probably no baseball trust. I make no flippant criticism of the inscrutable ways of Providence when I suggest that it would have been much more pleasant for all concerned if Ban could have died when he was at the height of his power and achievements.

He was one of the great two-bottle men of that era of professional sport when the boys could not sign a contract without a forest of wine bottles on the table for the purposes of the official photographs. They were a hardy lot, those old-timers and, although the surviving members are reduced to milk and whole-wheat bread in their own age, life owes them no pleasures as they drop off. There aren't many of them left and those few no longer active.

Hermann, Too, Eased Out

Old Garry Herrmann, of the Cincinnati Club, a genial and festive soul who carried his own beer in the wood and his own delicatessen when he traveled on business, which he always mixed with pleasure, was eased out of his ball club several years ago. But this blow was no more tragic to Garry than the raid of the prohibition agents who stormed his rooms in a hotel in St. Louis and confiscated his beer. Some time after he was relieved of his duties with the Reds, which were only nominal by that time, Garry applied to the printers' union, of which he had remained a member during all the years of his prosperity, for a pension, certifying that he needed the money for the necessities of life.

The magnates of the new type are not young men, for baseball is a millionaire's business and young men aren't rich enough to own ball clubs. They are not sporting men of the type of Ban Johnson, Garry Herrmann and Charley Comiskey, but business men who conduct the business meetings on ice water.

Although Ban was a blustering, scheming and sometimes ruthless promoter when he was fighting to build up the American League and share the monopoly with the National, this side of his character was allowed to obscure in the public understanding of him a courtesy and honest charm

Nats Trounce House of David

Bewhiskered Players Routed, 19-8, by 23-Hit Attack.

By FRANK H. YOUNG
(Post Staff Correspondent).

BILOXI, Miss., April 1.—A lot of young fellows disguised behind bunches of whiskers, calling themselves the House of David Team, furnished the Nats and a goodly gathering of fans plenty of entertainment here this afternoon, but that they played little or no baseball is indicated by the score, 19 to 8 in favor of the big leaguers. The Nationals literally ran themselves ragged, while the scorers also suffered in recording the doings in the game, in which the Washington players were credited with no less than 23 hits.

Among these were three homers—by Joe Judge, Heinie Manush and Sam West—triples by Sam Rice and Jack Hayes, and doubles by Sam Rice, Joe Kuhel, Baxter Jordan and Cliff Bolton. Added to these blows were five charged House of David errors and a number of uncharged ones and four bases on balls.

Ethel Barrymore (not in a moving picture, but in the flesh) was one of the spectators, and she could have pitched as effectively as did the three House of David hurlers. The Nationals scored at least one run in every inning.

Nats' Clowns Take Charge.

For the first few frames, the Nats took the game seriously, but then Manager Johnson began yanking his regulars, and before the finish Altrock and Schacht had quit umpiring and the former was on first with Schacht doing the hurling. He relieved Ad Liska, who had succeeded "Sad Sam" Jones, in the sixth after Liska had forced over a run with but one dead on three passes and a hit batsman, the subway flinger then telling his boss that his salary wing was sore.

With bases loaded, Schacht retired the side, but was wild in the seventh frame, when five hits and several passes netted six of the aliens' eight runs.

Peering under the whiskers, Heinie Manush discovered that "Moose" Sweeney, a left-hander, who started for the Clan from Benton Harbor, was the same fellow whom he faced at Calgary in the Canadian League in his first professional game. Sweeney fanned Manush five times in a row in that game, but he did not fan Manush or any one else today.

Wally Dashiell Given Time to Make Good.

As a rule, a rookie gets little chance to make good in the majors if he does not immediately step out and show something from the very start of the training season, but Infielder Wally Dashiell is getting a "break" with the Nationals which knocks this rule completely out of kilter.

Dashiell is being given serious consideration despite the fact that he has not yet played in a game and has shown practically nothing in practice due to pulling a "Charley horse" his first time out. The consideration he is getting is due to what he showed Manager Walter Johnson at Chattanooga last spring. He impressed

Ferrell Goes Route for Indians

Cleveland Ace Wins Over New Orleans by 5-1 Score.

CLEVELAND, April 1 (A.P.).—Wesley Ferrell, ace of the Cleveland pitching staff, went the full nine innings today, but long hits plus errors gave the New Orleans Pelicans a 5-to-1 decision over the Indians.

A triple by Hale, a pass, a single and an error counted for two of New Orleans' runs in the fourth, while in the eighth, after the veteran, Jamison, dropped an easy fly, Hale came through with a double, Luce with a triple and with the aid of another error, the Pelicans counted three times.

New Orleans made only six hits off Ferrell's offerings, while the Indians collected ten off Johnson and Rhodes.

Los Angeles, Calif., April 1 (A.P.).—Capt. Pie Traynor's eyes bothered him a bit last season, but he proved conclusively today that they are all right now by slamming out five hits in as many chances as the Pittsburgh Pirates downed the Chicago Cubs, 11 to 7.

In the big fourth inning of the exhibition game, the Pirate third sacker hit a home run and a double. The homer was one of five which featured the contest.

Delker's Slugging Perils Adams' Hot Corner.

Bradenton, Fla., April 1 (U.P.).—Eddie Delker's terrific hitting during the past week has made him a threat for the third base job with the St. Louis Cardinals. Sparky Adams is Manager Street's choice to start the season, but Delker's slugging may force a change.

The Cards' final Florida exhibition game was canceled today because of rain and cold weather.

Vance "Last Robin" Joins Camp.

Macon, Ga., April 1 (U.P.).—The exhibition game scheduled today between the Brooklyn Robins and Cincinnati Reds was called off because of cold weather and the Reds resumed their northward tour. Eddie Roush remained to train here with Brooklyn until April 9.

Dazzy Vance, last of the Brooklyn holdouts, joined the team today and signed his $23,000 contract.

Phillies, Browns' Games Rained Out.

Asheville, N. C., April 1 (U.P.).—Greeted by snow flurries today, the Philadelphia Phillies canceled a scheduled exhibition game with Asheville and entrained for Philadelphia. They open the annual city series with the Athletics there Friday.

Birmingham, Ala., April 1 (A.P.).—The St. Louis Browns were the victims of an April fool joke by Jupiter Pluvius today. They came here to play baseball with the Barons, but met with rain and were forced into their second consecutive day of idleness.

Braves Heading Home; Macon First Stop.

St. Petersburg, Fla., April 1 (U.P.). The Boston Braves are now under the player limit and all members of the squad are scheduled to start tomorrow on the return trip to Boston. A two-day layover is scheduled at Macon, Ga.

Several International League Clubs are bidding for Don Leanhardt, rookie first sacker, but if he is released it will be under option.

Eddie Roush Joins Reds.

Macon, Ga., April 1 (A.P.).—The Cincinnati Reds wound up an enforced lay off of two days here today with a short workout before leaving for Birmingham, where they are scheduled to meet the Birmingham Barons, of the Southern League, tomorrow. Eddie Roush, who joined the Reds here yesterday, remained behind to work out with the Hartford Club, of the Eastern League. He will join the Reds in Cincinnati later.

Hoyt Hit Hard As Tigers Bow.

San Francisco, April 1 (U.P.).—Bunching their hits in three innings, the San Francisco Seals defeated the Detroit Tigers in an exhibition game here today, 6 to 3. British Pros Harried By New Ball in Wind

London, April 1 (A.P.).—The British professionals trying out for the Ryder Cup Team that will play the United States at the Scioto Country Club, Columbus, Ohio, in June, had a difficult time with the new larger and lighter golf ball today.

Almost embarrassing reversals of form were disclosed as the pros played around in a high wind.

Some of the men said the new ball was blown around like a balloon and there were a number of instances in which the ball was moved by the wind after it had gone to rest on the green.

"I'm glad there are no Lancashire gales at Scioto," one of them said.

M'GRAW TO DEPEND ON VETERANS THIS YEAR

John McGraw, manager of the New York Giants, depends largely on veterans in the 1931 National League flag race. Freddy Lindstrom, former infielder, has been transformed into an outfielder, and looks good in his new post. Bill Terry, last year's slugging champion, and Frank Hogan, burly catcher, will be depended on for a large part of the hitting, while Carl Hubbell, star southpaw, looks good for a successful year.

Stuhldreher Looms as Notre Dame Coach As Football World Mourns Knute Rockne

Bachman Ranks High Among Possible Successors.

By PAUL MICKELSON.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., April 1 (A.P.). No one took Knute Rockne seriously a few days ago as he lassooed hearty laughs by saying 1931 football prospects at Notre Dame were "sad."

But little did he or his audience realize or even suspect just how "sad" they would be—not just for 1931 but perhaps down through the years.

Gone is Rockne, the great master and strategist of the game, who astounded the football world by his genius, and in the sorrowful wake of his sudden departure has come a sadness and heartbreak that so many times combine to wreck hopes far greater than those nurtured in the hearts of a swarm of husky, rollicking college boys on the gridiron.

Fearful of Future Of Notre Dame.

What is Notre Dame's future on the football field? No one knows, but every one is fearful tonight. Even the most optimistic fear it not so much for the game itself and its glory but their ability to "carry on" Rockne's hopes and dreams, which so often were realized. The fighting spirit of Notre Dame, crushed by his death, everywhere gave evidence of coming back to "carry on" for "Rock's" sake tonight, but how long it will last without the guiding touch of the old master was a matter of concern and conjecture that time only will tell.

All the players, past, present and future, felt like Tommy Yarr, the fiery pilot of the 1931 team, whose eyes welled with tears as he said:

"The team of 1931 will have Rockne's image before it as it fights to carry on. We'll fight that much harder because we will know the fighting spirit of that fighting man is with us. We'll be handicapped by his physical loss and his cheer in defeat and disaster and victory, but Notre Dame will fight harder than ever before—not only on the football field but in the schoolroom and in life. Rockne is our ideal, we know what we have to do to live up to such an ideal."

Avoid Talk of Successor.

No one at Notre Dame, in South Bend or hardly any place cared even to talk about Rockne's probable successor tonight although everyone knew that Notre Dame, like no other university anywhere, had a wealth of material—all Notre Dame and Rockne material—to pick from. The Rockne system, is in effect in almost 100 colleges and universities.

Out of the entire field, however, two stood out as the most probable choices. One was Charles Bachman, star Notre Dame guard in 1916 and present coach at the University of Florida; the other was one of the imporatl "four horsemen," Harry Stuhldreher. Eight others were likely candidates but those who knew Rockne and his style agreed that Bachman and Stuhldreher, now a successful coach at Villanova College, were the foremost candidates. Bachman was in Rockne's estimation one of the greatest exponents of the Rockne system and it was Bachman that Rockne tried to get California to hire last year. He has the drive and bulldog spirit of a Rockne.

Stuhldreher Highly Regarded.

Stuhldreher always has been regarded as probably the man with the clearest conception of the Rockne system. It was Stuhldreher who ran the "four horsemen" and whose skill was attributed as 10 per cent physical and 90 per cent mental.

Heartley ("Hunk") Anderson, assistant to Rockne last year, probably will guide the "Fighting Irish" through the 1931 campaign, assisted by Jack Chevigny, Ike Voedisch and others, but the chances are that he will not be in line as Rockne's successor by preference. He frankly admits he would rather be just an assistant.

Edward ("Slip") Madigan, star of the undefeated 1919 team and present coach at St. Mary's, of Oakland, Calif., is another probability as he was well liked by Rockne. Jimmy Phelan, star quarter back on the 1917 team, who coached Purdue to a Big Ten championship in 1929 and then went to the University of Washington as head coach, is another, but chances are that Phelan is well satisfied at Washington.

Kizer and Crowley Possibilities.

Other candidates are Noble Kizer, guard on the 1924 team and present coach at Purdue; Jimmy Crowley, another member of the "Horsemen" troupe and now head coach at Michigan State College; Adam Walsh, now line coach at Yale, and Gus Dorais, University of Detroit coach who played with Rockne on Notre Dame's team back in 1913.

Nothing will be done to select a successor for some time, however, probably not until the 1931 season is over.

Whoever it is will face a monumental task. A big pair of shoes were left when Rockne died, and no one believes there lives a man who can fill them.

Vance Signs Dodgers' Contract for $23,000

Macon, Ga., April 1 (A.P.).—With today's game with Cincinnati halted by bad weather, the Brooklyn Robins gave the center of their stage to Dazzy Vance and the signing of his contract. The Dazzler, a bit peeved at having to come down to $23,000 on his salary demands, arrived early this morning and affixed his signature to the contract just before noon. He joined the teams in the afternoon in a brief and chilly workout.

Famous Coach Had Said 1931 Would Be Sad Year.

Babe Ruth Perturbed Over Women Players

Chattanooga, Tenn., April 1 (A.P.). Babe Ruth, the home-run go-getter, is greatly perturbed at even the thoughts of women entering professional baseball.

His perturbation was given emphasis today as he faced the prospect of having Jack Mitchell, Chattanooga's girl southpaw, pitch to him in an exhibition game here on the morrow between the New York Yankees and the Chattanooga Lookouts, of the Southern Association.

"I don't know what's going to happen if they begin to let women in baseball," the Babe lamented. "Of course they will never make good. Why? Because they are too edlicate. It would kill them to play ball every day."

Despite his disdain, he evinced some curiosity in Miss Mitchell.

"By the way, how big is she?" he inquired.

Babe yawned and stretched and arose from his easy chair.

Seeded Players Advance In New Orleans Tennis

New Orleans, April 1 (A.P.).—Top players in the New Orleans Country Club invitation tennis tournament advanced today into the semifinals. The victors were Clifford Sutter, of New Orleans; Ellsworth Vines, of Pasadena, and George Lott and John Van Ryn, of Philadelphia.

With the exception of Vines all won in straight sets although Sutter was hard pressed in his second set by James Quick, of Dallas.

Tomorrow in the semifinals Sutter will meet Van Ryn while Lott fights it out with the tall and rangy Vines.

Sutter first won today from Jake Hess, from Rice Institute, Houston, 6-1, 6-3 and later defeated Quick, 6-2, 11-9. Lott won 6-0, 6-4 from Frankie Parker, the Milwaukee boy. And Van Ryn eliminated Jack Mooney, of Atlanta, 6-0, 6-2. Vines, after losing his first set with Morton Buxby, of Austin, settled down and won, 8-6, 6-1, 6-4.

Judge Mattingly Ponders Over Post's Baseball Contest Letters

JUDGE ROBERT E. MATTINGLY, of the District Police Court, today is deliberating on the all-prevailing question which is preeminent in the minds of followers of the Washington baseball team: "Who is going to win The Washington Post's Box Seat Contest?" Judge Mattingly will make his selection tonight, and the name of the fortunate fan or fanness will be published in tomorrow morning's Post.

It would have been impossible for The Post to invite a closer student of baseball to pass judgment on the letters the fans have been sending in for a month than Judge Mattingly. The judge, accompanied by Mrs. Mattingly, who too is an expert on matters baseball, returned from a trip down in the training camp regions of the country only last Monday. He has followed the trend of baseball this spring, through the sports pages and through personal introduction during his trip.

The judge has some very convincing ideas on who's going to win the pennant this year, and it is fortunate for the aspiring contestants that he did not write these contentions down in 250 words and address them to the "Baseball Editor."

Doubtless the prize will go to the fan who takes into consideration the remaining teams in the race for the pennant. All too many writers picked Washington to win, outright—and let the matter rest there. Others were more painstaking. They traced each part of the ball club as ground work for their claims, and yet others combined all three and then set about to compare the club with the Athletics, the Yanks and the Cleveland Indians. These latter letters are the ones which Judge Mattingly will consider most seriously.

Haskell Clark to Run In Boston Marathon

Haskell Clark, Knights of Columbus runner, will participate in the annual Boston Marathon, to be run April 19 over the historic 26 miles 385 yards course in and around Boston's suburbs.

It will be Clark's first appearance in the meet, which each year attracts the cream of the country's long distance cruisers.

There is a possibility that the veteran Mike Lynch and young John Peck, both K. of C. runners, will accompany Clark. Peck recently finished second in the Catholic University games 3-mile event.

ROCKNE SET HIGH MARK IN SPORTS

Made Collegiate History With Teams at Notre Dame.

THE combined success of Knute Kenneth Rockne as football player, coach and strategist seldom has been equaled in the history of the great American college sport.

There have been men who were as able in one or the other of these departments of the game, but in the case of Rockne he was a star in all three of them.

He was best known as head coach of football at Notre Dame, for it was in that capacity that the success of his teams brought him fame and made the university at South Bend, Ind., nationally known.

As a player, Coach Rockne was one of the best ends ever to represent the University of Notre Dame on the gridiron. He had original ideas about football and when he became head coach was able to put them into practice unhampered. The soundness of this system was attested by the consistent success of Notre Dame teams coached by him, a record of achievement that gave him rank with such noted football mentors as Fielding H. Yost, Amos Alonzo Stagg, Glen S. Warner, Bob Zuppke and the late Percy Haughton.

It was seldom that Rockne-coached teams suffered more than one defeat during a season, the worst being in 1928, when Notre Dame lost four out of nine games. On the other side, there were several seasons during which the charges of Rockne played through their schedules without the loss of a game.

Coach Rockne was captain of the 1913 team at Notre Dame, which went through the season undefeated. During the next four years he was assistant to Head Coach Jesse Harper, and when the latter retired at the end of the 1917 season it was largely upon his recommendation that his lieutenant was installed as his successor.

One of the finest tributes to Coach Rockne and his football system has been the wide demand for coaches who learned the game from him. It is estimated that during the first dozen years of the Rockne regime between 50 and 60 Notre Dame players were engaged as football mentors in other colleges and universities in all parts of the country.

Mr. Rockne was a native of Norway, born at Voss, March 4, 1888, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Rockne. His father, a carriage maker, first came to the United States in 1893 to exhibit at the World's Fair at Chicago a product of his skill. The exhibit won a medal for him and so delighted was he with his success that he decided to remain in Chicago. Two months later his wife, son and two daughters joined him.

Knute was thrown upon his own resources before he went to high school. He was self-supporting during that period of his education and worked on a railroad in Illinois to pay his tuition at Notre Dame. There, as an undergraduate, he took honors in chemistry and upon completing his course joined the faculty as an instructor in that subject, and later, in addition, became athletic director.

On July 15, 1914, Mr. Rockne married Miss Bonnie Skiles of Sandusky, Ohio. They had four children.

As Rockne's fame spread with the success of his teams year after year, he came to be recognized by other coaches as one of the outstanding football strategists. His formations and plays have been copied as much as those of any man who ever coached football. Rockne contributed to the development of football in many ways other than as a player and coach. He conducted football schools that were largely attended by college and high school coaches; he wrote numerous books on the game that were widely circulated, and there was an ever-growing demand for him as a lecturer on the technique and strategy of the game.

He not only was a player and teacher of football, but appeared as a champion of the sport, defending it for the benefits that accrued to those who took part in it.

"Football," he once said, "teaches a boy responsibility—responsibility as a representative of his college; responsibility to his teammates and responsibility in controlling his passions, fear, hatred, jealousy and rashness. Football brings out the best there is in every one."

As athletic director at Notre Dame, Rockne built up a system of mass athletics and encouraged every student to participate.

"If football is a good sport for the 'varsity player,'" he argued, "why isn't it a good sport for the entire undergraduate body? Granted that it is, I want every boy at Notre Dame who cares to kick a football to have some place in which to kick it."

That policy led to the formation of many football elevens on the Notre Dame campus, and there were teams representing at least a dozen dormitories that played regularly with each other.

The 1929 varsity eleven generally was regarded as one of the best teams

FINAL RESULTS.

Senior girls—Eagles, 27; Als A. C., 15.

145-pound class—Saks Clothiers, 38; Colonials, 17.

115-pound class — Charlottesville Fives, 21; Boy's Club Optimists, 19.

SUBURBAN and nearby teams garnered a major portion of the spot light last night at Tech High School as the final games of The Washington Post's-A. A. U. tournament were played before the largest crowd of the current joust.

It remained for the Rockville Girls, that well-trained covey of high school players, to give suburban Washington its first title. The Rockville sextet, off to a comfortable lead, never let up as they led the Montrose Girls down to the finish line, to capture a 34-25 victory.

Most worthy of note, however, was the sensational 21-19 victory of the Charlottesville Fives over the Boys Club Optimists, in the 115-pound title play. They can not come much closer than this game, which kept the large crowd on the tips of their seats throughout. The game was one by Little, forward for the Virginians, when there was but a minute left of the game. The two clubs raced neck and neck from the opening gun down to the tape. The lead seesawed throughout, first one team leading by a basket and then the score being tied once more.

The lone defending champion came through in good style last night as the Eagles, crack senior girls team, defeated the Als A. C. 27-15. It was a victory to be expected, but the decisive score came as a surprise.

Also on the "form" sheet was the Saks Clothier, who came through as expected against the Colonials, 38-17.

Rockville Girls Win Title.

The Rockville Girls wo nthe junior girls title in more decisive fashion than their 35-24 victory over the Montrose Sextet might indicate. The winners showed a generally better all-around plan of attack and defense, leading by a fairly comfortable margin at each intermission.

The Montrose forwards, Jones and Lawrence, as well as they played, could not cope with the shooting of Kanode and Bennet, of the Rockvillians. Miss Kanode set the high mark of 26 points as her contribution to her team's margin of victory.

One of the outstanding features of the game was the work of Huntington and Hutchinson, the euphonically-named Rockville guards, whose guarding of ones and Lawrence was about the clever bit of defensive play shown during the junior girls tournament. Another feature of the game was the play of Knox, side center for the losers.

Charlottesville Fives Led by Little.

There is a forward on the Charlottesville Fives named Little. He is little, and until last night little had been heard of him. Today he is a big man in his home town, for last night he brought the 115-pound championship of the tournament to his team by almost single handedly keeping his club abreast of the Boys Club Optimists and then, with the score tied and 19-19 with but one minute to play, he stepped into the picture to sink the basket that decided the championship.

Tournament history hardly records a closer finals than this 115-pound division play. So expert was the guarding of both teams that by the end of the first quarter the scored stood but 4 to 2, in favor of the Optimists. The count at the half was 6 to 6.

The teams hung neck to neck down the home stretch, with the score standing 13 to 13 at the third quarter rest; 18 to 18 midway in the last section and 19 to 19 in the dying moments of the game.

Little was ably backed by the team play of his outfit, especially the guarding of Payne, Marshall and Hoffman. The Optimists played a good conservative game throughout, with Warring putting up the best individual performance.

Saks Clothiers Win Over Colonials.

The Saks Clothiers justified the predictions which have hovered over them all season when they came through to win the 145-pound championship, 38-17, over the Colonials. From the very opening plays of this game it took no especially close student of the game to see which way the wind was blowing.

The Clothietrs, with many of the best high school players of former years in their line-up, took the lead at the start and never relinquished it. The score at the half stood 16-6, in their favor, a mark gained by the stellar shooting of Bernie Jones, former Business High star, and Sammy Hook, Eastern.

The even tenor of the game continued in the second half, with the Clothiers always holding the upper

TONEY PRINCESS WINS LENETA LANE PURSE BY HEAD

Robertson's Ride Beats Long Shot

Phantasime Loses in Stretch; St. Agnes in 3d Place.

King Boggen Defeats 3-Year-Olds on Sloppy Track.

By J. B. SNODGRASS.

TONEY PRINCESS had to run a desperate race to win the Leneta Lane Purse, which featured the Bowie card yesterday, but under a good ride by A. Robertson, who had previously ridden C. V. Whitney's 3-year-old, King Boggen, to an impressive victory, the daughter of Black Toney scored by a head over the outsider, the Middleburg Stable's Phantasime, with St. Agnes third.

The Leneta Lane was for 3-year-old fillies. The mud was fetlock deep, and three long-priced winners had preceded the victory of Toney Princess. Bearing the colors of the Dorwood Stable, Toney Princess was made an odds-on favorite. It was her first start of the year, and the mud that a night and morning of rain had left on the racing strip, made the going very difficult for the top weight of the field of nine young mares.

She left the gate first, but was pinched back around the turn, and then went very wide, permitting Phantasime to get in front. She appeared beaten, but under the vigorous ride, wore down Phantasime and went to the scantiest kind of victory, running the 5½ furlongs in 1:09. St. Agnes broke slowly, but took the inner rail and disposed of Polylith, getting the show money in the stretch run. Toney Princess paid $3.70, while Phantasime returned $12.30 for place.

Racing Under Disagreeable Conditions.

The cold rain during the afternoon caused the 4,000 people who had come to the track in bad weather to shiver in discomfort. The racing was interesting from the first to the last, but under the most disagreeable conditions.

C. V. Whitney's King Boggen, a first starter, after being shut off twice, won the first race for maiden 3-year-olds by two open lengths from Glen Riddle Farm's Yellow Flag, and a half length back of the second horse Rancocas Stable's Tansy was third. Royal Mystery was fourth. Tansy set the pace to the stretch, with Yellow Flag in close pursuit, and the Glen Riddle horse ran Tansy into defeat in the stretch, when King Boggen, strapping son of Whisk Broom II and Princess Pandora, at home in the mud, ran the 5½ furlongs in 1:10 flat and paid $7.60. A. Robertson had the mount on the winner. E. Pegg was substituted for J. Guerra on Sun Tourist, the latter having failed to get his license.

The race of King Boggen, considering he had never been to the post before, was very impressive. He appeared hopelessly beaten twice when shut off and forced back last, but came around the entire field to win easily.

Semester Defeats Traffic Judge.

Audley Farm's Sir Barton colt, Semester, won the second race for 2-year-olds by a head from R. F. Watts' Traffic Judge, and Dun Past was third. Lorraine S., favorite, ran poorly, and Bill Nora had a bad ride. The winner paid $18. Time, 0:49 2-5. Lorraine S. broke in front, but was quickly outrun. Surf Bather was in a forward position to the stretch. Traffic Judge closed fast and paid $35.70 for place.

Dr. J. Fred Adams put over a long shot in the third race when Hold Hard ran away from his field to win by 6 lengths, with C. Pegg, who rode a very bad race on Bill Nora, in the saddle. Paddock was second and Westko third. The field was favorite. Bird Catcher set the pace past the far turn. Hold Hard moved up fast, and in the stretch drew away to win by himself. The time was 1:15. Hold Hard, 3-year-old gelding, by Sunference—Betsy Barth, paid $47 for a $2 dollar ticket. Allanah closed a gap and finished fourth.

Syriac Much The Best.

Syriac was much the best in the small field of the fifth race, which carried the colors of Frank Hayes to a 2-length victory and returned a mutuel of $3.80. Billycox was second and Korax third. The field had been depleted to four horses by the scratching of Battling On and Black Patricia. Panda was the other starter. No show mutuels were sold. There was a purse of $1,400 for the race.

Morsnuff was another favorite to score in the sixth race, Jockey Tiner up. Roby Keller got the place and Earl of Warwick third. Morsnuff was under stout restraint in the early running, and displayed a liking for the mud. He drew into a long lead at the far turn and was never headed, winning by six lengths. He paid $6.70.

D. Boyle's Bill Seth was the winner in the seventh and paid $19.20, with H. Thomas up. Vowed Vengeance was second and Woolorac third. Bill Seth was reserved in the early stages, moved up stoutly at the far turn, and after racing Bob Shannon into submissic , took the track and won by three lengths.

Jim Bean, Capital Sportsman, Stricken With Heart Attack

Little Hope Held for Recovery of Race-Horse Owner.

JAMES W. BEAN.

JAMES W. (JIM) BEAN, well-known local sportsman, is seriously ill at his home here, after being stricken with a heart attack Tuesday night.

Up until the time he was taken ill, Mr. Bean apparently enjoyed good health, taking an active interest in his business interests, particularly in racing, which probably claims the lion's share of his attention, since he owns and races a large string of horses. He had accompanied his wife to the Bowie track only last Monday to witness the bobtails in action, and to all who saw him he appeared to be in excellent health.

The attending physician of the sick man held only a slight chance for his patient's recovery.

Mr. Bean has been a familiar figure on the Maryland tracks. He owned Donaghee, a surprise stake winner in Maryland, and later won several other races.

Mr. Bean has been very successful developing jockeys. He brought Chick Lang to the front and the lad became one of the best of stake riders, having won the Futurity with Anita Peabody, and several of the larger stakes when astride Reigh Count. He was on Reigh Count in the Pimlico Futurity when he claimed a foul against Earl Sande on Batteau. Mr. Bean also developed A. Adams, one of the most successful young jockeys in the country, who rode a record number of winners last year.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—KING BOGGEN, $7.60, $3.50, $3.00; YELLOW FLAG, $3.10, $2.40; TANSY, $3.30.

KING BOGGEN, racing greenly in the early stages, gradually improved his position when settled into his stride and, closing determinedly the final furlong, disposed of the leaders to win going away. YELLOW FLAG, in closest attendance of the pace, raced TANSY into submission when straightened out in the stretch, but was not equal to the winner in the stretch run. TANSY, quickest to break, displayed good speed in the going the first half mile, but then weakened. ROYAL MYSTERY, hard urged throughout, could never improve his position. PASTEL saved ground the entire trip.

SECOND RACE—Four furlongs. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 2-year-olds. Start good. Won driving; place easily. Went to post at 3:11. Off at 3:16. Winner, Audley Farm's b. c. by Sir Barton—Pearl Nesta. Two-dollar mutuels paid—SEMESTER, $18.00, $12.10, $8.20; TRAFFIC JUDGE, $35.70, $21.60; DUN PAST (field), $7.50.

SEMESTER, away forwardly and securing clear passage on the outside, moved into contention with a rush. He saved ground entering the stretch and, responding gamely under a strong ride, outlasted TRAFFIC JUDGE in the final drive. The latter found his stride quickly and took command rounding the turn. He held on stoutly when challenged, but faltered when the final test came. DUN PAST, a forward factor all the way, finished well under punishment and shook off SUFFER through the stretch. The latter displayed good speed to the furlong pole and then retired. SURF BATHER raced greenly and wide. LORRAINE S. was shuffled back immediately after the start. BILL NORA was pulled up sharply when the break came.

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 3:41½. Off at 3:42½. Winner, J. F. Adams' b. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—HOLD HARD, $47.00, $18.50, $13.90; PADDOCK, $16.80; $13.00; WESTKO, $7.40.

HOLD HARD, well up all the way, took command with a rush when straightened out in the stretch and, opening up a winning lead the final furlong, won as his rider pleased. PADDOCK, away forwardly, forced a steady pace and raced BIRD CATCHER into defeat and then took a short lead. He held on with good courage in the stretch run under punishment and outlasted WESTKO in the final drive. The latter worked his way up on the outside and made a game effort entering the stretch, but then faltered from his early effort when the final issue came. ALLANAH, away forward, contended on the inside the entire trip, finished resolutely. BRIMSEY moved up stoutly on the stretch turn, but weakened through the stretch. AIRLINER broke flatfooted and closed an immense gap. BIRD CATCHER stopped badly the last quarter mile.

FOURTH RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse, $1,200. The Leneta Lane. For 3-year-old fillies. Start good and slow. Won driving; place, easily. Went to post at 4:06½. Off at 4:08. Winner, Dorwood Stable's br. f. (3), by Black Toney—Brown Princess. Trained by A. Smith. Value to winner, $850; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23 3-5, 0:49 1-5, 1:09.

TONY PRINCESS, quickest to begin, was pinched back around the turn. Robertson then took her extremely wide. She closed steadily under vigorous pressure to wear PHANTASIME down in the last strides. PHANTASIME rushed to the front rounding the turn and drew clear of her opposition. She was taken out beyond the middle of the track, and stretched out in the stretch and made a game challenge, but could not withstand TONY PRINCESS' rush. ST. AGNES broke tardily, worked her way forwardly next to the inner rail and disposed of POLYLITH in the stretch run. The latter faltered when it came to a drive. VICE displayed a flash of speed rounding the turn.

FIFTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,400. The Parkway. For 3-year olds and upward. Start good and fast. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 5:33½. Off at 5:33½. Winner, P. Two-dollar mutuels paid—SYRIAC, $3.80, $2.50, out; BILLYCOCK, $3.90, out; KORAX, out.

SYRIAC, sent into contention at once, was allowed a breathing spell when approaching the far turn, responded with good speed when placed to a drive, wore BILLYCOCK down steadily and began moving close in the last sixteenth to win with something left. BILLYCOCK showed a liking for the footing, held a saving ground and held on with determination when put to a drive. KORAX entered contention with a rush midway of the back stretch, secured racing room on the inside and continued with good courage in the final driye. PANDA offered good contention for six furlongs. She was not persevered with when she tired.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:37½. Off at 5:00. Winner, T. Flippen's br. c. MORSNUFF, under stout restraint the early running, displayed a decided fancy for the going and drew away into a long lead rounding the far turn and was never menaced thereafter. RUBY KELLAR, prominent and saving ground the entire trip, held on with good courage in the final drive and outstayed EARL OF WARWICK. The latter, on the outside the last half mile, made a game bid entering the stretch, but then weakened through the stretch. AIMEE GOLDSMITH, a forward factor for six furlongs, tired entering the stretch. COCKRILL had no mishaps. SPANFLOW was pocketed entering the back stretch. He was not persevered with the final quarter mile.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good from stalls. Won handily; place, driving. Went to post at 5:27. Off at 5:27½. Winner, D. Two-dollar mutuels paid—BILL SETH, $19.20, 11.80, $7.40; VOWED VENGEANCE, $9.40, $8.80; WOOLORAC, $8.70.

BILL SETH, reserved within striking distance of the leaders, moved up stoutly at the far turn, wore BOB SHANNON down entering the home stretch and, kept under pressure, drew out slowly at the end. VOWED VENGEANCE, steadied along in the early stages, weakened after a bold effort at the far turn. WOOLORAC, prominent throughout, finished with good courage. UPSET LAD raced forwardly and had no mishaps. VILLAGER was far back all the way. He lacked his usual closing rush. BOB SHANNON had good speed for the first mile and tired thereafter. ZAHN broke very slowly and was never a factor.

DECREASE IN BETTING AT BOWIE

More Horses in East Than Ever Before; Other Notes.

BOWIE, regarded as a barometer on Eastern racing, points to a leaner year than 1930, with the first two days as a basis of calculation. Wagering on the opening day last year totaled $492,935. On last Monday, charity day, it was $236,673, a falling off of $256,262, or more than half. Tuesday it picked up $89,896 over the "handle" on charity day.

The crowd was larger Tuesday than on Monday, although there were 246 less paid admissions than on Monday, but the free list in operation Tuesday made the difference. If Bowie furnishes a proper forecast of the 1931 racing season in the East, the year holds little ground for optimism. There are more horses than ever before in the East, which means a larger expense for horsemen.

Mrs. Katherine E. Hitt's Kentucky Derby candidate Sun Meadow will be moved from Virginia to Pimlico in a few days by Trainer Tommy Roderick.

The Satrap, one that formerly raced for the Foxcatcher Farms, is standing at D. L. Keiffer's farm.

Ral Parr's Her Grace will be sent from winter quarters at the Ross' farm at Laurel to Havre de Grace this week. Trainer Trueman says the filly has filled out considerably during her let-up.

Capt. P M. Walker, of Virginia, has six 2-year-olds and as many other horses here in charge of Tommy Lynn.

War Eagle, Chorister, Charioteer, Naylor, Shipmaster, Chatterwood, Pink Lily and Armageddeon are some of the Foxcatcher Farm's steeplechasers which Trainer Carl Utz is making ready for 1931 racing.

Rhodie Campbell will ship Dr. Hickman, The Stylis and Bill McCabe from Pimlico to Wheeling, W. Va., within a few days.

Thirteen flat runners belonging to the Foxcatcher Farms are at Benning in charge of Pres Burch. The same stable has a dozen flat runners at Belmont Park, N. Y., in care of Maxie Hirsch.

There are six horses on the schooling list with the adding of Kosciusko, Chip, Gambol and Gotham.

Doc Watkins' Lauhala died here this morning from shipping fever contracted en route from New Orleans.

Jesse Bennet, of Baltimore, has been made custodian of the jockey's room for the Hagerstown, Md., meeting, which opens May 12.

Horsemen here are anxious to know if this year's Timonium, Md., meeting will use stall starting gates. All four State mile tracks and three of the half-milers use stall gates, and it is time that Timonium adopted some protection for the horses, is what the horsemen are saying.

With many improvements being made at Timonium it is likely that some provision will be made for stall gates, especially as the horsemen are clamoring for some sort of stall gate.

Among the jockeys to join the local colony today are J. McCay, H. Mertz, F. Slate, F. Munoz and J. Marinelli.

Race Secretary Joseph McLennan states that entries for the James Rowe Memorial to be run Saturday will close tomorrow. McLennan also states that nominations for the four $10,000 stakes to be offered this spring at Havre de Grace close with him on Saturday.

Pat Remillard is the leading winning rider at this meeting. He scored a pair of victories opening day and registered another double yesterday. Agent Mickey Hernandez has every reason to be proud of Pat's riding for the lad has shown excellent form to date.

Norman Cochran, of Kennet Square, Pa., has purchased Astrakhan, 3-year-old chestnut daughter of Blue Pete—La Russe, from A. J. Richardson and turned her over to Duke Moore to train. Astrakhan is a Kentucky Derby eligible. Richardson also sold Visionary and Frances Brown to Cochran. The trio are quartered at Havre de Grace.

The early morning rain turned this track into a sea of slop, thus spoiling all the hard work that Track Superintendent Dick Pending had done the past few days to bring it to tops. The strip won't be fast before Saturday even though no more rains appear.

DORWOOD STABLE STAR SPLASHES TO VICTORY

Hitting The Head Pin

To defray the expenses of sending a quintet of maple-spillers, namely the Washington All-Stars, to Waterbury, Conn., for a return match with the Blue Ribbon team of that city, "Pop" Halley, genial manager of the Recreation Alleys, has set aside four drives of his establishment on which a one-ball tournament will be rolled this coming Saturday. The affair gets under way at noon, lasting until midnight, and prizes will be distributed each hour to the person counting the most pins.

The prize list contains everything from a free meal ticket down to a handsome pen and pencil set, although cash prizes await any who are fortunate enough to score a triple strike, 30 count, or scores of 28, 29 and 27.

An interesting kid match is carded for the Arcadia Alleys, Saturday, April 4, when the undefeated John Blick Midgets defend their record against the highly touted Richmond All-Star Juniors, in a three-game setto.

Capt. "Ouncie" Harrison, who recently chalked up a 467 set, will lead the Sisler brothers, Ray and Bill; Bob Chalfonte and Al Baer into action against the Richmond five, composed of "Reds" Niblett, "Jake" Hansen, 1931 National Bowling Conference boys champ; "Fiddles" Holland, who finished second to Eddie Espey in the junior championships; Bill Tignor and John Wells.

The locals have seventeen scalps dangling from their belts, and have met and defeated several men's teams, despite the fact that all are under 16 years of age.

ROCKNE SET HIGH MARK IN SPORTS

that Rockne had put together at Notre Dame before last season's sensational team. Many experts rated it a better combination than that of 1924 which had the famous Four Horsemen—Stuhldreher, Miller, Layden and Crowley—and one of the greatest of all centers, Adam Walsh. The 1929 team won all of its nine games, which were played away from home, such a schedule being necessitated by the erection of a new stadium at South Bend. None of the games was regarded as a soft spot.

All of the Notre Dame teams coached by Nockne were noted for their speed, alertness and intelligence. These qualifications he insisted upon in every individual who sought a place on the team, deeming them requisite for the right type of youth demanded to fit the Rockne system. With that class of material to work with, he was able to develop secondary or substitute players who, in many instances were not far below the ability of the regulars.

With strong secondary players, Coach Rockne was among the first to take advantage of what has become generally known in football as the use of "shock troops." In that system the second string men are played at the beginning of a game in order to wear down the opposition and at an opportune time the regulars are put into finish the job and bring victory.

In recent years the annual game between Notre Dame and the Army has become one of the most attractive features of the football season and the football classic of the year, especially when the Army and Navy teams were not scheduled to meet. The Army-Notre Dame games have developed the highest standard of sportamanship and, while they have been hotly contested, have been devoid of individual or team friction.

Coach Rockne often was heard to remark that "they call me a rough neck," but that estimate of him was greatly exaggerated. He possessed a culture that made him equally at home when addressing a gathering of society folks as he was when speaking to a football squad in the vernacular of the game. An outstanding characteristic of the man was the wholehearted manner in which he went into everything. He had ideas and convictions and the courage to present them in forceful and fearless language.

LARGE fields predominate today at Bowie, but the card will be run under the difficulty of a very heavy track, even if the rain lets up. The feature is the District Line purse, fifth race, which has the smallest field and the largest purse on the program. MORSEL should retrieve his defeat in the Inaugural Handicap, when he was carrying 120 pounds, and was beaten out by Thistle Ann. He outclasses this field and takes off weight. PEGG'S PRIDE, beaten only four lengths in the inaugural, probably will be the contender. She ran well at the Fair Grounds and in the East last year. Morsel has been out of the money but twice since last November, and should never leave the race in doubt. Essare, a kind of uncertain horse, but capable of surprise, is best of the others. Sandy has never regained his old-time form.

FIRST RACE is for two-year-old fillies. SECRET SIGNAL, by American Flag, is one of the hopefuls of the Glenn Riddle Farm stable, and is selected to win. Regarded as a mudder from her breeding, she will only have to run to her works to take this purse. The Middleburg stable's MARKASITE has been tabbed for the place. C. V. Whitney has a Golden Broom filly, BAY BLOOM, likely to figure in the race. The impression prevails that the best of the Whitney juveniles that have wintered at Benning have been sent on to Havre de Grace. BAY BLOOM may be the favorite.

SAN PRESTO is a standout in the second race for 3-year-olds at six furlongs. He is in condition and ran well at Miami, his last race being good enough to be the contender against the fast Kensington in the mud. G. L. Stryker's TRICE is rated the contender. He beat Guide Left at this track last fall. FOURTH WARD is likely to beat the others for show money.

Nevada Stock Farm's DURVA will like the track, and she is selected to win the third race, also for 3-year-olds. She was seldom out of the money in the South, and beat Black Dove at Miami. PRINCE PETER should hold the others safe. He was fourth to Frank Fullen Tuesday. LIVE ONE may be a surprise and should be in the money. He is working well, and has won on a heavy track.

J. P. White's EVERYTIME showed speed against Gerard and Prometheus Tuesday, and is with less formidable company today in the fourth race. It would be no surprise if he led all the way, on his form of last year, when he beat horses like Marine, Byrd and others, and was a contender against On Tap. HOLIDAY has some class and is rated next best. He has run against better horses, with the exception of EVERYTIME. HACKY H should do better than his last race shows. His weight may again anchor him.

BUDDY BASIL can run on any kind of track, and best of all in mud, and he is selected to win the sixth race. He beat a good field in his last race a few weeks ago at Jefferson Park. FAIR FOLLY has run consistently all winter and should be next. She beat Hades in her last winning race. Bryson's mare FAIR BETH, although a bad actor, should get in the money even after a bad start.

ROYAL CHARGE is picked in the seventh. He turned in a good race Tuesday against Hades, and finished second. He won some races in the winter and showed his condition was good in his first Bowie start. Fields will ride. VOLTMETER is probably the most dangerous opposition in the large field, in the mile and a sixteenth race. Some of his New Orleans races were good. FOUNDATION STONE has a chance for show money. In the mud MONTFERRAT is a dangerous horse here, but his showing was bad the other day. He has been racing in Agua Caliente, and may be travel sore.

DEAN, CARDS' ROOKIE, BECOMING A SECOND SHIRES

Hurler Styles Self "Dizzy The Great"

Toots His Own Horn; Is on Probation, Say Officials.

By LEO H. PETERSEN.

NEW YORK, April 1 (U.P.).—Jerome H. Dean, 20-year-old St. Louis Cardinals rookie pitcher who styles himself "Dizzy the Great," shows promise of becoming to the National League what Art (Whataman) Shires was to the American loop before Washington let him go to the minors.

Dean may not be able to sell baseball fans his ability as well as Shires did, but his maneuvers during the spring training season indicate that he will be a far more colorful figure.

Manager Gabby Street, of the National League champions, styles Deon as his "most promising rookie pitcher and one of the best prospects I have seen in years."

Vice President Branch Rickey, along with the treasurer of the Cards, brands Dean as "somewhat of a nuisance."

Held Pirates to 3 Hits.

Dean, who came to the Cards late last year and in his first major league game held the Pittsburgh Pirates to three hits, has displayed talent enough in exhibition games to have Street consider him as one of the Cardinals' starting pitchers. To become a starter Dean would have to oust one of the veterans, Grimes, Haines, Rhem, Hallahan, Lindsey or Johnson.

While Dean's pitching has won over Street, he still is on probation so far as Rickey is concerned.

Dean, it seems, has his financial difficulties. Unconfirmed reports have it that he has spent three-fourths of his 1931 salary. Be that as it may, it was necessary for Rickey to devise a system whereby Dean was allowed only $1 a day for spending money.

When Dizzy's salary of $400 a month failed to meet his needs he began leaving a trail of I. O. U.'s in Bradenton, Fla., the Cards training base, for soft drinks, flashy clothes and anything else that struck his fancy.

The I. O. U.'s started bouncing back to the Cardinals. As a solution Secretary Clarence Lloyd and Rickey held a conference and broadcast orders to merchants not to accept any more of Dean's charge accounts. Instead Dean reports to Lloyd each morning and presents a slip of paper reading:

"Received today, $1. Dizzy Dean." That is his spending money for the day.

The idea didn't strike Dean very well and he threatened to quit. It took Rickey two hours to talk him out of the notion. So Dean continues to be known as the $1-a-day rookie.

Apes Shires in One Respect.

Dean, like Shires, is for himself first. He toots his own horn so loudly that on various occasions Street has found it necessary to tell Dean that after all his mound work might not be so brilliant after the National League sluggers tune up their batting eyes.

But Dean isn't worried.

"I'll win 20 to 25 games for the Cards this year," he told newspapermen. When a Cincinnati rookie got a homer off Dean that brought defeat for the Cards, he laughed it off with, "it was only a lucky run and that's about the only kind they will score against me this season. I don't mind the boys scoring occasionally, but I like to get 'em worked up thinking they're going to get something and then knock them off."

Rain Forces Delay In North-South Golf

Pinehurst, N. C., April 1 (A.P.).—Eight linkswomen, survivors of first round match play in the North and South women's golf tournament, idled in the clubhouse today watching rain drench the course.

Heavy downpours caused tournament officials to postpone second round play until tomorrow.

Maureen Orcutt, Englewood, N. J., the medalist, will meet Ruth Batchelder, Boston, in tomorrow's second round play.

Other matches are Mrs. Sara Fownes Wadsworth, Pittsburgh, vs., Mrs. O. S. Hill, Kansas City; Jane Brooks, Nyack, N. Y., vs. Perry Wattles, Buffalo; Helen Waring New York, vs. Virginia Van Wie, Chicago.

12-Match Schedule For College Net Loop

The schedule of the Washington Collegiate Conference, consisting of twelve matches, was announced by league officials yesterday. All contests will be played on the courts of the Bliss Electrical School. Only four teams will be represented this year, due to the inability of Southeastern University to muster a team.

Two matches will be played each afternoon, one at 1:45 p. m. and the second at 4:00 p. m. The schedule follows:

April 18, Strayer vs. Bliss, Benjamin Franklin vs. Columbus; April 25, Bliss vs. Columbus, Benjamin Franklin vs. Strayer; May 2, Benjamin Franklin vs. Bliss; Columbus vs. Strayer; May 9, Bliss vs. Strayer, Columbus vs. Benjamin Franklin; May 16, Columbus vs. Bliss; Strayer vs. Benjamin Franklin; May 23, Bliss vs. Benjamin Franklin, Strayer vs. Columbus; May 30, postponed games.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

WHEN Chester Levere was a young man 56 years of age, he swam 10 miles and skipped rope 10,000 times in the same day—his birthday. Levere always celebrates his birthday by breaking endurance records. For many years the rope-skipping record was held by John L. Sullivan, who at the age of 18 skipped 5,000 times without a stop. At the age of 57 Levere broke his 10,000 record and at the age of 58 tripled Sullivan's record with 15,000 successive skips. His latest record is 18,500 skips without a miss, made in February, 1931. He skipped for three hours 15 minutes, and lost 7 pounds.

The humming bird has feet but can not use them in walking. However, the tiny bird has more than made up for this handicap with its excellent flying—or possibly its expert flying accounts for its lack of walking ability. It has learned to sip the nectar from flowers while still on the wing, and if danger threatens can dart backwards, sidewise, or in any direction—something that no other bird can do.

In Waterbury, Conn., 1930, a man's income tax amounted to only 1 cent, but it cost him 7 cents to make the payment. A 1 cent money order costs 5 cents and requires a 2-cent stamp.

CAPITAL CITY JUNIORS IN MEETING

Managers Make Plans Tonight for Coming Season.

JUNIOR teams which will seek The Post's gold baseballs, emblematic of the Capital City League championship, this year, will meet tonight in room 2 of the District Building to discuss official business pertaining to the launching of the 1931 season.

A goodly number of managers or team representatives are expected to respond to the roll call, and league officials are hopeful that all will come prepared to make final decisions covering every phase of the activities.

Ten clubs faced the starting barrier last year, with the Acme Printing Co. downing the Lionel Athletic Club for the title in two straight games of a scheduled three-game series.

Acmes to Move Into Senior Ranks.

The Printers have moved up to the senior circuit this year, but the Lionels are expected to again have an entry in the race. The Bethesda Athletic Club has gone the champs one better by skipping into the unlimited field. The remaining teams were the Mardelles, Kensington Howitzers, Arlington, Meridians, St. Stephens, Old Homers and Y. M. C. A. Flashes.

Teams which last season competed in the midget class, and which will be unable to meet the age requirements of that division this year, are expected to take over the franchises left vacant.

Tomorrow night in the same room at 8 p. m. the midget organization will be effected. Saturday at 7 p. m. the Insects will hold sway at the same place.

Altoona Opening Race Delayed Until July 4

Altoona, Pa., April 1 (A.P.).—The Altoona Speedway's racing season will open July 4, instead of on Flag Day as previously announced by the American Automobile Association, Ralph A. Hankinson, new operator of the oval said today.

The Labor Day race, an annual event since the speedway was opened in 1923, will be held as usual.

4 Government Teams May Form Own Loop

Four orphan Government teams will meet Saturday night at 7 p. m. at Vic's Sport Shop to discuss plans for forming a league of their own. Vic Gauzza, president of the Departmental League, is the guiding hand behind the movement.

The four teams, Department of Labor, State Department, Postoffice and St. Elizabeths Hospital, previously applied for franchises with both the Departmental League and the Government League, but were unable to obtain them due to the fact that both rosters are closed. At the meeting Saturday night they will definitely decide whether to organize their own loop or to play independent ball.

MARYLAND GAME OFF.

Special to The Washington Post.

Athens, Ga., April 1.—Rain and cold weather today forced postponement of the first of a two-game series between the University of Georgia and University of Maryland Baseball Teams.

Alexandria Sports

Special to The Washington Post.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., April 1.—The executive committee of the Third District Athletic Association will meet at the Alexandria High School on Thursday morning at 11 o'clock to decide on the eligibility of Margolas Lofery, star outfielder of the Fredricksburg High School Nine, who, it is alleged to have played four years of scholastic baseball.

Athletic Director R. B. Neill, of the Fredericksburg High School, will appeal for Lowery's eligibility at this hearing and will present all data in the case. Henry T. Moncure, Third District chairman, will preside. As this case has created lots of furore in the district, the outcome is eagerly awaited by the representatives of the schools.

Sylvester A. Breen, president of the Cardinal Athletic Club Baseball Team, has again been honored by the Washington Baseball Club. Secretary Edward S. Eynon, of the Griffmen, today mailed Mr. Breen Pass No. 1. He is an ardent follower of the Griffs.

The Nation-Wide Stores Baseball Team will mix with Langford's All-Stars in a practice game at Baggett's Stadium on Saturday at 4 o'clock. Joe Garvey will pitch for the Nation-Wide team, and Covey Bradley for the All-Stars.

Billy Schwartz, Alexandria boxer, scored his second consecutive k. o. in Roanoke, Va., last night defeating "Rouse" Ramsey in the seventh round with a terrific blow to the chin.

The Alexandria Rotary Club bowling team defeated the Kiwanis five last night by 139 pins in the second of the three game set. "Abe" Martin was the star for the winners. He turned in a 325 set. The two teams will roll in the final set of the series on Tuesday, April 5.

"Squire" Given, athletic director of the Alexandria High, hopes to complete his baseball schedule for the "Twins" within the next ten days. He still has several open dates. The Western game slated for Wednesday was postponed because of inclement weather.

Charlie Corbett, director of the St. Mary's Celtics Baseball Team, wants all candidates to report to the important drill next Sunday. A game between the Yannigans and Regulars will feature. Fourteen pitchers are seeking berths on the team.

Table Tennis League For Capital Planned

The Washington Table Tennis Association was formed last night at a meeting of ping pong enthusiasts at the home of A. T. Reed, 1415 Chapin street northwest. The meeting went on record as favoring the formation of a table tennis league, and issued franchises to five teams—the Public Parks, Wesley Heights, Senators, Orientals and Omega Alpha Tau. A sixth team will be organized before the league gets under way.

A. T. Reed was elected president of the association, with William O. Shreve secretary-treasurer. Matches are expected to get under way within the next week or two. Two matches a week will be played, with the D. C. Crain Trophy at stake.

A committee of A. T. Reed, William O. Shreve and M. Erana was named to establish a central playing point.

NAVY-VERMONT IDLE.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., April 1.—The Navy-Vermont baseball game, scheduled to open the local season today, was prevented by rain. Navy will tackle Lehigh Saturday.

Italian Boxing Group Again Fines Carnera

Rome, April 1 (A.P.).—Primo Carnera today was fined 5,000 lire ($260) for failure to obtain permission of the Italian boxing federation to fight Jim Maloney in Miami last month.

Carnera, who already owes the federation a similar sum, also was suspended for failure to pay $1,000 to a Florence promoter as a forfeit for his failure to appear in a scheduled match in that city. The federation announced its intention of fining the Italian "man mountain" 5,000 lire each time he fights without its permission.

Girl's Debut as Pitcher Against Ruth Delayed

Chattanooga, Tenn., April 1 (A.P.). With today's game postponed because of cold weather, Miss Jackie Mitchell, organized baseball's only girl pitcher, who recently signed a Chattanooga contract, put off until tomorrow afternoon her cherished chance to fan Babe Ruth.

The New York Yankees and the Chattanooga Lookouts, of the Southern Association, were scheduled for an exhibition game this afternoon. It will be played tomorrow unless the cold continues.

Mrs. Whitney Adds To Racing Stable

Belfast, Ireland, April 1 (A.P.).—Mrs. John Hay Whitney, wife of the youthful owner of Easter Hero and Sir Lindsay, today announced her intention of developing a racing string with the purchase of Black Admiral and a pair of 2-year-olds, one by Tagrag out of Clogagh, and the other by Jack Daw, out of Statute.

Mrs. Whitney, who saw her husband's great pair of jumpers defeated in the Grand National at Aintree, purchased the three runners from Hi Ussner, prominent Irish horse fancier, who will train the horses for her.

Mrs. Whitney entered the racing game as an owner in this country last year with the purchase of Lightning Bolt, the sensation of the Florida winter season. He won the Florida Derby, but finished out of the money against practically the same field in the Louisiana Derby, run a week later at Jefferson Park.

GIRL SIGNS PITCHING CONTRACT

JUNIOR, BOYS NET LOOP ASSURED

Harding Trophy Likely to Be Prize; Play Opens in June.

THE formation of a junior and boys tennis league, and the insertion of another, junior and boys tournament in the local tennis schedule was passed on by the Washington Public Parks Tennis Association at a meeting held last night at the Franklin School.

Because of a high school athletic ordnance, which forbids the participation of enrolled students in outside contests, the new junior and boys loop will not start until after the close of classes, in June. The number of players on each team was not decided.

At least one more tournament for juniors and one more for boys will be run off this year. The scene of the tournaments was not set, but several country clubs are being considered as the scene of the jousts.

Harding Trophy May Be Prize.

The Warren G. Harding Memorial Trophy, once emblematic of the scholastic championship of Washington, but not contested for since 1925, will be returned to competition this year It probably will be the award of the team winning the junior and boys loop. In the league matches both junior and boy players will be placed on the same team.

As usual, the winner of the D. C. junior and D. C. boys titles will be sent, all expenses paid, to the middle Atlantic tournament. Last year this tournament was held at Richmond and was won by Billy Jacobs, of Baltimore, in the juniors, and Jock McLean, local expert, in the boys division. Both were sent to the national championships, held at Culver City, Ind.

The Eagles defended their title as District senior girl champions by reason of their 27-to-15 victory over the Als Athletic Club. The outcome of the game was hardly an upset, since the Eagles have shown a bit more form in past performances, but the decisiveness with which they turned back the Als aggregation surprised many of the fans who watch this interesting contest.

The Als appeared a bit stagestruck and showed visibly the effects of the absence of Miss Clapp, who, with Miss Willner, made up one of the best scoring combinations the District has seen in recent years.

Miss Elizabeth Alexander, with high scoring honors tucked away, led the Eagles to victory in good fashion. Her all-court play was outstanding among the many features of the game.

With Miss Alexander leading the way, the Eagles moved into a 7-to-0 lead almost before matters had gotten under way. By the half intermission the score stood 13 to 2 in their favor. The Als recovered their touch shortly after the start of the secon dhalf, and mainly because of the suddenly reactivated shooting of Miss Willner, forced the issue throughout the remainder of the game.

10 Capital Pros to Qualify On 3 Courses for U. S. Open

McLeod and Armour to Compete at Pittsburgh, Barnett and Larkin at Philadelphia; Others Choose Richmond.

By HENRY LITCHFIELD WEST.

THE first golfing event of national importance scheduled for this season is the qualification round of 36 holes which will determine the eligibility to play in the National Open Tournament, which will be staged on the course of the Inverness Club, Toledo, Ohio, on July 2, 3, 4.

The competition will be held in twenty sectional districts, and 150 players will be eligible, inclusive of the first 30 contestants and ties who returned low scores in the National Open Tournament last year and foreign professionals who may be in the United States. The number of qualifiers from each district will be determined by the championship committee of the United States Golf Association after the entries close on May 19.

As all entrants are allowed to select the district in which they will qualify, the local professionals who intend to compete will be divided among three localities.

McLeod and Armour Chose Pittsburgh.

Fred McLeod, of the Columbia Club, and "Sandy" Armour, of the Congressional Country Club, said yesterday that they undoubtedly would choose the Oakmont Course, at Pittsburgh, and this will be the course selected by J. Monro Hunter, of the Indian Spring Club, although the latter stated yesterday that he had not definitely determined whether he would compete.

"I played the Oakmont Course in 75 in a qualification round;" he said, "but whether I can do as well or better with the new ball is a serious question. With a length of fully 6,900 yards and trapped to the limit, the Oakmont Course is a severe test even with dry ground and a high-powered ball. However, I may conclude to see if I can qualify."

As usual, Bob Barnett and Gene Larkin, of the Chevy Chase Club, although neither have yet returned from Florida, are expected to follow their usual custom of qualifying in the Philadelphia district, the course at Whitemarsh Valley having been assigned for this year's competition.

Both Arthur B. Thorn, Woodmont, and A. L. Houghton, Kenwood, said yesterday that they would attempt to qualify on the course of the Country Club of Virginia at Richmond, and they expect to be joined on that course by Mel Shorey, of East Potomac Park; Walter Cunningham, of Burning Tree, and Al Treder, of the Manor Club. The outlook, therefore, is that ten Washington professionals will attempt to qualify for the national open when the qualification rounds are played.

Two 18-Hole Rounds To Open Tourney.

The championship tournament will consist of a round of 18 holes each on Thursday and Friday, July 2 and 3, with 60 players and ties competing at 36 holes on Saturday, July 4. In case of a tie 36 holes will be played on the following Sunday.

The players exempt from qualifying are Robert T. Jones, jr., MacDonald Smith, Horton Smith, Harry Copper, John Golden, Tommy Armour, Charles Lacey, John Farrell, Craig Wood, Bill Melhorn, John Goodman, Al Heron, George Von Elm, George M. Smith, Leo Diegel, Peter O'Hara, Charles Guest, Joe Turnesa, Bob Shave, Willie Hunter, Morse Dutra, Walter Hagen, Ed Dudley, Al Watrous, Olin Dutra, F. S. Gallett, Denny Shute, Herman Barron, Jack Forrester, Billy Burke, Gene Sarazen, Charles Hilgendorf, Walter Kozak and Frank Walsh.

GENERALS' GAME OFF.

Lexington, Va., April 1 (Special).—Inclement weather caused a cancellation of the baseball game scheduled to be played here today between Washington and Lee and Dartmouth. It was not revealed whether the Dartmouth team would remain over night to play the Generals tomorrow.

William-Mary Makes Track Debut Saturday

Williamsburg, Va., April 1 (A.P.).—The William and Mary Track Team will officially open the 1931 season with Lynchburg College in a meet here Saturday afternoon.

The Indian Harriers will open their season with practically the same team that carried the tricolor to a conference championship last year. With the exception of Ed Trice, star half-miler, Coach Chandler's combination will suffer no heavy loss, and prospects were said to be favorable for a fourth consecutive championship.

Among the numerous sophomores trying out for the regular berths are about eight who are expected to fill varsity shoes this year.

In the races the William and Mary array will be led by Bill Scott, with a nine and four-fifths record for the 100-yard dash; Baggett, holder of the conference quarter mile record; Wink Johnson, who has always been dangerous among Easter collegiate half milers; Smithers, 220 ace, and Capt. Zabel, of 1-mile fame.

Lack of outdoor practice that has been precluded by bad weather was expected to cut the Indian speed some Saturday.

Other meets on the Indian schedule this spring include those with V. M. I., Washington and Lee, Naval Academy, Haverford, University of Maryland, the conference meet here, and the I. A. A. A. races at Franklin Field, Philadelphia.

DASHIELLS WORK PLEASES HIS BOSS

so greatly then that the Nat leader is willing to wait for him now.

There is no question but what Dashiell is a flashy fielder, while he rates close to "Stuffy" Stewart as a base runner. In the preseason plans, Wally was picked as the likely number two infielder substitute and his stock has decreased little, despite the fact that Baxter Jordan has shown up so well.

Now Is Ready to Display Talent.

Dashiell still has a little excess fat to work off, having been unable to get rid of it due to the idleness forced upon him by his injury, but he reports that he is just about ready to "go" now and his work in the games en route to Washington will be watched with keen interest.

"I can afford to wait for Dashiell," Johnson said tonight, "as I don't have to make any decision for several weeks yet. If he comes through, as I expect him to, well and good, but if he doesn't I don't lose anything, for Baxter has shown me that he will do. One reason why I am rooting for Wally is that he is a right-handed hitter, while Jordan is a left-handed one and I need some likely looking right-handers on our club."

Many rookies are shunted from big league camps each spring feeling that they were not given a chance, but, if Dashiell fails, he certainly will not have an honest alibi of this kind to take back to Chattanooga with him.

Marberry Reaching Top Form.

Pitcher Fred Marberry has been coming fast the last few days and fans need not worry but that the big Texan will be ready when the opening gong is sounded.

Joe Cronin and Cassie Bluege have not lost anything in the way of fielding skill since the last season ended. What a sweet pair they are on the left side of the diamond.

Fans here seem to appreciate the unusual on the ball field more than they do classy baseball. The bearded House of David clan drew quite a good crowd at today's game, with Altrock and Schacht, wearing red beards, stealing much of their "stuff."

Buddy Myer, who has been inactive for a day or so because of a mild attack of ptomaine poisoning, is as spry as ever again.

All of the women-folks here except President Griffith's party, who had to wait over a day because of engine trouble, left this morning headed for Washington. They formed quite an auto caravan.

JOINS RALEIGH CLUB.

Lynchburg, Va., April 1.—"Peg" White, who played semipro ball here last year, now the property of Detroit, went late yesterday to Raleigh, N. C., to join the training camp of the Piedmont League team there.

NAVY INDOOR TEAMS WON 56, LOST 7

Olympic Swimming, Boxing Material Uncovered.

Special to The Washington Post.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 1.—The Naval Academy has just completed its winter sport schedule in which four teams among the eight competing turned in perfect scores for the season. Out of 65 winter contests, the midshipmen were able to win 56, get draws in 2 and lost but 7.

In addition to team honors each sport produced at least one outstanding athlete worthy of consideration for the coming Olympic games. Thompson, the swimmer, has practically won his "gills" for Olympic trials while Crinkley, Navy's outstanding heavyweight, chalked up eight victories during the season (three by forfeit through no fault of his own), a knockout over a "golden glove" champ

STEEL LEADS RALLY IN STOCKS AT CLOSE

Pennsylvania Also Is Given Support; Radio and Motors Firm.

New York, April 1 (A.P.).—The financial markets gave the second quarter a rather gloomy reception today. Stocks went slowly but steadily downward until the last half hour, when some of the more timid shorts hauled in sail. Government bonds, as well as second grade rails, softened. Corn was weak and wheat heavy. Both cotton and bar silver declined.

Closing quotations on active stocks showed a wide assortment of 1 to 4 point losses. Rails struggled unsuccessfully against a dribble of liquidation that sent half a dozen issues to new lows. Steels were sold on the small decline in operations during the past week. Chemicals found the going difficult, while most of the oils slipped through their old minimums. Utilities were soggy.

The only active period was the last hour which saw the day's lows and the minor recovery from the bottom. The feature of the late trading was the rebound in United States Steel, which, after coming within an eighth of 1931 low, retrieved all but a small fraction of its 2-point drop. Support was also evident in Pennsylvania Railroad at the old low of 55.

Motors, Radio, Resist.

Rails losing 1 to 3 points included New York Central, Atchison, New Haven, Baltimore & Ohio, Frisco, Southern Railway and Southern Pacific. Reading dropped 5 and Delaware & Hudson nearly 4. Net declines in American Can, American Telephone, Johns-Manville, consolidated Gas, United Corporation, Westinghouse, General Electric, Allied Chemical, Loew's and Vanadium fell in A 1 to 2¼ point range.

General Motors and Radio resisted pressure and short selling of Bethlehem Steel brought meager results. American Water Works broke 4 points when its earnings statement for the twelve months ended February 28 revealed a loss of $1 a share from the previous period. There were similar declines in such issues as Industrial Alcohol, Columbian Carbon, Purity Baking and General Railway Signal. Case lost 8. McKeesport Tin Plate came through with another rally which carried it up more than 4. Sales totaled 2,300,000 shares.

The Iron Age computation of steel production revealed a loss of 2 points for last week bringing the ratio to 55 per cent of capacity. Automobile orders have fallen off, apparently because producers are proceeding more cautiously, but structural demand continues good. Trade circles are somewhat uncertain as to whether the recession means that the seasonal peak has been touched or whether, in the words of "steel," the small decline merely represents "a breathing spell."

Two Cheerful Reports.

At least two cheerful reports came to hand. The gain in car loadings was larger than had been expected; and electric power output for the week ended March 28 made the best showing of the year. The total was only 1.5 per cent below the aggregate for the same week of 1930, although at this time a year ago production was slipping off. However, the rate of decline was considerably less in March than in either January or February.

Selling of Government securities reflected prospects of a large issue of Treasury certificates later in the month to cover payments of loans to veterans. Reports current in Wall street say the new financing will involve between $250,000,000 and $400,000,000.

Wheat closed off ⅜ to a full cent, partly in sympathy with stocks and partly in response to a bearish private crop estimate. Corn lost 1¾ to 2⅝, with the September position heavily liquidated. Cotton's losses ranged from 8 to 12 points. Foreign currencies were dull. Both sterling and the French franc firmed slightly.

BOND MARKET SETS 1931 SALES RECORD

Treasury Issues Handled in Blocks After News of Financing.

New York, April 1 (A.P.).—The bond market on the New York Stock Exchange experienced its most active session this year. Sales aggregated $15,150,000 compared with the previous full session record of $15,034,000 attained on January 8.

Late activity in the United States Treasury 3¾ per cent bonds of 1941-43 was principally responsible for this record. Five blocks of $1,000,000 each of that issue were sold during the last half-hour and the total sales of it exceeded $5,500,000. Sales of all Government issues amounted to $6,059,000. Active Government bonds generally closed lower but the decline in the Treasury issue mentioned proved temporary. Government obligations were dull until the last half-hour.

This activity followed the preliminary announcement of Treasury financing, complete details of which are expected about April 7. It is expected that the Treasury will offer about $300,000,000 in certificates. The current interest in Government issues is based on the prospect of an increase in the total Federal debt as a result of a deficit for the fiscal year ending on June 30.

Trading in the rest of the bond market was much the same as it has been recently. Railroad and foreign obligations, however, showed a rising tendency. Active issues to close higher included German 5½s, Tokio Electric Light 6s, both issues of Uruguayan 6s, both issues of Erie Refunding and Improvement 5s, Great Northern 7s and Missouri Pacific Series I 5s. The New York Central 4½s of 2013 were unusually active but steady. Most industrial and public utility bonds were quiet and steady.

The City of New York has borrowed $40,000,000 for two months at 1⅞ per cent from a group of banks.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, April 1 (A.P.).—After holding steady during today's early trading on some trade buying and covering prompted by unfavorable features in the feather news, cotton eased under renewed liquidation. This was coupled with some Wall street and Western selling and the late market was more active with July contracts selling off to 10.80 or 13 points net lower and closing at 10.81. The general market closed barely steady at net declines of 8 to 12 points.

The opening was steady 1 to 3 points higher with the active months selling about 2 to 4 points net higher during the early trading on a moderate demand which was supposed to include some trade buying as well as covering. The latter was probably promoted by reports of small fertilizer sales or of delays in farm work owing to recent cold wet weather, and there appeared to be very little cotton for sale during the early trading. May contracts sold up to 10.70 and October to 11.37 and the market held within a few points of these figures during the greater part of the morning.

Offerings increased later, however, with some Wall street selling accompanied by reports of an easier tone in the stock market and later there appeared to be some Western selling here following a private report pointing to a decrease of 8.4 per cent in the cotton acreage. May sold off to 10.55 in the late trading, while October declined to 11.11 and closing quotations were within a point or two of the lowest.

Business was generally quiet except for the spurt of selling toward the close which was attributed chiefly to liquidation of old long accounts with much of the earlier trading attributed to further preholiday evening-up. There was considerable switching from near to late months with the closing quotation for May showing a discount of 76 points under December compared with a difference of 75 points at the close of the previous day.

Liverpool cables said that Bombay selling and hedging had been absorbed by covering in that market and reported an unimportant turnover in cotton cloth with Indian advices discouraging. Exyptian cotton futures in Alexandria were 4 to 13 points lower. Exports today 26,872, making 5,642,776 so far this season. Port receipts 18,496. U. S. port stocks 3,745,067.

SEABOARD SERVICE EARNINGS INCREASE

Income in 1930 Available to Common Stock Is Given as $2.65.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Headquarters of Seaboard Public Service Co., at Alexandria, has announced that the company in its annual report for 1930, just issued, shows earnings available to common stock of $2.65 a share for 1930, compared to $2.43 in 1929.

Consolidated operating revenues were $14,942,670, an increase of 7 per cent over the previous year. Net income available for dividends of the company was $2,068,501 in 1930, as compared with $1,756,529. After payment of preferred dividends the amount available for common dividends was $1,591,536 in 1930, compared with $1,457,629 the previous year.

Of the 1930 gross operating earnings, 79 per cent was derived from light and power, compared with 77 per cent in 1929. Total sales of electricity increased 12 per cent and electric revenues increased 8 per cent.

The consolidated balance sheet as of December 31, 1930, showed property account of $97,577,366 and total assets of $115,605,236.

Goodbody & Co. has announced that they have taken over the local office and organization of Harriss & Co., located in the Southern Building. McElroy Moss remains as manager. The change was effective yesterday.

Hemphill, Noyes & Co. announce the opening of an office in Harrisburg, Pa., under the management of Henry M. Gross. Daniel J. O'Day and Frank C. Sites will also be associated with the Harrisburg office.

W. B. Hibbs, senior partner in W. B. Hibbs & Co., has returned from an extended visit in California.

American Tobacco Co. Bonus Foes Defeated

New York, April 1 (A.P.).—Minority stockholders of the American Tobacco Co. who have disapproved of the offering of stock to the company's employes and of the bonuses paid to executives, were overwhelming defeated when they attempted to elect a director at today's annual meeting.

George W. Hill, president of the company, said the first three months of the year had been satisfactory, and that sales showed an increase, notwithstanding larger advertising expenditures.

Wall Street Briefs

New York, April 1—Gordon Fisher, chairman of Spang Chalfant & Co., has been elected a director of National Supply Co. and the board has been increased to eleven from ten members.

Thomas J. Watson, president of International Business Machines Corporation, said that profits for January and February, after provision for Federal taxes, were more than 5 per cent in excess of the like months of 1930.

Charles S. Sargent, until recently a partner of Kidder, Peabody & Co. and a former governor of the New York Stock Exchange, has become a general partner of G. P. Murphy & Co.

Receipts of United States lead ore by United States smelters in February declined to 35,512 short tons from 42,110 tons in January, the American Bureau of Metal Statistics reports. Receipts in February of 1930 totaled 49,009 short tons. Total receipts were 36,744 tons in February, against 44,312 in January and 50,872 in February, 1930.

New financing soon to be offered included a $40,000,000 issue of Public Service Co. of Northern Illinois first lien and refunding 4½ per cent bonds, due April 1, 1981. Proceeds will be used to retire about $37,000,000 in bonds with higher coupon rates. Another new offering, appearing tomorrow, is an $11,000,000 issue of Federal Intermediate Credit Banks 3 per cent short term debentures, dated April 15. This is a refunding loan.

Directors of National Supply Co. today placed the common stock on a $4 annual basis, against $5 previously by declaring a quarterly dividend of $1.

Salt Creek producers Association directors declared a quarterly dividend of 35 cents, placing the stock on a $1.40 annual basis, against $2 previously paid.

Directors of Mid-Continent Petroleum Corporation today omitted the quarterly dividend of 50 cents due at this time. A statement said the company earned from operations $1.56 a common share in 1930, but owing to drastic cuts in the price of crude oil and extremely low prices for refined it was necessary to adjust inventory to market prices as of December 31, which reduced net earnings to 80 cents a share.

Curb Review

New York, April 1 A.P.).—The curb market was dull and indifferent today. Prices shifted erratically within a narrow range and the volume dwindled to the smallest proportions seen in some time.

Industrials and specialties, as a rule, did somewhat better than the utilities. Oils hovered around their year's lows, for the weekly statistical report for the industry, showing another increase in crude production, was again unfavorable. Neither speculative faction took particular interest in any group and the market was allowed to drift.

Electric Bond & Share and the other power company issues bobbed up and down in an unconvincing manner, alternating between small advances and declines. Noranda Mines was active, rallying about a point. Fluctuations in American Cynamid, Ford Limited, Zonite, Cord and a number of other low or medium or low-priced shares were inconsequential. Walgreen was heavy, dropping a couple of points at the opening, although part of the loss was retrieved.

Investment trusts traded infrequently. One group of trusts, reporting for the first quarter, showed an improvement in earnings and also in per share assets over the end of last year, reflecting the increase in security prices since December. Interest in this group of stocks, however, continues exceedingly alight and most of them are selling at discounts from assent value.

Money was firm with the turn in the month, although the call loan renewal rate on the curb was unchanged at 2 per cent.

CHICAGO POLICE RAID OFFICE IN CITY HALL

Sealer's Records Seized in Short-Weight Fish Market Hunt.

Chicago, April 1 (U.P.).—Police raided the City Hall today on the trail of some elusive fish while Mayor William Hale Thompson was out campaigning for reelection.

The raiders tramped into the offices of City Sealer Daniel A. Seritella, seized all his records and took 29 of his clerks to the State's attorney's office for questionnig in connection with charges of short-weighting housewives out of millions of dollars a year.

State Attorney John A. Swanson said he had uncovered evidence indicating that hundreds of fish stors owners had trick scales which worked even better than the fabled "heavy hand" of the old-time butcher in cheating purchasers.

"Inasmuch as it is the duty of the city sealer's office to protect the public from such wholesale swindles, it became necessary to investigate that office," said Swanson.

Although Thompson had nothing to say about the raid on the eighth floor of the City Hall, his associates were vehement in the charges that politics had inspired the sudden chase after the short-weight fish.

Thompson, a Republican, is running against Anton J. Cermak, Democrat, for election as mayor of Chicago next Tuesday.

Their band wagons skidded through traffic in the loop all day, while more bands tooted at an assortment of theaters, where both candidates made speech after speech.

Cermak's and Thompson's speeches turned into long-distance debates about the Chicago crime situation.

Train Kills Broker, 70.

Clarksburg, W. Va., April 1 (Special).—On his return from a visit to a son here, David Gillespie, 70, pulpwood broker of Holly, Braxton County, was crushed to death beneath wheels of a locomotive last night at Rhorbaugh Siding, near Weston. He had been walking on the track. He is survived by his wife and ten children.

BEHIND THE SCREENS

With NELSON B. BELL

THERE have been all kinds of "drives" on the part of individual exhibitors' organizations as well as producing units to foster the prosperity of the concerns involved by promoting, at least temporarily, a stimulated interest in superlative box-office product, but never in the history of the American theater, I think—barring perhaps one or two of the concerted wartime activities—has there been so united and so far-flung a concentration on a single show week, as is being expended in the interest of "Players and Patrons Jubilee Week," to be inaugurated Saturday.

This is the actor's one great effort of the year to make financial provision for the care of his own halt, lame and otherwise afflicted. It is a cause that deserves the unstinted support of all who have ever been made happy in a theater.

The celebration this year is different from any of its predecessors. One of the features to be presented by the Washington picture houses is a special screen subject bearing the title of "The Stolen Jools." Fifty-five stars of the first rank participated in its making and appear in its action. In addition to this distinguished and extensive group other stars actively behind the Jubilee Week most intimately known to the patrons of the Capital's motion picture and variety houses include:

Marie Dressler, Dr. Rockwell, Ruth Etting, Charles Farrell, Harry Fox, Trixie Friganza, Greta Garbo, Janet Gaynor, Charlotte Greenwood, William Haines, Ann Harding, Marian Harris, Ted Healy, Bob Hope, Walter Huston, May Irwin, Elsie Janis, George Jessel, Al Jolson, Leatrice Joy, Helen Kane.

Beatrice Lillie, Elissa Landi, Cecilia Loftus, Vincent Lopez, Nick Lucas, Jeanette MacDonald, Marx Brothers, Thomas Meighan, Marilyn Miller, Ruth Mix, Tom Mix, Lois Moran, Ona Munson, Ken Murray, Mae Murray, Olsen and Johnson, George O'Brien, Jack Osterman.

This, it seems to me, is a company with which any thoughtful person might readily be willing to cast his lot in the way of a bit of giving.

You've got to hand it to Ted Lewis. That is, to say, if you feel like handing it to anybody, you might as well hand it to Ted Lewis—as he is demonstrating again, aided by his 21 Musical Klowns and a dozen revue artists at the Palace this week.

Ted—born Theodore Friedman, I believe—has been around quite a spell now, but so have I, too, and, after watching his work in more theaters than you can count on the fingers of a lot of hands, in cabarets, on the Terrace of the Ritz in Atlantic City, in an "N. Y. A. Night" floor show in the Hall of the Nations in our own Washington Hotel and in a variety of other atmospheres and surroundings, it is more than ever my opinion that here is one of the most adroit, most facile showmen on the native stage, smooth as velvet in his methods, keenly alive to popular taste and possessed of a digital grace that could only have come after months of patient practice before a mirror.

As I understand it, Ted Lewis got his musical start tooting a clarinet in the home town band in Circleville, Ohio, also the home town of George C. Tyler, one of the pillars of the American theater. Later he promoted dances in Chillicothe, only 20 miles away, and thence blossomed into show business.

It is not because Mr. Lewis is working over a swell attack of laryngitis at the Palace this week, or that my office mate, Mr. Thomas Matthew Cahill, late of the Tyler companies, hails from Chillicothe and has told me all about his old friend, that I am writing this way about him. I probably would do the same thing even if he had hailed from my own home town of Valparaiso, Ind., where, as I recall it now, we didn't have any very hot clarinet players, although Winnie Brewer could everlastingly beat the head off a snare drum!

Thoughts in passing: A nice note from Will H. Hays, thanking us for a piece we wrote about him recently, one of the bright spots of the week—the letter, not the piece . . . John Boles is bringing his voice with him for the week of personal appearances at the Rialto, beginning April 11 . . . In the trade paper "Trader Horn" ads, where all the branch exchange managers are wearing white whiskers like the Trader's, Rudy Berger, of Washington, looks like Alexander Dowie, the late Chicago faith healer . . . Robert McWade was prevalent on the screens of the Earle, Palace and Ambassador the first of this week, and still is at the two former . . . tomorrow midnight, and then try and get in the Columbia . . . day after tomorrow, also, and this column heading goes into the ashcan.

Sorry to disappoint you, but I said the "column heading," not the column!

Capital Man Held After 3 Accidents

C. J. McCauley Is Arrested in Frederick on Four Traffic Charges.

C. J. McCauley, who said he was employed by a Washington newspaper, last night was held by police of Frederick, Md., on four traffic charges, which were said to have resulted from a wild automobile ride on North Franklin street, in which the machine he was driving crashed into three parked cars.

He is charged with driving while under the influence of liquor, unauthorized use of an automobile, reckless driving and operating a car without a license. Frederick police said the ride was taken in a truck, which they say McCauley admitted he took from a crew of telephone company workmen repairing lines near the fishing camp of Lawrence Richey, secretary to President Hoover. McCauley said he was on a fishing expedition.

Officials of the telephone company told police the crew of the truck was attempting to aid McCauley and two companions get their car out of the mud on a mountain road. All at once McCauley got in the telephone truck and drove off, they said.
